AFTER THE CONTRACTORS.—H. H. New-hall, C. E. Fields and Dr. C. H. The convenience of the convenience completed, should be made passable for vehicles as soon as possible. The contracting firm has filled around the Oakstreat sewer, so it is thought that vehicles will be able to use the central portion of the embankment in a few days, and thus open up Grand avenue. A message was also received for the Warren Construction Company by the committee to the effect that the reason work was not proceeding on Union avenue, where one block had been torn up and barricaded, was for want of crushed rock, which could not be obtained. The committee ascertained at the City Hall that which could not be obtained. The committee ascertained at the City Hall that the bids for the improvement of Union avenus between East Oak and Belmont streets had been opened, and that the contract would probably be let today. The Pacific Bridge Company has in a bid for $15,000. From the Mayor and other officials whom the committee met the members report they received every courtesy and assurance of assistance in expediting the improvement of the streets that had been delayed. Mayor Lane particularly declared that delays should cease. The committee will continue its work, and will keep after contractors who delay in street work.

Mrs. I. Frohman Returns to Portland.

CHARMED WITH JOURNEY

Tells of Incidents of Her Experience Abroad During Which She Visited China, Japan and the Philippines.

Mrs. I. Frohman returned yesterday morning from a five months' trip to the Orient, bronzed by her long ocean voyage and full of enthusiasm at being in Portland again. Mr. Frohman arrived in the afternoon on his annual trip from afternoon on his annual trip from Wrangel, Alaska, and will spend the Summer with his family. Mrs. Frohman came by way of San Francisco, having crossed on the Pacific Mail liner Siberia. While away she visited many cities of importance in China. Japan and the Philippines, studied the natives and their stoms and was extensively entertained Americans and foreigners of note residing abroad. Accompanying her on return trip were the Havemyers, of New York, who came on to Portland, and the Gliddens, of Boston, who are returning from their famous 'round-the-world trip

Manila a Charming City.

Manila is considered the most beautiful city in the Orient by Mrs. Frohman. "Americans who have not been there do not realize what a perfectly beautiful place it is nor the charm of the life there," she said yesterday while chatting to a group of visitors in her parlors at the Portland. "I was entertained by Colonel and Mrs. Tucker, who were at Vancouver Barracks so long, Major Bethel is also stationed there, but Mrs. Bethel is here at present visiting her

"Of course there is the same indescribable charm about the cities of China and Japan. Both countries were full of tourists buying everything they could carry home with them, Curios, jade and em-broideries were so much sought after that it was hard to get what one wanted, but as the ready-made articles of Japan are of such impossible color combinations one has to have practically everything made to order. Carvings of all kinds seem to become more artistic each year and the exquisite work of the Japanese in ivory, silver, wood and other materials are simply the perfection of art."

Tailors of Japan.

A handsomely embroidered handbag which Mrs. Frohman carries has a handcarved silver mounting which represents three months' labor and is rarely beautiful. The gown she were was made in Yokohoma and looked quite up to the American standard.

"The tailors over there are doing a great business," she explained in reply to comments on the gown. "Men can have tailored suits made for $5 in gold, and tailored suits made for $0 in gold, and they charge the same for gowns. They do not look exactly 'English,' but the work is good and very cheap. That is about the only cheap thing I ran across while away, however, for prices are double what they were last year and the demand for goods is also double. My collection of jade was much envied and I could have sold it several times over on my way home."

Image Blessed by Pope.

One of the curios which she prizes highly is a diminutive image of the Savior in arms which has been blessed by the Pope. On receipt of the news of the San Francisco disaster the passengers on board the steamer held an auction of various personal effects, the proceeds being devoted to a relief fund. The image in question was offered by Thomas Fitch and bid in by Mrs. Frohman. Mr. and Mrs. Frank Pixley were traveling companions of Mrs. Frohman during the greater part of her long journey and she relates many delightful incidents and experiences which they all enjoyed. The great military and naval review at Tokio and the grand entertainment in honor of and the grand entertainment in honor of the visit of Prince Albert of Connaught and his suite were included in the many pleasant incidents of her visit.
