Mangled by Mowing Machine.

EUGENE, Or., July 6.-(Special.)-F. Jorgenson, a farmer living six miles west of Eugene, was badly cut up by a mowing machine on the afternoon of July 4. Mr. Jorgenson was unlitch-ing his horses from the machine, and, thinking that the harness was all un-hooked, started the horses for the barn. One tug had not been unfastened, and the horses became frightened and ran a considerable distance, dragging the mow-er with them and kicking the farmer back into the machine, from which he could not extricate himself until he was hadly cut on the head and all over his body.
