Standard Oil King Says He Has Not Grafted on Mutual Life.

PEABODY NOT HIS CHOICE

He and William Rockefeller Retire as Trustees and Reply to Criticism of Anti-Administration Party.

NEW YORK, July 17 .- The committee of trustees of the Mutual Life Insurance Company appointed to nominate a new board of trustees to be voted for at the annual meeting of the company in December made its final report today and in doing so disclosed the fact that Henry H. Rogers and William Rockefeller had withdrawn from further connection with that body. President Peabody gave out a personal letter from Mr. Rogers, upon which he said he would make no com-nent. In this letter Mr. Rogers said:

Not Responsible for Peabody.

When the troubles came upon the company

When the troubles came upon the company, I felt it my duty as a trustee to stand by and do snything I could of service to my fellow members and the politor-holders. I believe I have rendered some assistance.

The statement has been frequently made that I caused your election to the presidency of the Mutual Company. No one knows better than you how false this is. You know that I had but the slightest acquaintance with you before your election; that I never exchanged a word with you respecting your candidacy, nor was I in any sense the inspiring cause of your election.

Apparently the people who are most active in their hostility to the present administration are using the fact of my connection with the Sandard Oil Company as a ground for criticism. While there is a sufficient reason for my refusal to be a candidate or trustee, since no one has a right to put such large interests in feopardy for the sake of mchieving a personal vindication, it is yet true that aside from the relations of Mr. Rockefeller and myself as policy-holders and trustees, neither the Standard Oil Company or anyone occupying an efficial position in that corporation has ever in the eligitest degree had any husiness or any other relations with the Mutual Life Insurance Company; and in the case of Mr. Rockefeller, who is now absent, his policy mutured some months ago and was paid and he therefore is no longer a policy-holder, He wishes to be relieved from any further service as a trustee.

If anyone imagines that the Standard Oil

If anyone imagines that the Standard Oil Company or any of its officers have profited out of any relation with the Mutual Life insurance Company he must be strangely ignorant of the facts. Neither Mr. Rockefeller nor myself have been identified with any underwriting scheme, nor have we been managed in any business affairs with the Mutual Company by which we have been the gainers. On the other hand, we have given business to the Mutual and its allied companies from which they have largely benefited.

Candidates for Trustees.

In giving out the list of trustees nomithe committee the board annated by the committee the board announced that acceptance had not been received from all the candidates, but it was said that few or no refusals were expected. From a source of information that should be authoritative. It was learned that President Peabody would not be a candidate for re-election in the sense that he would make any effort to succeeded himself. The full ticket is as

The speech was greeted with enthusiastic cheers by the left and exclamations of astonishment from the center and right. M. Lidnitsky then mounted the tribune and declared that the proposition emanated from him personally and not from any political group.

NOT MRS. HARTJE'S WORK

Parents and Sister of Accused ST. PETERSBURG, July 17 .- The ST. PETERSBURG, July 17.—The Twentleth Century (formerly the Russ) today claims that the reports submitted by the Commission of the General Staff on the investigation of the disaffection in the army thus far show that six guard regiments, 26 line, seven cavalry, six artillery and five sapper regiments are more or less effected by the revolutionary propagation. Woman Give Strong Testimony in Her Defense-Susie Wagner Letter Badly Garbled.

PITTSBURG, July 17.—Not the least important development in the Hartje di-verce trial was the outline of the defense that was disclosed by the testimony of Miss Ida Scott, the 16-year-old sister of Mrs. Mary Scott Hartje, who was put on the stand today a few minutes before adjournment. From this testimony was gathered for the first time the plan for gathered for the first time the plan for accounting for the disputed love letters that would be followed by Mrs. Hartje's attorneys. That she had written two or three envelopes addressed to "Tom" Madine, the coachman co-respondent, at the request of Annie Luets, one of the maids, and that she had given Annie sheets of her paper, were among the significant statements she made.

More Evidence of Forgery.

Thus the presence of the single envelope among all the love letters pre-sented by counsel for the libelant would be explained. The charge of forgery made by counsel for the respondent will made by counsel for the respondent will be reinforced by accounting for the presence in the disputed letters of the paper used by the Scott girls in the manner indicated by Ida's testimony that she gave it to her maid. Her sister, Helen, also often gave sheets of her paper to the servants, she testified.

It is expected that Annie Luetz will be next called and interrogated as to what she did with the envelopes addressed by Ida Scott and with the latter's paper given to her.

Meetings With Madine Impossible. Mrs. Hartje's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John F. Scott, were witnesses during the day. Mr. Scott declared that it was impossible for his daughter to have met Madine or to have telephoned to him, as she was never out of the house alone and all in the Scott home usually knew when the telephone rung.

James Tuff and James H. Orr, both connected with local banks, said that Mrs. Hartje, in their opinion, did not write the "Susie Wagner" letter, as did also J. H. Niceley.

Following the handwriting experts, Mrs. John F. Scott, mother of Mrs. The Preservation of Australian industries and the repression of destructive monopolies."

Tom Madine were not in her daughter's handwriting. She said it would have been impossible for the defendant to have met Madine without the knowledge of the witness.

Mrs. Alex W. Slocum, Mrs. Hartje's intimate friend, declared that the love letters were not in Mrs. Hartje's hand-

CHICAGO, July 17.—Drums and flags drew a crowd of spectators last night to the strangest labor union meeting ever held in Chicago. Under an are light at the corner of Thirty-ninth street and Cottage Grove avenue union leaders alternately preached the gospel of unionism, sang "industrial" songs in ragtime and collected contributions for the support of strikers, while a hundred or more onlookers marveled at the new method of the Chicago Federation of Labor.

It was the first "gospel" meeting arranged by the labor forces of the city. Those in charge of the meeting afterward pronounced it a great success.

M. Stenton, and herself, was to-night committed to the Tombs by order of Coroner McDonald, in default of $25,000 hall. This action followed the close of the Coroner's inquest, when the jury brought in a verdict that Mrs. Kinnan was mur-dered by a person or persons unknown In a verdict that Mrs. Kinnan was murdered by a person or parsons unknown, and recommended that Gibson be held for examination by the grand jury.

Gibson occupied the stand during the greater part of today's session. He said Mrs. Kinnan engaged him to defend squatter proceedings which had been instituted against her property and established her right to title. After prolonged litigation the property was sold in September. 1905. for $65,000, ostensibly to Archibald M. McFarland, but in reality to Gibson, and nine months after was resold for $90,000. Of the profit, Gibson admitted $30,000 was to, go to himself and sold for $90,000. Of the profit, Gibson admitted $20,000 was to go to himself and the rest to his father, McFarland and John Kelly, who were associated in the deal. It appeared that the only money received by Mrs. Stenton was $5000 given her by a lawyer, Asheton, who acted with Gibson in the legal proceeding. Gibson admitted that after the musder he had visited the Stenton house and had removed certain documents and articles of value. This he claimed he had a right to do, and declared that he notified the police at that time.

BEAUTIFUL PIANO IN HOME OF WEALTH

ADMITS CHEATING CLIENT Pendleton Musician Secures the Famous Weber Art Piano.

Musicians and lovers of the beautiful have taken great interest in the superb $1600 Weber Grand Piano that was exhibited recently at Eilers Piano House. The above is a sketch of the instrument, although the beauty of its lines and markings cannot possibly be conveyed in a mere drawing or photo. The piano itself is of the renowned Weber make, pos-sessing the wonderful Weber tone, which has been the de-light of the discriminating musician ever since the first masterpieces of Albert Weber, Sr., made their appearance. In power and volume, combined with a purity, sweetness and sympathy, the Weber tone excels anything produced in grand or upright pianos in this country and abroad, and coupled with this is the proverbial and durability. There are today in daily use in Oregon, Weber pianos that have been used constantly for over 35 years.

But, while the beauty of its day. But, while the beauty of its tone is as it should be, the main feature of this elegant piano, the case itself is worthy of extended description. The design is of that graceful and yet massive character which distinguishes the Weber product in everything they do, and the case is made of built-up layers of marblewood, technically known as dyospyros Kurzii, which is native in the British Burmas, the Andaman Islands (a chain of islands to the east of Bengal), and occasionally it is also found in certain parts of the Philippines. It properly belongs to the ebony family, is very hard, and of course quite

The richness of the markings of deep brown and almost black on a background of a very rich natural tan color, under the new French or dull finish, instead of the usual glossy American finish, is simply beyond description. The instrument is not to be delivered until late in the Fall, and it is hoped that alterations in the new store will be far enough under way before that time so that this exquisite piano may be placed on exhibition once more where all can see it. NEW YORK, July 17.—Baron Speck von Sternburg, the German Ambassador to the United States, was overcome by the heat at the South Station in Boston this afternoon, as he was about to take a social and musical life of the fine and prosperous little inland city. The piano was purchased by Mr. W. A. Slusher, a wealthy sheep ranch-
