3,303 County Residents Employed by Government

New York — A comprehensive survey of public employment in the United States reveals that the number of Jackson county residents on government payrolls is relatively large.

There are more people so-employed locally, per 1,000 population, than is the case in most sections of the country.

Taken into consideration were all those employed in a civilian capacity by the federal government, by the states an dby counties, mu-sctates and by counties, mu-es of government.

Because government, at all levels, is playing an ever-increasing role in the lives of people, there is heightened interest in the growth of public employment and in its rising cost.

Census Data

The facts and figures are brought out in a series of reports issued by the Department of Commerce, based on data gathered in the 1960 census.

They show a total of 3,303 persons in Jackson county who work for some agency of government, not counting those engaged in agricultural administration and control. Of this number, 2,076 are men and 1,227 are women.

In terms of the entire working force, it amounts to one government employee for every seven workers locally.

Specifically, 14.2 per cent of the total are listed as government employees, compared with 13 per cent in the rest of the United States.

Municipal Level

The local ratio was lower, however, than that in the Pacific states, 15.3 per cent.

Much of the expansion in personnel is occurring at the municipal level, notes the International City Managers association, as cities strive to meet the constant demand for more police protection, better sanitation and roads, public welfare and other services.

In a period of seven years, it points out, city employment has risen 20 per cent and municipal payrolls have increased 59 per cent.

Throughout the United States, the number of civilians employed by all governments, federal, state and local, is now approximately nine million, equivalent to 46 for every 1,000 people.

In Oregon, the ratio is 52 per 1,000.

Merry Mixers

The Merry Mixers 4-H cooking club held a meeting recently at the home of Mrs. Cornutt.

We discussed having a party next Tuesday. We also discussed what would be the best way to fix our dollar dinner. Next week we are going to work on our record books.

This year we have learned a lot. We learned that cooking is an art and every artist needs to use imagination. The best preparation of even the simplest meals can be a creative experience. Be imaginative with seasonings. Try new combinations. New ways of serving your meals will be more distinctive.

Having no further business the meeting was adjourned.

Diana Davis

Teen-Age Council

A major event for the Jackson County 4-H Teen-Age council was a camping trip.

Original plans were to pack into Seven Lakes basin July 6-8. After reaching Butte Falls it was learned that seven feet of snow covered this area and the club journeyed on to Imnaha for a wonderful week end of camping and riding.

Twelve members, two county agents—Phyllis Kirkland and Jerry Brog and Mrs. Brog attended the outing and were joined Saturday night by Mr. and Mrs. Bill Bigham and Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Hammond.

This was the last activity and meeting for the club until fall.
