NATIONAL GUARD RETURNS INFANTRY ORGANIZATIONS ARE BACK FROM VACATION.

Millitamen Are Bronzed and in Fine Mettle After Twelve Days of Camp Life.

The infantry organizations of the Oregon National Guard, which have been participating in the American Lake encampment for the past 12 days, returned to their home stations yesterday. The trip from Murray Station, Wash., was made by special train, running in three sections over the Northern Pacific. The Portland companies came on the last section, leaving Murray at 12:30 P. M. and reaching Portland at 5:30. The outside companies left on the first two sections, leaving the maneuver grounds at 8:30 and 9:30 A. M. and reaching here in time to make connections with outgoing trains for home. The train service was excellent, there being no long delays along the route.

A pleasant and uneventful trip is reported by officers and men. The militiamen were bronzed and in fine mettle after their 12 days in camp, during which they followed regular army routine and lived like soldiers in the field.

Camp was broken bright and early in the morning. After the skirmishing of Tuesday, in which the Oregon men made an excellent showing when put to the severe test of maneuvering alongside regulars, the guardsmen got everything in readiness to break camp. They were

WILL WATCH SEWER WORK Special Inspectors to Be Employed by City on Brooklyn Project.

It is planned to have the work of construction of the big Brooklyn district sewer supervised by several special sewer inspectors. An ordinance will probably be presented at the next meeting of the Council to provide for the appointment of these inspectors.

The contract for the Brooklyn sewer was let a few days ago to Paquet, Gieblisch & Joppin. The inspectors now in the service have all the work they can possibly attend to and it is deemed wise to appoint special men who may devote their entire time to the work in hand.

HEAD OF SMELTER TRUST DANIEL GUGGENHEIM HERE ON TOUR OF INSPECTION.

Has Just Returned From Alaska With His Brother, Simon R. Guggenheim, and Their Wives.

Daniel Guggenheim, of New York, president of the American Smelting & Refining Company, commonly known as the smelter trust; president also of the Guggenheim Exploration Company, as well as of the American Smelting Securities Company, accompanied by his brother, Simon R. Guggenheim, member of the executive committee of the American Smelting & Refining Company, arrived in Portland last night, accompanied by their wives and a few friends. They came from the Sound, and are on their way East after a tour of inspection of the properties owned by the allied companies in Alaska.

"I really would have to stop and think before answering," said Daniel Guggenheim, when asked if his companies have interests in this state. "Have you any mines here? If so, I suppose we are interested in Oregon, but I cannot answer offhand. We hold properties all over the West.

"Our trip is one of inspection of our properties. I am anxious to see more of Portland, not having been here for three years. We have just been in Alaska for some time, and we have determined to build a railroad up Copper River to develop our mines in that district. Proper-

God's Church Begins Campmeeting

Regular services of the 11th annual campmeeting of God's Church were held last evening in the tabernacle on East Tenth and East Madison streets, Hawthorne Park. This campmeeting will be attended by adherents of this peculiar faith from Oregon, Washington and Idaho, and will continue until September 1. Services for each day will be as follows: Family worship between 6 and 7 A. M.; children's instruction, 9 A. M.; regular preaching services, 10 A. M., 2 P. M. and 7:30 P. M. Elders J. C. Pefferman, James Bamford, John Gelspie, E. W. Gresley, O. A. Chaplain and wife, J. L. Green, Miss Nettie Field, G. T. Neal and others will be present.

This is a church without a creed of any sort, the Bible being its only guide. It has no organization or membership roll. Its preachers never preach until they are inspired to talk by the Divine Spirit. During the progress of this campmeeting the speakers will not be announced in advance, because it will not be known who will address the meeting until, according to the teachings of God's Church, the speaker is inspired to talk.

When the meetings open the various elders will be seated on the platform. The music will progress up to the time when the sermon is to be delivered. Not even the Bible will be opened on the altar, but instantly, at the close of the musical exercise, an elder receives inspiration, and, going to the altar, opens the Bible and reads his text and starts his sermon. In all this there is no confusion or delays.

The tents are springing up on the grounds. Families are coming from a distance, and will live on the ground. Finances are not considered. Everything is free. "The Lord provides," they say, "and why should we worry? We always have plenty." Elder Neal invites the public to these meetings, and urges parents of children to attend the 9 A. M. gathering for the instruction of children in the Bible.

Natural Ice Deposit Is Found on Island

People Along Columbia Get Free Supply from Body of Land in River Opposite Latourelle.

PORTLAND, Aug. 22.—(To the Editor.)

—In reference to the account in this morning's Oregonian of an ice mine near Spokane, may I call your attention to a similar ice mine in the Columbia River? It seems to cover a large part of an island opposite Latourelle. The residents of this part of Oregon have, for ten years, to my knowledge, been accustomed to getting their ice from this mine all during the Summer, for making ice-cream and frozen dishes. They row across to the island in a small boat, dig below the sandy surface, and throw out great quantities of the ice, which they load into gunny bags and carry back to their homes. No one in particular seems to own the island or have charge of the ice mine. It is free to all comers. Naturally, the ice is not clear, being mixed with sand and gravel, and more of the consistency of frozen snow than of ice.

When the river is high, the island is partly submerged with water, but this condition does not seem to affect the ice. How deep it is I have no idea, as no one has attempted to sound it.

The question is, How did it get there, what keeps it from melting, and why hasn't some one made commercial use of this natural deposit?

ANNE SHANNON MONROE.

ROBBER IS TWICE FOILED Scared From Residence After Futile Assault on Owner.

A daring attempt at burglary was made at 307 Seventeenth street, the home of R. H. Hoyer, about 9:30 o'clock last night.

Mr. Hoyer had just returned home from a drive, and while tying his horse in the barn a man struck at him with a club or a gun, but missed him.

Mr. Hoyer at once started for the police station to report the attack, and while gone his assailant climbed through a side window into the kitchen of the Hoyer residence. There were two women in the house, who, hearing the intruder striking matches, screamed and attracted assistance, but the would-be burglar escaped.

Mrs. Carlson, of 827 Sixteenth street, saw a man leap over her fence and run down Sixteenth street at about the time the burglar left the Hoyer home.

Mr. Hoyer was supposed to have considerable money about him, but it chanced to be in the form of a draft, so nothing would have been secured had the attack been successful.
