Tillett has a nice lot of one-year-old apple trees of the best varieties. Some people purchase nursery trees like they were buying cordwood, trying to get the largest amount of wood for their money. Nothing is gained by buying big trees. Get nice, healthy one and two-year-olds and look out for good roots.

Hon. E. L. Smith returned home Monday night from his campaign tour in Southern Oregon. He was aboard the Southern Pacific train that it was attempted to wreck near Drain's Station, last Saturday morning, at 4 o'clock. Obstructions were placed on the track, and if the wretches had succeeded in throwing the train off, it would have rolled down into a deep canyon.

One of The Dalles bright young men came to Hood River one day last week and took a room at the Mt. Hood hotel. He slept all day and in the evening called at Mrs. Fuell's and run his check for tobacco and cigarettes, saying he was working for Henry York and would pay when he received his wages. He then boarded the night train and left without paying for his bed or tobacco.

The Darlington, Wis., Journal says editorially of a popular patent medicine: "We know from experience that Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoa Remedy is all that is claimed for it, as on two occasions it stopped excrutiating pains and possibly saved us from an untimely grave. We would not rest easy over night without it in the house." This remedy undoubtedly saves more pain and suffering than any other medicine in the world. Every family should keep it in the house, for it is sure to be needed sooner or later. For sale by Williams & Brosius, druggists.

Henry Ward Beecher said: "A man who lives at a hotel is like a grapevine in a flower pot, movable, carried around from place to place, docked at the root and short at the top. Nowhere can a man get real root growth and spread out his branches but in his own home." If you own the ground your house stands on and would make it more home-like, call at the Columbia Nursery and get a few nut, fruit and ornamental trees or vines and set them out, and your children will bless you for it.

James E. Hanna had the honor of being first to pay his subscription in the new GLACIER office. J. W. Hinrichs came next, and then Peter Cordes, Frank Caddy, Wm. Boorman, John Monroe, E. E. Lyons and W. G. Clelland. Many of our friends have called and wished the GLACIER success in its new quarters.

The other day, while H. C. Bateham was falling a large fir tree, he laid his coat on a stump near by. The tree in falling struck the stump, and as he picked up the coat and counted 41 holes punched in it, he remarked that for once he was glad he was "not in it."

In Memoriam.

Resolved, That the following resolutions be adopted by Hood River Chapter, Order of the Eastern Star, upon the death of Mrs. Rosanna Bell, which occurred October 1, 1896:

Whereas, it has pleased our Divine Master to send the Angel of Death and call our sister home;

Resolved, That while we bow in submission to the will of Him that doeth all things well, we feel that in the death of our beloved sister we have lost a worthy member of our beautiful order; that our society has lost a noble woman, her husband a true wife and her child a loving mother.

Resolved, That as a society we shall hold her name in grateful remembrance, and to our sisters say, Regard the example of her as one worthy of imitation.

Resolved, That while the friends weep for their earthly companion and we mingle our tears with theirs, we in our lesser grief can say to the afflicted ones: The dove with its emblem of peace will surely return to you in this your sad affliction.

Resolved, That out of respect to our departed sister, the charter of our chapter be draped in mourning for 30 days.

Resolved, That these resolutions be spread upon the records of this chapter, a copy sent to the family of the deceased sister, and a copy to the Hood River GLACIER for publication.

We loved thee, sister, oh! how much;
Our love there's none can tell.
But Death, the spoiler, came and took
Her whom we loved so well.

Thy husband dear will miss thee most,
Thy child will share his gloom;
They fondly hoped that thou wouldst cheer
Their pathway to the tomb.

We miss thee in the "Star,"
Thy place is vacant there.
Thy neighbors feel that one is gone
Whose loss we all must share.

Then weep no more for sister gone,
Eternal bliss to share;
So live that we, when life is o'er,
May meet our loved one's there.

MRS. ANNABELL MORSE,
MRS. ANNA FLAGG,
MRS. FRANCIS MORSE,
Committee.

Lines in memory of Muriel Husbands, who departed this life Friday, September 25, 1896, at Mosier, Oregon.

Once more Death has called us to mourn over an angel of God Little Muriel, the pride and jewel of the household, has been called to heaven to claim her reward. Shall we weep for her departed spirit? No, we shall not weep. The Angel of Death came and little Muriel was welcomed into heaven, where her Heavenly Father was waiting to welcome her. It would be cruel to call her back to this wicked world to grieve over sorrow and trouble while she is sweetly resting in Jesus. God knows best. She, as pure and spotless as snow, is numbered among the angels, sweetly resting in the arms of her Savior.

With saddened hearts we gathered
'Round the form of one so fair;
An angel of God that was taken from earth
To dwell in heaven so fair.

With sorrowing hearts we laid her to rest—
Parents and friends most dear;
We bid her farewell, her spotless form,
An angel who had taken its flight.

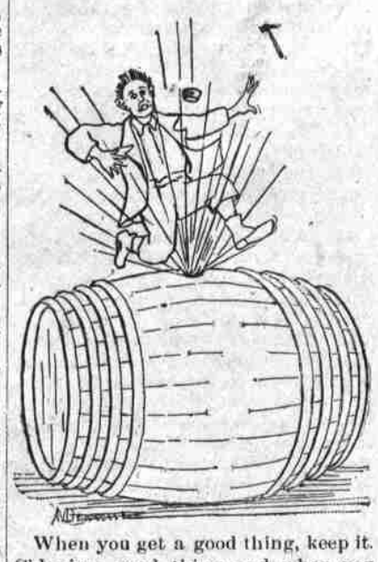
Call not back the departed,
The treasure and chief most dear;
In heaven she's waiting to greet again
The friends she has left here.

In heaven she's sweetly resting,
With angels bright and fair.
Her crown is a crown of whiteness,
In her hand a harp of gold.

A FRIEND.

McGinnis Meets with an Accident.

The nonappearance of our correspondent McGinnis in town and his absence from church, political meetings and other gatherings is explained thusly in a letter to the editor: "The other day I undertook the difficult task of putting a new stove-pipe jack onto the pipe of the cook stove, and just as I was getting things nicely under way, the floor below me suddenly gave way. Of course I had immediate business below, where I landed with both feet in a pot of boiling beef that set on the stove. But the head of a refractory nail that stuck out from the wall behind where I stood had made forcible objection to my entrance by that route—and they were my best overalls, too. So this is the political situation at present, but hope to get things to rights in time to help elect Billy Bryan as our next president."



When you get a good thing, keep it. Cider is a good thing, and when you lay in a supply for the winter, keep it from fermenting by using our Cider Preservative. It will keep it pure and sweet. It is perfectly harmless, and a package, just the size for one barrel, costs 25 cents at
