KIDNAPER TAKES BEND GIRL IN CAR

An ex-Klamath Falls policeman, named Jones, was declared the man who Tuesday kidnaped Mrs. Helen Bair, young Bend matron, who was being taken to Salem to serve a sentence in the state industrial school for girls. All gateway highways to the valley were guarded Tuesday night, and Sheriff Edick expressed the opinion that the man and woman were in hiding in some remote part of the valley.

The woman, accompanied by Mrs. Helen V. Johnson, on officer of the Women's Protective Bureau, was being taken to Salem by motor by District Attorney Moore, of Bend. While they had stopped at Hal's service station, the kidnaper drew his car up immediately behind the officer's car. While Mrs. Johnson and the women were walking around the service station grounds, the prisoner at a signal from the driver of the car, which bore California license A-95-766, rushed to his machine, jumped over the closed door and the machine dashed off before pursuit could be started. The car was last heard of traveling at a terrific rate on a West Side orchard road. It is a blue Hupmobile, with a trunk attached and easily recognized.

The Bair woman was sentenced to the state school for the possession of intoxicating liquor. The ex-Klamath policeman, District Attorney Moore stated, was a close companion.

At a late hour yesterday posses from the sheriff's office, who spent the day combing all side roads of the valley, thought they had entrapped Jones in the Odell section. It was discovered that he spent the night in a copse near the Jake Lenz place in the Middle Valley.

When last seen the car carrying the California license was occupied only by the man. What disposition he had made of the woman is now a mystery.

Yeoman-Hilderbran

Chas. I. Yeoman, West Side orchardist, and Miss Sarah Elizabeth Hilderbran, of Hammond, Ind., were married recently at the home of Dr. James A. Fraser, who officiated. The bride is an old friend of Mr. Yeoman's family in Indiana, where he spent his boyhood.

Mr. Yeoman's wedding present to his wife was a handsome Dodge sedan. The couple has left on a honeymoon trip with friends and relatives at Lewiston, Ida.

Recent guests of the newlyweds were Mr. Yeoman's brother, Sam Yeoman, of Portland, and his niece, Mrs. Anderson, and husband. One evening soon after the wedding a large number of Frankton neighbors gave the newly married couple a pleasant charivari. Mr. and Mrs. Yeoman are making their home for the time being in the William Mack residence in Frankton.

TENNIS IS GETTING EMPHASIS THIS YEAR

Tennis, in former years listed merely with allied sports, is being emphasized at the Hood River Golf and Country club this year, and the board of directors has made a special annual junior tennis fee of $5, and special adults' fee of $10. The following have been named as a special tennis committee for 1925: J. R. Norton, William W. Muir, A. L. Anderson and Mrs. J. R. Norton.

The country club courts have been put in excellent condition, and arrangements have been made to keep them so throughout the season for both men and women.

Play in a "ladder" tournament will start next Saturday. Teams will be selected from the first six in the "ladder" tournament. A local match and a return match is being arranged with White Salmon, and Saturday, May 30, has been designated as the date to meet a five-boy team from The Dalles with a return match later. A match may be arranged with a girls' team from The Dalles.

Those who have been drawn for the "ladder" tournament were as follows: Men—J. C. Edwards, A. L. Anderson, W. W. Muir, James Fenemore, Oliver Samuelson, John R. Norton, Eino Annala, Paul Keir, Gordon Manser, L. H. Cederwall, D. B. Cramer, Kay Sinclair, Thomas Scott, Harold Hershner, C. T. Baker, James Collier, Frank Pierson, Robert Butler; and girls, Irma Annala, Mamie Samuelson, Mrs. J. R. Norton, Lucille Paddock, Virginia Vaughan, Eleanor Derby, Helen Richards, Virginia Abraham, Dorothy House, Myrna Cobb, Elizabeth Derby and Margaret Pierson.

FINS, FURS AND FEATHERS

Since the cessation of recent rainfall, fishing in mid-Columbia streams has improved. Anglers the past several days have caught the limit of trout in the Trout Lake section of Klickitat county, Washington. Those returning with full baskets from Trout Lake Sunday included: Frank Moore, A. C. Reidel, Vernon Horne and Art Johnsen. The Klickitat river, north of Lyle, Wash., for the past several days has been the lure of those who prefer larger fish. Steelheads and chinook salmon are taking bait as spinners there, and numerous catches of huge fish were reported Tuesday.

Sunday H. O. Kresse and W. A. Hackett had success on the Klickitat. Yesterday Mr. Kresse and Dr. Fraser sought the big fellows there.

A new dog has arrived in town. This is a tiny, wire haired, fox terrier, the property of Jess Sexton. When he made his appearance in the Wasco county bank this morning for the first time, a number of friends were present to greet him but a sudden trembling seized his small frame, accompanied by such a sad and mournful look that speculations were rife as to the cause. Some said he was cold, some that he was hungry and some that he was frightened. At last a remark by Hallie Rice to the effect that he "looked much like a bank manager just after having been asked for a loan," seemed to settle the question satisfactorily.—The Dalles Chronicle.

When Do We Eat—Where Do We Eat

The Auxiliary has increased its membership 33⅓ per cent over last year's number, and wishes to urge all ladies who are eligible to have their applications on the table for the May 4 meeting, as this will be the last meeting before the contest closes, and the members wish to maintain the present standing of first place in the state in this contest.

All ladies who are bringing in their application at this time will be welcome to attend the dinner, as the regular business meeting will be held following the banquet.

The Auxiliary urges all who are eligible to come and help them enjoy a good time.

LANGILLE URGES FOREST PROTECTION

W. A. Langille, of the state forestry department, addressed the Tuesday Lunch club at the Columbia Gorge hotel Tuesday in celebration of American Forestry Week. He cited the magnitude of the forests of Oregon, where a fifth of the remaining standing timber of the nation is found. Mr. Langille explained laws governing forest protection and cited the great losses that have occurred because of men's carelessness in the woods.

The luncheon drew an attendance of 63, a record for the club. A large number of guests were present. An address was delivered by Major Roy W. Winston, of the American Playground and Recreation Commission, here visiting City School Superintendent Cannon. He praised Hood River highly for recreational work, declaring that the steps taken here were attracting favorable comment from many Oregon cities.

WATSONVILLE TO HAVE LIGHT YIELD

August Guignard, West Side orchardist and apple grading manufacturer, declared yesterday that prospects are ahead for a good market for northwestern box apples despite the fact that Wenatchee and Yakima bid fair to have record yields.

"I have just received a letter from my connections in the Watsonville, Calif., district, said Mr. Guignard, "and he tells me that protracted rains at the time of the bloom has cut their tonnage to 10 per cent of normal. Watsonville had only a 40 per cent crop last season.

"Another factor that is going to help in the economic distribution of the apples arises from the widespread construction of cold storage plants in the big Washington districts. They are going to be able to hold more of their apples there than ever in any former year. Thus the glutting of markets will be eliminated.

ENTERTAINMENT AT ODELL FRIDAY, MAY 8

The Central Vale Mothers' Club entertainment to be given in the Odell high school auditorium Friday evening, May 8, is for the purpose of adding to the community house fund. The club desires to erect a building which will be a social center, meeting a need which has been long felt in the community.

The program numbers include a one-act comedy by Mrs. Herbert Garr Reed; vocal selections by Miss Helen Bridgeford Drain; piano numbers and vocal compositions by Lawrence Woodfin, and selections by the Odell grange orchestra. Among Mr. Woodfin's vocal numbers are some of his own compositions. He has arranged some delightful nonsense verse for the small guests.

Tickets will be on sale after May 1 at the Krease drug store, Hood River, and the Odell Cash Store and Holman & Davis Co., Odell. Admission 25 and 50 cents.

W. B. SPIERS VICTIM OF MILL ACCIDENT

Funeral services were held Monday at Lewiston, Ida., for W. B. Spiers, killed there last Friday night while engaged as a millwright for the Craig Lumber Co. Mr. Spiers, aged 33, is survived by his widow, Mrs. Pearl Rand Spiers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Andy Rand, of this city, and a small son, Boyd. Mr. Spiers had visited Hood River.

Apple Shipments for 1924 Less

The summary of carlot shipments of apples from the Northwestern states, for the 1924-25 season to April, according to a report of the Department of Agriculture, shows that the shipments from the state of Washington had reached a total of 23,660 cars to April 5. This is over 12,000 cars behind the total of a year ago, 35,894 of the total shipments for that season having been rolled at that time.

The state of Oregon had shipped 5,508 cars to April 4 this year compared with 6,384 shipped to the same time a year ago.

There are believed to be less than 1,500 cars remaining in Washington at the present time, something under 450 in the Wenatchee district and less than 1,000 in Yakima.

Family Night at Rialto

Manager Kolstad announced yesterday that he will inaugurate weekly family night at the Rialto theatre next Wednesday. On family nights, while the quality of the pictures will remain of the same high standard, any man and wife and all children up to 12 years of age may see the show for only 50 cents.

Next Thursday night Clifford Porter, who has been conducting country stores in eastern Oregon, will launch a series of country stores here.

After one day's run "Greed," declared by the management to be out of taste for a Hood River audience, was pulled, and "Dangerous Innocence" was substituted.

Frank Howard Hurt in Fall

Although he fell 35 feet from a tree on the West Side Saturday, Frank Howard, of the line crew of the Pacific Power & Light Co., escaped with only painful bruises. Mr. Howard and Floyd L. French were engaged in trimming obstructing branches. The former had cut off a large limb and was disentangling it when he slipped or the branch on which he was standing broke. His fall was somewhat broken by small branches.

Judge Wilson Quoted

Judge Fred W. Wilson is quoted in an article entitled "What the Judges Say About Divorce" which appears in the May Good Housekeeping magazine (1925 edition), as follows: "Instead of all this talk about the divorce evil, more attention should be given to the marriage evil." Nineteen hundred judges, from all sections of the United States, were asked for their opinion on the question.

TRIP TO MEMALOOSE ISLAND HAS APPEAL

It was Oregon springtime last Thursday, when Paul Sletton, of the Highway Auto Co., came by The Glacier office with Photographer C. S. Reeves. He was at the wheel of a new Star touring car.

"Let's get out and see some of the country," he invited. "It's too fine, this weather, to remain indoors."

And soon the party was en route over the Columbia River Highway east of here to Memaloose Island, where Mr. Reeves secured pictures of the island, for ages a burying ground of the Indians.

Never was the great canyon of the Columbia more appealing. The eye beheld various shadings of green. New willow foliage was along the lowlands. On the great bare open spaces that mark the canyon east of the gateway twin tunnels of the highway, the short grasses and lichens, the rains of the past week having brought to a point of climax, were now brilliantly green, as the sun shone fairly on them. Again, as a cloud passed under the sun, they were almost blue.

Mr. Sletton took a side road just east of Mayerdale and steered the Star down narrow and steep stretches of the route to Chatfield, an O.-W. R. & N. station. The men left the car and walked across the windswept river front.

Some day the state will construct a short side road from the Columbia River Highway on the bluff overlooking the Columbia above Memaloose Island. It will become a popular point for tourists.

THE DALLES ARTISANS HERE TONIGHT

The Dalles Artisans lodge will be here tonight with their noted stock company to present, at the Rialto theatre, "Are You a Mason?" one of the outstanding comedies of the century. The play was made famous at home and abroad by John Barrymore.

The players of The Dalles have won the hearts of theatregoers of Wasco county with their production. It is anticipated that the show house here will be well crowded tonight.

HOOD RIVER WILL HAVE ELKS LODGE

C. A. Richards has received word that Hood River's petition for an Elks lodge has been granted, and the new lodge will be instituted the latter part of May. It will be the baby Oregon lodge at the national convention to be held in Portland in July.

Mr. Richards stated that 105 new names have been received and that 65 Elks from other lodges are located in the valley and will affiliate with the new lodge.

Mr. and Mrs. Emry Celebrate

Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Emry Monday night celebrated the 24th anniversary of their arrival in Hood River.

"The thing that I especially remember about our coming here," said Mr. Emry, "was that it was an early season, considerably earlier than this year. Potato plants were in blossom. When we first came here Hood River had less than 100 feet of sidewalk, that of boards."

Mr. and Mrs. Emry were given a pleasant surprise party at the home of their daughter, Mrs. Ralph W. Barton.

Ball Team Going to Dufur

The Hood River baseball team, which Sunday suffered defeat at the hands of the White Salmon team, score 8 to 2, will go to Dufur next Sunday.

The members of the local team will stage a dance at the K. P. hall Saturday night, when the Columbia Strollers, noted dance orchestra from The Dalles, will play.

PORTLAND FESTIVAL TO BE BEST EVER

A tentative program for Portland's 1925 Rose Festival, which is to be nearly four times as large and comprehensive as any previous rose carnival, is announced this week by O. W. Mielke, president.

Monday will see the arrival of the grand old battleship "Oregon" with the Queen of Rosaria and her court as passengers, and the opening performance of "Rosaria," pageant of 5,000 persons to be presented on a colossal stage in Multnomah field. The queen will be crowned in the final scene.

Tuesday is the opening day of the annual rose show, which is to be enlarged for 1925's augmented festival. Tuesday also will be "Rosebud Day" in the Portland parks, where children will present dancing and singing programs. The second performance of "Rosaria" will conclude the day's program.

A regatta on the Willamette river with the largest fleet of racing hydroplane boats in the country is the main event for Wednesday, June 17. The rose show will be continued and "Rosaria" will be presented.

Portland's glorious floral parade, which this year will have "Rosaria" as a rival for popularity, is scheduled for Thursday. The pageant will have its fourth performance Thursday night.

Friday is the final day, and the carnival parade, for which a name is being selected, will end the 1925 festival in an orgy of fun. Nothing like this brand new feature of the Rose Festival has been produced in the United States. Every entry in it must contain a smile and most of them will be worthy of a hearty laugh. The final 1925 performance of "Rosaria" Friday night will conclude the festival.

Hood River's Guides will participate in parades.

POMONA GRANGE AT ODELL WEDNESDAY

Governor Pierce will be the chief speaker at a public afternoon program to be given by the Hood River County Pomona Grange at the Odell Grange hall next Wednesday. The grange meeting will last all day, and at noon the members of the Odell grange will serve dinner.

Master Odell stated that the meeting will be called promptly at 10 a. m. The program, to which the general public is invited, will start at 2 p. m.

Many Motorists Here Sunday

An estimated 5,000 visiting motorists were attracted here to see the apple blossoms Sunday. Most of the visitors continued their journey over the Mount Hood Loop Highway through Upper Valley orchards on into the national forest.

It was estimated that 1,500 motorists crossed the Columbia interstate bridge to get a glimpse of the orchards of Skamania and Klickitat counties, Washington.

Crows and hawks can be caught by setting a steel trap on the top of a long pole, advises the Oregon experiment station. The trapping of one hawk may mean the lives of several chickens.

Clipped Here and There

Governor Pierce and the Oregonian cameraman stayed quite a contract during the trip to Big Eddy last Saturday—the Governor endeavoring to be in the front row all of the time and the cameraman trying to focus on someone else. Once more the Governor won by a good margin.—The Dalles Optimist.

Since everybody in Oregon is more or less interested in tourists who are attracted hitherward, the story of what the enterprising city of Hood River is planning to do this year and in succeeding years is important from more than one point of view.

Our Hood River friends are not dreaming dreams. They go at this question of service to tourists in a practical way, just as they go at the cultivation of fruit—with a definite intelligently planned purpose of accompanying results.

A moment's study of the plan shows conclusively that Hood River county and Multnomah county are partners in the enterprise. The Mount Hood route binds the two counties, and the partnership idea is perfectly natural. This year's activities are but a start. They will grow on their own momentum.

If the time is not already here, it is near at hand, when no tourist by motor car or rail, intending to see the Pacific coast, will consider the omission of a close view of Oregon's majestic snow peak and its incomparable environment.—Portland Telegram.
