Mr. and Mrs. R. V. Turnbull, who spent the winter at Oakland, Calif., visiting Mr. Turnbull's relatives, have returned to Tyee, in the Umpqua valley, where they have purchased a 160-acre ranch home. Mr. Turnbull has been here, arranging for removal of household goods to Tyee.

Miss Dessa Weaver, who has been at the Veteran's hospital in Portland, has been transferred to the hospital at Livermore, Calif. Miss Weaver, who has won many friends in Hood River for the excellency of her work in prevention of children's contagious diseases the past winter, has been granted a leave of absence as county health nurse.

The following students of the Portland Art Association school are spending the week here sketching Hood River Valley landscape scenes: Misses Rosemary Grace, Riette Latta and Olivia Shepherd. They are finding conditions ideal for spring landscapes, they say, as cherries are blooming and the early shrubbery is putting forth new leaf. The surrounding gorgesides are taking on their vernal tints of green.

Thomas Lacey, who has been in charge of finishing construction of shoulders of 10 miles of new paving east of Astoria, is spending a short time at home here before going to Hillsboro to engage in state highway work. Mr. Lacey says that the Astoria pavement is 20 feet wide on straight of ways and 23 feet at curves. Eight-foot shoulders have been constructed. "It is one of the best pavements in the state," said Mr. Lacey.

Rev. Sumerlin, who last week began a series of evangelistic services at the Pine Grove church, is a resident of Montana, but he has already become a booster for Hood River Valley. The other day he said he had written Mrs. Sumerlin, urging that she make up her mind to join him and make her home in the Hood River country. "I told her in my letter," said Rev. Sumerlin, "that the Lord, when he had finished making this section of the country just threw the leavings over the back fence and that made Montana."

J. C. Ryan, who lost both of his hands in a blizzard in South Dakota 30 years ago but who now makes a living writing fancy cards, is again in Hood River. Mr. Ryan, despite the fact of his misfortune, can do with his stubs almost as much as others do with their full 10 fingers. The other day at the Guide restaurant, after he had eaten, he picked up the meal check, walked to the cashier's desk, opened his purse, flipped out a coin and then took a toothpick. He is a most independent and cheerful citizen.

"Every night you smile again
Every day you by me claim.
Mother! Home!
What blest refrain!
All things go, but these remain."

GOLF NEWS

E. Cummins, Portland professional, will spend one day a week here. He was in Hood River yesterday. Those wishing to meet him should call Mrs. Crew at the Experiment Station.

The Spring Handicap tournament was started on Tuesday. Twelve ladies played in this tournament. Everyone chose their own handicap. Mrs. E. O. Blanchar won the prize. Everyone must turn in two nine-hole scores each week. This tournament will end May 31. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Hanby at the club house.

Forty-nine players qualified in the opening rounds of the Spring Handicap of the Hood River Country Club last Sunday. The players have been divided into three flights of 16 each, according to the low gross scores. In the first or championship class the following are the successful entrants together with their scores: Dr. C. W. Hamilton 82, E. E. House 87, E. C. Mears 88, H. T. DeWitt 88, E. R. Pooley 90, W. L. Nichols and Dr. C. H. Jenkins 93, Edgar Franz and Charles Carson 95, E. R. Moller and Harold Davis 96, C. C. Anderson and S. L. Banks 97, C. N. Ravlin 98, Earl Weber and Dr. Murphy 99. In the drawing for this flight the results were as follows: Franz vs. Murphy, Mears vs. Nichols, DeWitt vs. Anderson, Jenkins vs. Banks, Moller vs. Pooley, House vs. Weber, Hamilton vs. Ravlin, Carson vs. Davis.

Second Flight: E. O. Blanchar, Geo. Read 100; John Annala 101; C. T. Dewey 103; C. C. Crew, Zach Annala 104; L. S. Boyd 105; W. H. Marshall, Banks Mortimer, J. M. Culbertson, C. Alexander 106; C. M. Hurlburt, Roy Heaman 107; N. H. McMillan, Atto Byers 108; B. E. Cobb 110. These players are paired as follows: Z. Annala vs. Boyd, Alexander vs. Hurlburt, McMillan vs. John Annala, Crew vs. Dewey, Byers vs. Heaman, Read vs. Cobb, Marshall vs. Mortimer, Blanchar vs. Culbertson.

Third Flight: Leroy Childs, Fred Johnson, W. J. Knight 111; Truman Butler 112; H. K. Davenport, Dolph Mulkey 114; Dr. Collie, P. L. Tompkins 115; Dr. Henderson 116; S. J. Moore, M. E. McCarty 117; George W. Thomson 118; Coe 120; T. Smith 122; Dr. T. B. Zener 123; D. H. Sorter 129; Ray Wickham 130. The pairings are: Tompkins vs. Collie, Henderson vs. Childs, Coe vs. Wickham, T. Smith vs. McCarty, Johnson vs. Knight, Dr. Zener vs. Mulkey, Davenport vs. Butler, Moore vs. Sorter, Thomson bye.

The tournament committee has set the date of April 23 as the time limit in which all of the first round matches will have to be completed; up to the night of April 30 for the second round or semi-finals, and the finals during the week following.

On Sunday, May 1, the club will hold the City-Country team match, and on May 8 the High and Low Handicap team match. On May 15 will be the first round of the First National Bank Cup matches with The Dalles Country Club, played over the Hood River course. The teams will be made up of the entire playing membership of each club, the players being matched according to their respective handicaps.

Oldtime dance at Rockford Friday.

Keir Getting Ready

A. S. Keir is having his store remodeled and made ready for one of the most modern fountains in the state. The rear of the drug store has been remodeled, and a new concrete floor has been laid. A portion of the back room will be utilized as a kitchen, and lunches will be served from the new fountain, which will soon be installed.

Drawings of the proposed change indicate that it will have an appeal both for local folk and the big crop of tourists who will soon be traveling through.

After a visit with the family of Mr. Young's daughter, Mrs. A. J. Derby, Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Young left Monday to return to their home at Washington, Pa.
