IN TRUE ACCORD.

In his famous tariff message of 1887 President Cleveland said:

Our present tariff laws, the vicious, inequitable and illogical source of unnecessary taxation, ought to be at once revised and amended.

It is not proposed entirely to relieve the country of this taxation. It must be extensively continued as a source of the government's income; and in the readjustment of our tariff the interests of American labor engaged in manufacture should be carefully considered, as well as the preservation of our manufacturers.

But the reduction of taxation demanded should be so measured as not to necessitate or justify either the loss of employment by the workingman or the lessening of his wages.

The question of free trade is absolutely irrevelant, and the persistent claim made in certain quarters that all efforts to relieve the people from unjust and unnecessary taxation are schemes of so-called free traders is mischeivous and far removed from any consideration of the public good.

These expressions are in entire accord with Mr. Cleveland's letter of acceptance. They express the democratic principle and purpose. They were reflected in the Mills bill and in the separate bills removing or reducing taxes passed by the democratic house at the recent session of congress.

Tariff reform is no more free trade than economy is a cessation of government.

A NEW NOMINATING METHOD.

The voters are vehemently solicited at every general election to rush to the polls and save the people from ruin. But if the nominations are bad, how little is the use of votes. The truth is that the voting plays a secondary part in an election. It is the nomination that turns the scale for good or evil, and the primary makes the nomination. If both parties should nominate good candidates, good men would hold office, whichever party won the election. There may indeed be elections in which great principles are at stake; but the occasions are rare in which the voter is obliged to choose between a good policy with a bad candidate and a bad policy with a good candidate.

The practical politicians jeer at us for our simple folly. This is what one of them said the other day: "It's great sport to see people go to the polls in hordes and vote like cattle for the ticket we prepare. Reformers don't begin at the right point. They should begin at the point where nominations are made. The people think they make the nominations, but we do that business for them." What a boast of profligacy and shame!

For myself, I must say that I would require a nomination to be made by every voter when he registers his name preparatory to his exercise of the suffrage. Details could easily be arranged to secure the secrecy of such a nomination.—Hon. David Dudley Field in October Forum.

THE CAUSE OF THE EXPENDITURE

The billion dollar congress enacted laws which made necessary the following appropriations by this congress:

Foreign mails.....$	390,290 00
Indian depredation claims.....	478,252 62
Collecting sugar bounty.....	230,890 00
Increase of judicial salaries.....	88,000 00
Additional clerks under new pension law.	695,420 00
Mint at Philidelphia.	620,500 00
Pensions.....	48,000,000 00
Diplomatic and counselor officers salaries	25,000 00
Redemption national bank notes.....	9,500,000, 00
Expenses treasury notes.....	125,000, 00
Refund direct tax...	225,000, 00
Repayment to importers debentures or drawbacks customs.	5,000,000 00
Bounty in sugar.....	10,000,000 00
Snag boats, Ohio river.	25,000 00
Colleges for agricultural, mechanical arts.	833,000 00
Worlds fair.....	3,291,250 00
Total.....	79,527,602, 62

To the expenditures for which the present congress has been compelled to appropriate may be added 1057 new officers with salaries aggregating $1,452,930,82 in addition to some 648 charged above at $695,420, and 1151 annual salaries increased at annual cost of $159,724,82 in addition to the 63 judicial salaries charged above at 88,000 all created and made by the last congress.

The republican senate added to the bills as they passed the house the sum of $32,407,798,23; but the house succeeded in forcing the senate to consent that this additional amount should be reduced to $13,406,331,33 thus by unceasing vigilance saving to the treasury $18,951,456,90.

Republican orators swell up with pride when they say that this is a billion dollar county and with the next breath blame the democratic house for expending nearly as much. The expenditures were necessary because of the laws made by the republican congress.

THEY DO OBJECT.

Mr. Depew, it is said, humorously describes democracy as having been born in the objective case."

There is many a true word spoken in jest.

The democracts do object to paying worse than war taxes after twenty-seven years of peace. The original Morrill war tariff imposed an average duty of about 30 per cent. The average duty under the McKinley law is about 46 per cent.

The democrats object to squandering a surplus instead of stopping it by reducing taxes.

They object to the carrying of elections by bribery and fraud under the rascally system of the Dudleys, Quays, Martins and Hacketts.

They object to minority rule as enforced by Boss Platt in this state for seven years.

They object to having the republicans hold on to the offices after being voted out, as they have done in Connecticut, New Hampshire, Nebraska and Montana.

They object to the re-election of a president who was re-nominated by his own office-holders and whose administration has rewarded the rogues and protected the rascals who helped to put it in power.

They object to four years more of the scandalous record which is the issue of this campaign.

It is a good thing for the country that there is a powerful party of objectors to overcome the complaisance of the Depews and the corruption of other republican leaders.—World

Solomon Hirsch, minister to Turkey, has resigned and will return to Portland. Probably the political situation does not satisfy him and he is keeping his weather eye open for bad weather in the future.

PLATT ON HARRISON.

The report of a few weeks ago, that Platt, Quay and Dudley had been "squared" by the Administration and would work for Harrison's re-election, is confirmed, in regard to one name, at least, by the appearance of T. C. Platt at the republican meeting of Wednesday night in New York. Since President Harrison's famous declaration that "individual disapointments will not control the party," and Platt's part in the unsuccessful effort to nominate Blaine at Minneapolis, the New York boss has been kept a grim and suggestive silence in regard to the nominee and the campaign.

The promise of spoils has been enough to bring Platt into line for the ticket, but it has not evidently improved his opinion of the nominee.

It is only four months since Mr. Platt made public some of his opinions of the President. A few days before the opening of the Minneapolis convention, in an interview, he made some striking and savage remarks on the readiness of Mr. Harrison to claim every thing for himself and allow no credit to the other members of his Administration.

"It is astonishing how quick and easy is the process by which a man comes to look upon the office he holds as his private property," remarked Mr. Platt, in regard to Mr. Harrison's attitude towards his own candidacy. "He regards it as little less than impious to suggest that he would better make way for another President; he cannot understand how a man can be a good citizen without offering prayer night and morning for the re-election of Benjamin Harrison."

Then Mr. Platt, having put Mr. Harrison on the spit calmly roasted him. He showed that the president had sneered at Mr. Blaine's suggestion of reciprocity in his Pan-American message to congress, and that when reciprocity proved a popular card and was forced into the tariff bill by Mr. Blaine's reasoning and popular pressure, and the Brazillian treaty was signed, the president "went storming through the south saying very much about the glories of reciprocity and very little about the statesman who contrived it." The Samoan treaty, the Chilean affair, the opening of Europe to the American hog, the measures of the Fifty-first congress, which Mr. Harrison paraded in his speeches, appeared then to Mr. Platt to be due to Mr. Blaine, Secretary Tracy, Secretary Rusk and the republican members of congress, and his judgement in regard to the man in the White house was summed up in the statement, "I think President Harrison has displayed a singular faculty for arousing enemies."

Possibly Mr. Platt has not changed his opinion in four months. In his Cooper Union speech of Wednesday night, his only reference to the candidate was the statement that "Benjamin Harrison stands today as the representative of the grand old republican party." This is not enthusiasm, but it is the best that Mr. Harrison is likely to get from that quarter. But Mr. Platt, as he has said of himself, is not an orator, but a worker. And in working for President Harrison it may be taken for granted that he is also working for T. C. Platt.

WHO PAYS? WHO PROFITS?

Who pays the enormous campaign expenses of the Republican party?

The protected manufacturers and the other rich beneficiaries of a high tariff.

When John Wanamaker appealed to this class four years ago he put his demand squarely upon the ground of "an insurance" upon the bounties which they enjoyed.

They responded with $400,000 as a premium on the Republican party's insurance.

When James P. Foster, president of the Republican League, set out to raise a campaign fund in 1888, he sent to manufacturers, mine-owners, lumber lords and other tariff bounty sharers his famous circular, saying:

We want money and want it at once. The campaign upon which we are about to enter will concern more than anybody else the manufacturers of the country.

The manufacturers of Pennsylvania are more highly protected than anybody else, and make large fortunes every year when the times are good.

These and men like them elsewhere are the ones who supply the money with which the Quays, Dudleys and Martins buy elections.

Do they pay this money in order that they may increase wages? Do they yield their "fat" to the friers for the privilege of selling their products cheaper?

What do sensible voters think?

The Oregon Press Association held a very successful meeting at the Dalles last week. There were about fifty newspaper men in attendance, representing every portion of the state. Several interesting papers were read and discussed. The citizens of the Dalles are energetic and wide awake and no effort on their part was lacking to impress upon their visitors the importance of the Columbia river improvements. A work that was originally to cost less than a million dollars and to be completed in five years, has been the scene of the most outrageous mismanagement for twenty years and has cost the government ten times the amount of the first estimate.

Great Relief

IS instantly afforded sufferers from Bronchitis, by the use of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. Either as an anodyne, to allay inflammation, or an expectorant, to loosen and bring away the mucus, this preparation has no equal.

"Last winter I contracted a severe cold, which, by repeated exposure, became quite obstinate. I was much troubled with hoarseness and bronchial irritation. After trying various medicines, without relief, I at last purchased a bottle of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. On taking this medicine, my cough ceased almost immediately, and I have been well ever since."—Rev. Thomas B. Russell, Secretary Holston Conference and P. E. of the Greenville Dist. M. E.
