Lake County Examiner

THURSDAY.....AUGUST 29, 1889.

The members of the sectional irrigation committee were in Nevada last week.

The president on his way to his Indianapolis home last week, met with splendid receptions all along the route.

No less than three different railroad collisions in the east the past week, have killed nine persons and injured nearly a hundred.

Wm. T. Higgins, a republican politician, died at San Francisco, last week. But few more will mourn his departure than they did Terry's timely taking off.

Yuba Maid, the little California racer, has been sold to Montana parties. At Butte, Friday, in a $1,000 race, she passed the second heat in 2:122. There is nothing the matter with the Californian youngster.

Levi Nye, a forty-niner and an old pioneer of California, died at Chico last week, aged 74 years. He came from Massachusetts direct across the plains, bringing with him a frame house, which he erected in Sacramento. It was the first house built there. He afterward sold it to C. P. Huntington. Nye was a wagonmaker by trade, and at one time was a very wealthy man, but lost all he had. He leaves a widow.

Axtell, the phenomenal three-year old, trotted to beat his own record, and did so, making a mile in 2:14, at Chicago, Friday. Axtell's mile clips three quarter of a second from his former record of 2:14¾, notwithstanding the fact that even that was better than the best previous performance by a three or four year old. It was also within three-quarters of a second of Patrole's 2:13¾ which stands as the best record for a stallion of any age.

A party excavating for Confederate ordnance, which were buried by General Sibley's famous army of Texans in 1862, have found some of them. They were almost covered about ten feet from the spot indicated in Old Town, New Mexico, by Major T. T. Teel, commander of artillery under General Sibley. They were manufactured by Charles Ames & Co., of Boston, and are brass 12-pound howitzers, cast in 1847. They were found three and four feet underground. They are all smooth bore, and are in fair condition. They have been underground for twenty seven years.

A Test Oath Decision.

Judge Levy decided at San Francisco Friday, that Caroline Jackson, daughter of Anthony Waddy, deceased, is entitled to $12,000 left by him. Waddy was a slave, and the daughter, who is now over 60 years old, was born before he was freed. Her right to Waddy's estate was contested by Lavinia Phillips, sister of Waddy, who claimed that, being a slave, Waddy could not marry, and that his offspring was therefore illegitimate.

Judge Levy, in deciding for Caroline, said: "If at the time of emancipation, Waddy and Rachael had lived together in slave marriage, there is no question that the marriage would have been as valid and binding as if originally contracted by white persons. And if emancipation worked such effect on the status of parents, there is no good reason for holding that it operated differently on the offspring, even if the civil rights of the parents were dormant during slavery, but attached on emancipation, the dormant rights of the child to be a human being instead of a chattel—to have a father and mother instead of a master—all these rights which are inherent to freeborn persons quickened and attached to it as it it had been born without the infirmities of slavery. And this result, most fellow even if the parents refused or continue their marital relations after emancipation. They might, if they pleased, waive the advantages of that great charter, but only for themselves, not for their offspring. They might refuse the quickening draught of freedom as it offered them, but their refusal would not bar their child from obtaining the benefits which it bestowed on the colored race."

Why is This Family?

We have been asked to publish the down ordinance granting the Water Co., a perpetual right to use the streets of Lakeview, for laying mains, etc. As the council has not seen fit to furnish it for publication, and seemingly do not care to have such action come before the public, we will be obliged to ask the people to guess at what the provisions of such acts of the council are.

We have also been asked to give the salaries, fees, etc., of the town officers, but no ordinance has been passed that we have heard of, prescribing salaries, although Sec. 36 of the town charter reads as follows: "The other officers of the municipal corporation, or those who may be appointed in pursuance of this Act, shall receive such percentage or compensation as shall be prescribed by ordinance."

The italics are ours, and are given to emphasize that portion of the charter which occurs to us as the manner in which to prescribe salaries, fees, etc. We may be wrong in urging that note of public officers (elected by the people to represent them) should be made public. Public acts of public officials should be known to the entire public, not to a few. By all means should the expenditure of the public money in salaries, improvements, etc., be known to the people who furnish the money.

While the franchise to the Water Co., may not be valuable at the present, in time to come, it is possible and very probable to be worth much. And while we have heard but few object to the granting of the franchise, there are many property owners who would like to know the conditions and considerations under which such franchise was granted.

It is a disagreeable task for the EXAMINER to criticise acts of public officials, and a task that we would avoid if it consistent with a public journal—the mouth piece of the people. But when certain things are brought before us time and again, we feel it our duty to call attention to facts which we believe to exist.

We believe the council has done much for the town, and it has been a thankless job at times, while at the same time there are many who feel grateful, and all will give us the credit of doing it.

LATE TELEGRAPHIC BRIEFS.

Max Strakosch is at the point of death.

New York had $6,000 arrests last year.

The Queen of Siam wears one and one half inch boots.

Florida is sending large quantities of pineapples to market.

Jay Gould has postponed his European trip until next October.

The scaffold on which John Brown was hung at Charlestown, W. Va., in 1859, has been sold to James B. Colt of Washington, D. C.

It is estimated that the Paris exposition this year has caused nearly $140,000,000 of American money to be dropped in Europe.

The New York republicans intend to have a short and hot campaign, as their state ticket will not be nominated till September 25th.

A society lady of Topeka, Kan., issued invitations to a "breakfast," and tries to frighten of her guests put in an appearance before she was up.

While a party of children were out berry picking near Annapolis, N. S., last week a bear made his appearance and killed and ate one little boy.

William Prince of Wichita, Kan., circulated ugly stories about three young ladies, daughters of wealthy citizens, and the three horses whipped him.

A Pittsburg physician has discovered that whiskey, the real old stuff, will produce the same effect as the Brown-Sequard elixir, if injected properly.

At Lexington, Ky., a lawsuit that was begun in 1811 has just been settled. It involved a land claim, and the sum in dispute was originally about $5,000.

Albert Dagg-it of New York gets the contract for furnishing postal cards for four years. The new cards, it is said, will be of better quality than those now in use.

They have prohibition in Kansas, but that did not prevent the mayor of Medicine Lodge, in that state, from being fined $2.50 for being drunk on the streets in his own town.

The hop crop of Oregon and Washington will be only about two-thirds, but of good quality. Most of the picking will be done by whites and Indians; but few Chinese will be employed.

A Mormon county, Ohio, man drove to town the other day for the first time since last fall and heard that Harrison had been elected president. He doesn't take a paper, and it was news to him.

A gooseberry bush, growing out of the side of a maple tree, twenty-two feet from the ground, was a big sight in Johnsbury, Vt., when a tree was felled in the court house yard the other day.

Chauncey Depew thinks the Paris exposition has saved the French republic, by producing a wonderful revival in the industries and allaying discontent by providing employment for the many idle.

President Harrison has his doubts as to Boston, also is a worthy gentleman who would not find it difficult to pass almost anywhere for the president. The room balance in figure and face is very striking.

Horses in Daviess county, Ind., are falling falling victims to ticks, insects which eat through the hide and then suck the blood. Cows have also been attacked, but none had died up to last accounts.

O. O. Hefner of Nebraska City, Neb., recently made one of the largest importations of English draft horses ever brought to America. He left England with ninety head of horses, but lost seven on the route.

The board of marine underwriters at Philadelphia has awarded seven tugs $17,500 salvage for saving the English steamship Thorlise, which caught fire while hoisting petroleum at the Point Breeze refineries.

A Buffalo rag dealer got a firm to sign a contract to pay 1 cent for the first bale and each thereafter to be double the preceding one. The firm got no wild over the first day's bill, $10,492.75, that Mr. Sklarsky will test the contract in court.

The Wisconsin Central and Northern Pacific traffic agreement knocks the Sault Ste. Marie in the shape of a through car service from Chicago to Tacoma, W. T., and Portland, opening the first unbroken communication from Lake Michigan to across the continent to the Pacific northwest.

Robert Marvel, after fasting for sixty-seven days, died August 20th. His case is so extraordinary that it has attracted the attention, not only of a curious public, but of the medical fraternity far and near. He was 85 years old. On June 13th Marvel ate his last square meal. For thirty-six days he took absolutely nothing into his stomach. On the thirty-eighth he bit off a piece of pie, but did not eat it. On the thirty-ninth day he drank a small quantity of milk, and at irregular periods he has continued to do so. All told, he has drank not too exceed one gallon of milk in the sixty-seven days that have elapsed since he began his fast. The effect of this abstinence is such as would be expected. The last fasting reduced himself to a living shadow. Soon came upon him by reason of his long confinement and evidently Marvel has not only suffered long, but severely. This big fast is the longest on record, so far as known.

NEIGHBORING NOTES.

Valley Record.

The 12th annual reunion of the Pioneer society of southern Oregon will be held at Ashland on Thursday, Sept. 12th, and an interesting time is expected. Geo. W. Dunn delivers the oration.

It is reported that John Fairchild, of Butte Creek, Cal., took a neighbor's hand of 1,000 cattle to feed this winter for half of them. The neighbor had no feed, and expects a hard winter.

Ben Barney has been heard from. He is in Warner valley, and writes that he has taken up a hay ranch in that valley and will cut 250 or 300 tons of hay this season.

From a person who claims to have counted them, we are informed last eight days of rain fell in Altaras, on Sunday night. No material damage done, however, and we can't say that any great good resulted therefrom.

Excelsior Gazette.

Uncle George Belshaw, who has taken the first prize on wheat at the state fair, as well as at the centennial and other exhibitions, is now engaged in preparing an exhibit of grains for the forthcoming state fair. This will be the largest and best exhibit ever made by him. It will contain over 500 varieties of wheat, both in the sheaf and in jars and will weigh about 1,500 lbs. The grain was sown and cultivated by himself on his old farm, now owned by E. C. Smith, four miles west of Eugene. Mr. Belshaw has repeatedly taken first premiums at different world's fairs, therefore it is acknowledged by all that he can and does raise the best wheat in the world. The board of directors of the state fair, give him extra inducements this year to make the exhibit. He says that he thinks this will be his last exhibit, however, he is not certain. Mr. Belshaw has done a great work for Lane county, in advertising its ability to raise the best and finest grain in the whole world, and it is to be hoped he will continue the cultivation of his fine seed wheats.

Ashland Tidings.

Official reports show that a little over $34 000 in cash was received by the school committees of Spokane Falls, of which only $6,253 has been used.

By the last apportionment of school funds, made this week, Ashland district receives $1.45A, or $2 per capita on 742 children of school age. This is more than Medford and Jacksonville districts combined receive, and almost one-fifth of the money apportioned to the whole county.

Sanford an David Mesch, formerly of Ashland, passed through Ashland, from Oroville, Cal., where they have been at work for some time, Tuesday evening, for Seattle or some other booming W. T. town, to work at their trade. Their father, J. S. P. Marsh, now lives in southern California.

The big cannon that has been at Fort Klamath post for many years, the sound of which at the firing and hoisting of each day's sun, has been as a signal of safety on that country since the bloodthirsty Modoc made their final stand—that, too, has followed the gay Capt. Carpenter and "K" company to Vancouver, and was brought into Ashland last week, by two strong horses, for shipment.

It Won't Stand the Test.

In other words, Hood's Sarsaparilla will not do impossibilities. Its proprietors, will plainly state it does claim, without proofs from sources of unquestioned veracity, that it will do, and you frankly if you are suffering from any disease or affection caused or promoted by impure blood or low state of the system, to try Hood's Sarsaparilla. The experience of others is sufficient assurance that you will not be disappointed in the result.
