SMALLGONCESSION WILL END STRIKE

Only One Point of Difference Exists Between Exporters and Grainhandlers.

PEACE MAY COME TODAY

Strikers Hold Out for Weighers and Samplers Joining the Union, but Will Submit Compromise Proposition.

STRIKERS OPPOSED TO VIOLENCE

A resolution was passed yesterday by the grainfiandlers', and longshoremen's unions to prosecute any mem-ber of either union who is guilty of emproyed assault upon strike-break-ers. Attorney Russell E. Sewall was employed as special counsel to seeist in the prosecution of any such person and it is the avowed intention of the unions to make examples of any members resorting to violence and to send such persons to the penitentiary. The recent fights on the water front have had a bad effect on the grain-handlers' cause, the union men feel, and they are determined to put a stop to it. They deny that their men are causing the disturbance, but in the event one is found engaged in violence, they promise to cause his

A final effort will be made today to bring about a settlement of the grain handlers' strike. A compromise propoministra strike. A compromise proposition was drawn up last night by Attorney Sewall, for the grainhandlers, which will be presented to the exporters this morning. This proposition will now give up the contention for the full recognition of the union, but it will attempt to lay aside some minor differences that it is believed will pave the way for an ending of hostilities.

the way for an ending of hostlities.

There is but a small breach between the grainhandlers and the exporters, the principal point of difference being the unionizing of samplers and weights. Each side knows that while the exporters have had no dealings with these men as union men, they have been members prior to the present strike. The exporters recognize that they do join the union, but are loth to give their permission in black and white that they shall be recognized as union men.

The grainbandlers regard this difference as a trifling one, and think the exporters should waive this point, since in practice many weighers and samplers join the mulon, anyway.

Attorney Sewall framed up a proposition last night so that this demand would not be so giaring as to startle the exporters, but which would contain the provision just the same. It was dealed that there is any intent on the part of the union to give up the fight for the weighers and samplers in order to bring peace. The proposition furbring peace. The proposition fur-er calls for the ro-instalement of the old mon.

"We shall do everything we can to bring about a settlement of the strike," said Attorney Sewall inst night. "Although we have gone about us far as we can well so in overtires for peace, we will submit another proposal in the morning, which, it is to be hoped, will be accented."

Wilcox and Sewall Confer.

Attorney Sewall hold a conference with T. B. Wilcox yesterday, and the latter urged the attorney to prepare his final proposition and hand it in, promising to do his best to get favorable consideration for it from the other exporters. There were no further able consideration for it from the other exporters. There were no further meetings between Mr. Sewall and the shippers yesterday.

A conference was held, however, between the grainhandiers' committee and representatives of each of the six unions in the Water Front Federation, to see just how far the strikers can depend upon their fellow-workmen in case negotiations fail in bringing about a penceable settlement of the strike. Each of the unions is said to have given every assurance that they would stand put in a general strike if the exporters and grainhandlers cannot come to terms.

The grainhandlers felt encouraged

The grainhandlers felt encouraged over this assurance of support, and state they are prepared to fight the matter out if it takes all Winter. They say they are satisfied that with the support of the other unions behind them, they will win in the end.

Strike May End Today.

It is thought that chances are good It is thought that chances are good for an understanding today between the two warring factions. The negotiations have reached a favorable basis, where there are but minor concessions on both sides will result in the exporters signing a new contract with the grainhandiers.

That Longshoremen's Union No. 265 is doing everything in its power to prevent violence toward strike-breakers is the statement of the secretary.

ers is the statement of the secretary, P. D. Hall. Mr. Hall said: "In The Oregonian of the list inst. I noticed a statement to the effect that Colman, an ex-policeman, headed a T. Colman, an ex-policeman, headed a gang of men in an allack on strike-breakers at the Stark-street dock. This is absolutely false. On the contrary, he was one of a committee of three appointed by me for the purpose of patrolling the water front to inform the police in case of any disturbance that might be directed to the long-shoremen, as we are ondeavoring to assist the police in maintaining good order while on this strike. order while on this strike.

"The executive board of this organ-ization has given strict orders to all members who are on picket duty to conduct themselves in an orderly manner. We have rules providing for a very severe penalty in cases of this

"For the exoneration of Mr. Colman, we will refer anyone to the police records, which will show that the committee, of which Mr. Colman was a member, turned over to the police a man carrying a concealed weapon on the evening the ex-patrolman was so ijustly accused of being a leader of a riot at Stark street."
