Who Pays for the Advertising?

Wouldn't you prefer, if you had a clothing store, to sell a hundred suits of clothes in a day, making an average profit of $2.00 per suit, to selling ten suits in a day, with an average profit of $5.00 per suit?

Suppose that, to sell a hundred suits a day you should spend, say, $20.00 per day in advertising.

Who would be "taxed" for the advertising? Your patrons? Scarcely—when they pay you $3.00 less than they would have to pay for the identical suits to the merchant who does NOT advertise.

You? Scarcely—when you make a great deal more money than you would if you "saved" your advertising appropriation.

Your non-advertising competitor—in the penalty he pays for not doing so large a volume of business as he COULD by advertising, and taking a smaller per-sale profit?

That's it—precisely.

Champion Steer

There are champions and champions, each it the head of his class, but the prize steer that sold at $250 in the Portland stock yards last week was a head-liner that took all the blue ribbons. The animal weighed 1730 pounds and the price paid was at the rate of 14½ cents a pound. The steer was from Gazelle, Cal.

W. H. Mason has been awarded the contract for digging the Lost River drainage canal in the Klamath Reclamation Project. The contract price is $63,600, and the work must commence not later than January 18. When completed it is expected that Tule Lake will become a thing of the past and that many thousands of acres of rich land will be restored to the public domain.

Word has been received from Tim Taylor, who left here last Fall, to the effect that he was now located at Lisdangon, Newmarket, Ireland. Tim reports that he is doing fine there and expects to remain for some time. Before leaving he placed a year's subscription for the Examiner and finds that it keeps him well in touch with all the important happenings here abouts.

Appropriation for $50,000 for the coming two-year period, to establish the office of State Forester and to provide him with the means of enforcing laws to prevent forest fires, was recommended by the Oregon Conservation Association. This sum is believed necessary to put the state on an effective working basis in forest protection and conservation. Details of the work to be done by the forester urged are as outlined in the recommendation of the Oregon Conservation Commission in its annual report. The members of the association will make a special effort to have this law enacted, co-operating in the plan with the Commission, the Oregon Forest Fire Association and all other bodies that have taken advanced position for prevention of forest waste.

Raises the dough and complies with all pure food laws.
