The Herald's Farm Page

Edited by Tim. Hay

HOW TO KILL THE TIME

An all-absorbing subject of discussion now among the farmers is the best means of putting in the time during the winter months. Some of our farmers have solved the question, but many others are at loss for the answer. Here are a few suggestions:

Get a place on the jury. This will prove an entertaining, as well as a profitable pastime.

Start a lawsuit against your neighbor. This should keep you busy until harvest time, at least.

Get your name on the congressional mailing list. You'll find your entire time taken up in going to and from the postoffice.

Of course, getting things in shape on the farm is a useful winter occupation.

The Waggles Test

In order to determine whether or not a cow is healthy, look her squarely in the eye. If she has a happy expression on her countenance you will be safe in saying that there is nothing the matter with her. The cow in the accompanying picture is perfectly healthy. This is apparent by the pleasing smile she wears. Notice it.

Never plant potatoes in December. Always plant them in the ground.

Answers to Correspondents

Mr. Tim. Hay—Dear Sir: Is it proper, when I am asked to dance with a young man to say: "It would give me pleasure"?

Anxious—It is perfectly proper, Anxious, but it may not be truthful. It depends on the condition of your corns, and the young man.

Mr. Tim. Hay—Dear Sir: I have a cow that gives no milk, and she is so thin that I can't sell her for beef. What shall I do?—Worry.

Try giving her something to eat.

Mr. Tim. Hay—Dear Sir: Is there any substitute for milk in feeding young calves?—X. Y.

You might try feeding snow. Some calves are so foolish that they might be deceived by the similarity in color of milk and snow. But this experiment would be dangerous if tried on a calf that is color blind.

LOCAL TEAM IS DEBATE WINNER

ASHLAND ORATORS FAIL TO MAKE IMPRESSION ON THE JUDGES—LOCAL AGGREGATION IN LINE FOR HONORS

By a unanimous vote of the judges the Klamath County High School's debating team was chosen as winner of the debate with the Ashland High School at Ashland last night. Members of the local team are Forrest Piel, Miss Anna Hales and Edwin Cox.

The defeat of the Ashland team gives the local school a lead for the championship of the Southern Oregon district of the Oregon High School Debating League. Should they win in this district they will be eligible to debate for the state championship.

Earl Hill, who is attending a polytechnic school at Ashland, is home for a visit of a couple of weeks.

Local Roller Skater Challenged for Title

Clair Arnold, who for the past two years has held the roller skating championship of Southern Oregon, has been challenged for a mile race by Harry Fresher, the Grants Pass phenom. Arnold today accepted the challenge, and the race will be held at the pavilion Friday night, January 24th. The local skater will begin training Monday. During his residence in Klamath Falls, young Arnold has defeated all comers in every distance from one to five miles, and he has a strong following willing to wager the Grants Pass contender for the champion will finish second.

Fresher's performance throughout the Rogue River Valley has been such as to startle the natives, and the Grants Pass people are not alone in their belief that he will win. Every traveler from that section coming here tells of the speed of Fresher, and predict that he will skate away from Arnold.
