NO CHANGE IS MADE IN FORMER TAX PAYING RULE

SHERIFF ACCEPTS BUT 8.5 MILLS IN WARRANTS

As Soon as Official Notice of the Decision of Judge Benson in County Cases is Filed, Sheriff Low Will Accept County Warrants to the Amount of 11.6 Mills in Payment of Taxes

Because no official notification has been received by Sheriff Low, ex-officio tax collector, of the decision of Judge Benson in the Quigley case, in which the question of the amount of taxes which may be paid in warrants is disposed of, no change has yet been made in the rule permitting only 8.5 mills being paid in warrants.

Many people called at the sheriff's office today, believing that 11.6 mills could be paid in warrants, but their tenders were refused and only 8.5 mills was accepted.

It is probable that the sheriff will be officially notified of the action of the court by Monday, so that the full amount of the 11.6 mills will then be received by the sheriff in warrants.

Judge Benson's decision rendered yesterday in the county cases has been the general subject of discussion here today. The effect has been the increasing price of county warrants, and many profess to believe that the price will advance to 95 cents.

A month ago county warrants were offered at 80 cents, but when tax paying time arrived the price jumped to 85 cents.

C. T. Oliver, former secretary of the Klamath Chamber of Commerce, returned Thursday night from Oakland and San Francisco, where for the past week he has been giving attention to business matters.

Registration Will Open Tomorrow, 9 O'clock

Women Wishing to Vote at Special Charter Election Must Register at the City Hall Next Week

The first step to be taken by the women of Klamath Falls in exercising their right to the ballot is to register. Tomorrow morning the registration books will be opened at the office of Police Judge Leavitt over the former location of the First Trust and Savings bank.

In order to cast their votes at the coming charter election on March 10, it is necessary for every woman to register between tomorrow and 6 o'clock next Saturday evening. The male voters who were not registered at the last city election must also enter their names on the registration book if they expect to be allowed to vote.

On account of the number of women who hope to have the distinction of being the first woman in Klamath Falls to register for an election, a gathering similar to that at a bargain sale is expected when Police Judge Leavitt opens the registration books in the morning.

Much interest is being manifested in the coming election by the women of the city, and the proposed charter is the subject of much discussion between husband and wife in many homes, both working in harmony to make a thorough study of the instrument.

SHERIFF LOW GETS A RECORD

MAN CHARGED WITH ISSUING BOGUS CHECKS IS CAPTURED IN WEED AND WILL BE RETURNED HERE FOR TRIAL

Sheriff Low established a record this morning when he effected the capture of F. W. Burton within six minutes from the time he sent out word that the man was arrested.

Burton, it is charged, issued bogus checks, one for $35, which was cashed at the Gem saloon, and the other for $9.70, which was cashed at "The Smoke."

Sheriff Low received word of the crime soon after the banks opened, and proceeded at once to the telegraph office and sent a message to Weed. The telegraph operator there notified an officer at once, and six minutes later the news came over the wire that Burton had been arrested.

Sheriff Low will leave this evening for Weed to bring Burton back to this city.

Burton has been employed at the Algoma mill, but for a week or two has been loafing in this city.

First National to Be Designated Depository

Government Announces Head of an Institution Here to Receive Near $100,000.00 Every Year

A fiscal agent of the reclamation office will shortly establish an office in Klamath Falls for the collection of charges due from Water users located in the reclamation projects, amounting to about $100,000 annually.

This information has just been received here, and it is probable that the First National bank here will be designated by the government as a national depository.

Because of the red tape which surrounds the handling of government funds the treasury department has invited the local bank to apply for the designation, and it is probable that the directors of the bank will authorize its Cashier Rogers to take the necessary steps.

ALREADY THEY WANT OFFICES

EVEN THE REPORT THAT MAN MAY GET CABINET JOB CALLS FORTH MANY APPLICATIONS FROM THE JOBLESS

United Press Service

WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 28.—Representative A. Mitchell Palmer of Pennsylvania, picked by many politicians as the next secretary of the treasury, is a much embarrassed individual just at this moment. The general opinion going about that he is to be in Wilson's cabinet has caused the office seekers to get busy, and to date Palmer has received more than 500 letters from men and women desiring both "fat" and "lean" jobs in the treasury department.

Palmer will not discuss the possibility of going into the cabinet, and in answering the many inquiries for jobs he naturally has been forced to "turn down" all applications.

ROSALIE'S ARMY IS SORRY PARTY

BEDRAGGLED AND FOOTSORE, 10 OF THE PARTY LEAVING NEW YORK WALLOW THROUGH WIND AND RAIN

United Press Service

WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 28.—Bedraggled and footsore, "General" Rosalie Jones and her suffragette army reached the capital today. Of the number starting from New York, only ten remained in the ranks.

The marchers arrived in a downpour of rain, and as they marched up Pennsylvania avenue they were preceded by motion picture makers in automobiles. The hikers were jeered and jostled by the crowds.

At suffrage headquarters the marchers dispersed to rehabilitate themselves. The marchers received a severe jolt, when met by Alice Paul, chairman of the suffrage headquarters:

"With your present appearance, you are a disgrace to the suffrage cause," was her cheering word to "General" Jones. She endeavored to make the hikers go through Washington by back streets.

"I was afraid to look my friends in the face," said Heinz in explaining his rash act. "I would have committed suicide, but I lacked the nerve."

Advocates Bonding to Eliminate Repudiation

C. C. Hogue Declares that Even if Grounds for Latter Course Are Legal, County Would Suffer

Editor Herald:

The talk of repudiation of any part of the county warrants is unwise, in my opinion. This county cannot afford to repudiate any of the obligations outstanding, even if there are legal grounds for doing so. Its credit would be irreparably injured.

To even admit such a possibility can only work to the interest of those who may buy the warrants, and at a great discount, because of such talk, and who will in the end get their money in full.

If it can be done under the new bonding act, two measures should be submitted to the popular vote as soon as possible. One to issue bonds to cover the outstanding indebtedness and the other to cover the road work needed during the coming two years beyond what will be realized from the current levy of taxes.

It may be objected that the issue to pay the present indebtedness could not be sold until the whole question of the validity of the warrants has been fought out in the supreme court. The present holders of the warrants would, no doubt, take the bonds in lieu of the warrants, when the matter has been settled by the supreme court.

If the popular vote declared against the issue to cover the additional work this would not affect the question as to past issues, and this is one reason for separating the measures on the ballot. Another reason is that if the matter gets into the courts, as it may, the two questions could then be dealt with, each on its own merits.

No other way seems open to prevent the complete paralysis of the county business.

People generally, who pay the taxes, feel that all the expense of the building of new roads and repairs to old ones should not come upon them in two or three years, but should be distributed over a series of years, under the bonding system.

Anderson Matched With 'K-O' Brown for Bout on March 15

Vancouver Kid to Get a Crack at the "Higher-Ups". Winner of This Match Will Get on With Frankie Russell, New Orleans Boxer, Says M'Carey

Bud Anderson versus Knockout Brown wil be the next attraction at the Vernon arena, Promoter McCarey having closed the match. The lightweights will do battle at the Vernon arena March 15.

Brown made a splendid impression in his battle with Rivers last Saturday, and is so confident that he can yet make good before the Los Angeles fans that he was more than willing to meet Anderson. If he is successful against Anderson, Brown will probably be sent against Russell and possibly Joe Mandot, and then be given another chance against Rivers.

The little German is not discouraged because of his defeat at the hands of Rivers. "I was beaten all right," says Brown, "but I am sure the Los Angeles fans would like to see me fight again. They tell me Anderson is a tough boy, so if I defeat him I will have made up somewhat for the fast that I failed against the Mexican."

The articles for the Anderson-Brown bout call for the boys to do 133 ringside, and they will battle over the 20-round route. Anderson is at Doyle's ready to begin the training grind, and Brown will get busy at Venice about the first of the month.

In order to arrange the bout between Anderson and Brown, it was necessary to postpone the battle scheduled for March 8 between Anderson and Frankie Russell. Instead, Russell will meet the winner of the Anderson-Brown mix at Vernon on March 29th.

Worden Glad That an Investigation is Made

County Official Says This Will Tend to Discredit Ugly Rumors that Have Been Going Around

In a further letter to the people, County Judge Will S. Worden states that the investigation of the affairs of the county court by the grand jury is of great benefit to the county, on account of the thoroughness in which the investigation was conducted. He believes the expense of the investigation was money well spent.

"I have read with interest the second report of the grand jury, and wish to say publicly that I appreciate to the full the fact that they had the hardihood and good business judgment to make a complete and exhaustive investigation of the affairs of the county court," says the letter.

"It is unquestionably true that the reports made by them were really without their province in the law, their chief and important duty was to search for crime, and if they found it, to indict. Nevertheless, they did their duty as they saw it, and by so doing met conditions and brought about results that will, in proper time, be regarded as of great value to the people of this county.

"For over a year down [illegible] about the county court and its [illegible] have been scattered broadcast over the county. They were of a [illegible] nature, and, of course, [illegible] comment. The more they [illegible] repeated the bigger they got, [illegible] result much damage had been done the county itself, as well as to [illegible] hamper the necessary business of the court.

"Therefore, I say that the grand jury showed courage [illegible] going to the bottom of [illegible] and proving to the people of the county, as to one thing, [illegible] 'We can find no proof of [illegible] said.' This should [illegible] confidence [illegible] much [illegible] of the many [illegible] charged against [illegible]
