SAGE TEA KEEPS YOUR HAIR DARK

WHEN MIXED WITH SULPHUR IT BRINGS BACK ITS BEAUTIFUL LUSTRE AT ONCE

Your hair, however handsome, does not command respect. We all know the advantages of a youthful appearance. Darkness lends charm. It makes or mars one's beauty. When it fades, turns gray or becomes streaked, just a few applications of this old-time recipe restores a hundred-fold. Don't stay gray! Look 10 years younger! Mixture cost the people at least $1 a bottle when any druggist sells a 50-cent bottle of Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound, which is merely the old-time recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients. Thousands of women recommend the ready-to-use preparation, because it darkens the hair beautifully, naturally, so one can possibly tell it is darkened. It darkens so naturally and evenly that the most intimate friend never suspects you. You moisten a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through the hair, one small strand at a time. In a few hours not only does the gray hair disappear; but after another application or two, its natural color is restored, and it becomes dark, glossy and lustrous, and stays so. Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound is a delightful toilet requisite. It is recommended for the cure, mitigation and prevention of dandruff.—Adv.

MORE ATTENTION FROM RAILROADS

THAT high railroad officials are paying more attention to better service and the development of travel is evidenced by the present visit of Vice President E. O. McCormick and General Passenger Agent John M. Scott of the Southern Pacific.

In addition to giving Klamath Falls an extra train and Pullman service, these gentlemen are making a thorough tour of Oregon and California, and gathering accurate data of the attractions of the many points of interest of this section. They are seeing for themselves, rather than take the word of someone else. All of this information so gained will be used in bringing people into this territory, either as tourists or as settlers.

They are not devoting their entire attention to the scenic and other attractions for tourists, but are carefully studying all of the agricultural, manufacturing and other conditions of the country.

There may be greater significance in this trip of Southern Pacific officials than is admitted. It is known that the past five years has seen less railroad building than any equal period in the past half century. Indications are that extensive railroad construction will resume after the next election, and it is very probable that the data being secured will be used in the determination of new lines to be started within the next year or so.

WORDS OF WISDOM

SPEAKING words of sober wisdom, the New York Evening Post says: "Whom will he elected or defeated according as the drift has, on the whole, been towards him or away from him, not among the progressives of 1912, or any other special element, but among the people of the United States as a whole."

In determining this there can be but one opinion. In 1913 Mr. Wilson had the good wishes of all. Today he has alienated many of his party friends by one means or another, and he has driven from him both of the other support which was then given to him in the hope that his words would fructify into deeds beneficent to the country. The drift, on the whole, as the Evening Post puts it, has been away from him, and the current is setting stronger in that direction every day.

MANY HUNTERS GET THE LIMIT

GOOD LUCK HUNTING SAGE HENS REPORTED BY SEVERAL PARTIES OF LOCAL HUNTERS WHICH WERE OUT.

Bags ranging from the limit to almost the limit were brought in last night by numerous hunters who spent the day hunting sage hens in various parts of the county.

Dr. Fred Westerfield and C. H. Hunter killed the limit, 25 birds, in the Dry Prairie country.

Garrett Van Riper, Bennett Hazlenbrook, Harry Wertley and Ben Mitchell got 17 fine hens in Langell Valley.

A. M. Worden, Guy Walters and other parties report equally good luck. There are a few hens in many districts, it is reported, but at no place are they plentiful.

Figures compiled by the forest service show that the furniture manufacturers of Oregon use annually nearly 7,000,000 feet of lumber, more than half of which is Douglas fir.

According to the Coos Bay Times, nearly three miles of track will be built by the Buehner Lumber company on North Coos River to tap timber holdings in that section.

A large crew is at work on the electrification of the west side lines of the Southern Pacific into Corvallis.

Discovery of zinc in the Black Eagle mine near Albany is announced.

Another Great Johnson?

You may try, but you cannot convince Walter Johnson, the great speed artist of the Washington American League club, that his 3-year-old son is not to become a great pitcher in about twenty years. The boy already knows how to hold a league ball, and his smile shows he likes it.

Forest Service Wood Waste Exchange Used

Herald Special Service

PORTLAND, July 17.—Extensive use by lumbermen and wood-working factories of the wood waste exchange conducted by the forest service is reported by officials who have just completed a short field study to determine the extent to which the opportunities offered are being taken advantage of. Only a small per cent of the total number of concerns listed were visited, but a comparatively large number were found to have benefited by the exchange.

Makers of wooden novelties, it is said, have been particularly successful in finding supplies of material near their plants. Other wood working industries have been able to dispose of their waste at higher prices than they could otherwise have obtained. Many of the firms were located within a short distance of each other, but until recently have had no way of getting together.

The wood waste exchange was established by the forest service in 1914. It consists of two lists of manufacturers, which are sent out quarterly to persons desiring them. One of these is of "Opportunities to Sell Waste," and contains the names of firms which use sawdust and small pieces of wood. This list is sent to plants having waste for sale. The other is of "Opportunities to Buy Waste," and gives the names of concerns which have waste to dispose of. This list is sent to firms who wish to buy material.

There is no charge for the service, and any manufacturer who wishes to have his name added to either list can do so by writing to the forest service, Washington, D. C.
