I. W. W. Methods Are Laid Bare In Constitution

Dastardly Aims of the Industrial Workers are Uncovered

Revolutionary Propaganda is Disclosed in Literature Secured in Yesterday's Raid On Headquarters. "No Peace As Long As Wage System Lasts." "Sabotage Used to Force Employers"

The audacious and inhuman policies of the I. W. W. organization are published herewith, in order that the public may know just what may be expected of such an aggregation.

These tactics and methods are taken from page fifteen of the "I. W. W., its History, Structure and Methods," written by Vincent St. Hall and published by the I. W. W. Publishing Company at Chicago.

The word "sabotage" referred to means plant wrecking and deeds of violence such as are now being perpetrated throut the country.

As a revolutionary organization the Industrial Workers of the World aims to use any and all tactics that will get the results sought with the least expenditure of time and energy. The tactics used are determined solely by the power of the organization to make good in their use. The question of "right" and "wrong" does not concern us.

No terms made with an employer are final. All peace so long as the wage system lasts, is but an armed truce. At any favorable oportunity the struggle for more control of industry is renewed.

As the organization gains control in the industries, and the knowledge among the workers of their power, when properly applied within the industries, becomes more general, the long drawn out strike will become a relic of the past. A long drawn out strike implies to insufficient organization, or that the strike has occurred at a time when the employer can best afford a shut down—or both. Under all ordinary circumstances a strike that is not won in four to six weeks cannot be won by remaining out longer. In trustified industries the employer can better afford to fight one strike that lasts six months than he can six strikes that take place in that period.

No part of the organization is allowed to enter into time contracts with the employers. Where strikes are used, it aims to paralyze all branches of the industry involved, when the employers can least afford a cessation of work—during the busy season and when there are rush orders to be filled.

The Industrial Workers of the World maintain that nothing will be conceded by the employers except that which we have the power to take and hold by the strength of our organization. Therefore we seek no agreements with employers.

Failing to force concessions from the employers by the strike, work is resumed and "sabotage" is used to force the employers to concede the demands of the workers.

The great progress made in machine production results in an ever-increasing army of unemployed. To counteract this the Industrial Workers of the World aim to establish the shorter work day, and to slow up the working pace, thus compelling the employment of more and more workers.

To facilitate the work of organization, large initiation fees and dues are prohibited by the I. W. W. (Some of the craft unions charge from $25 to $250. Once the Green Bottle Blowers' Union, charges $1,000.)

During strikes the works are closely picketed, and every effort made to keep the employers from getting workers into the shops. All supplies are cut off from the strike bound shops. All shipments are refused or misseent, delayed and lost if possible. Strike breakers are also isolated to the full extent of the power of the organization. Interference by the government is resented by open violation of the government's orders, going to jail en masse, causing expense to the taxpayers—which is but another name for the employing class.

In short, the I. W. W. advocates the use of militant "direct action" tactics to the full extent of our power to make good.

Whale Meat Better Than Beef, Says Prof. Evermann

SACRAMENTO, July 16.—The chief difference between whale meat and beef steak is that whale meat is better, acording to Barton W. Evermann, chairman of the committee on zoological investigation at the University of California. This opinion was expressed to Dean Thomas F. Hunt, of the University Agriultural College, in response to a request from the San Francisco Chamber of Commerce for information on the subject. The State Council of Defense is in receipt of Evermann's reply.

The whale is not a fish, but a mammal, like sheep, cattle and hogs, according to the university investigator, and there is no fishy taste whatsoever to whale meat, which resembles beef in appearance, but is a darker red.

There is no bone, grisle or fat in the meat, and it can be sold at 10 cents a pound and still net the whaling company a profit. Much whale meat is now used for chicken feed and fertilizer, but its use as a human food is apt to become more general, Evermann believes. One trial, he says, is all that is needed to convince the average person it is as good as beefsteak, or better.

HORRIBLE WORK DONE BY PEDDLERS

DREAD DISEASE OF LEPROSY IS SPREAD BY GERMAN PEDDLERS IN SOUTH—PUBLIC IS WARNED OF THE DANGER

STOCKTON, July 16.—Awarning to people of San Joaquin County, given out by District Attorney Edward C. Foltz, as chairman of the San Joaquin County Council of Defense, sheds light upon one of the most despicable, horrible and terrifying facts that could be perpetrated by a human being.

Under no circumstances should men or women purchase medical supplies from peddlers. Warning is given against a man who is peddling court plaster innoculated with the dread leprosy. That an effort to spread the disease and death in horrible form thruout this country will be made by fanatic enemies is not an improbability.

The district attorney has received a circular containing an article from the Hendricks Pioneer, a newspaper published in Hendricks, Lincoln County, Minn.

The article avers that a peddler was arrested for selling court plaster innoculated with leprosy, and that the United States marshal had a hard time to prevent a lynching.

TAKE SALTS FOR THE KIDNEYS IF YOUR BACK HURTS

We Should Drink Lots of Water and Eat Less Meat, Says Noted Authority on Kidney Disorders

Recommends a Spoonful of Jad Salts In Glass of Water Before Breakfast to Stimulate Kidneys and Eliminate the Uric Acid

Uric acid in meat excites the kidneys, they become overworked, get sluggish, ache, and feel like lumps of lead. The urine becomes cloudy, the bladder is irritated, and you may be obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night. When the kidneys clog you must help them flush off the body's urinous waste or you'll be a real sick person shortly. At first you feel a dull misery in the kidney region, you suffer from backache, sick headache, dizziness, stomach gets sour, tongue coated and you feel rheumatic twinges when the weather is bad.

Eat less meat, drink lots of water; also get from any pharmacist four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean clogged kidneys and stimulate them to normal activity, also to neutralize the acids in urine, so it no longer is a source of irritation, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, cannot injure, makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everyone should take now and then to keep the kidneys clean and active. Druggists here say they sell lots of Jad Salts to folks who believe in overcoming kidney trouble while it is only trouble.
