Romances, Engagements Are Result Of College Cruise; Trip Is Declared Success

NEW YORK, May 7.—(AP)— Numerous romances and engagements developed among the five hundred students aboard the Holland-American liner Ryndam, first American coeducational floating University, while the ship was on its seven months tour of the world, the New York Sun today quotes Mrs. P. M. Fogg, dean of the women students, as saying:

"Of course many of our students became engaged on the voyage," said Mrs. Fogg. "It was only a perfectly natural outgrowth of propinquity and attachments formed during the long voyage.

"None of them have announced their engagements formally but we know several of them to be engaged. But aside from that—or better, including that—I can state quite positively that the coeducational aspect of the cruise was a success in every way.

"We made no attempt at strict discipline. The student body was composed of 440 boys and sixty girls from every state in the union. The girls had cabins on one side of the vessel and the boys on the other. Each student was assigned to the same cabin throughout the trip. As soon as the girls came on board they were given the privilege of choosing their own chaperone."

The Ryndam docked at Hoboken yesterday while hundreds of parents from every part of the country welcomed the returning sea-going frosh, sophomores, juniors and seniors.

Sponsors of the cruise are planning a second tour of the world to begin in September which, however, will not be coeducational.

Dr. James Lough, dean of the floating university, explaining the departure from the coeducational feature, said girls provide something of a distraction on a long cruise of this kind and that finding proper accomodations for the girl students on field excursions was rather difficult.

Rotary Greets New President

Klamath Rotarians Friday at their weekly luncheon turned the occasion into a love feast in honor of John C. Boyle, the newly elected president for the coming year. Mr. Boyle, together with a number of other Rotarians had been absent from the city for several days while attending the Rotary district meeting in Tacoma. During his absence the result of the election was announced and today was the first time he was present in person to receive the congratulations and well wishes of the organization.

Colonel Ferguson talked on the proposed national guard unit for this city.

and Passenger Agent Graham is to the effect that it is hoped that Klamath Falls people will meet the special train from its sister city, and will provide automobiles to carry visitors through farm districts and along upper Klamath lake.

Second Caravan

The present proposed trip is an outgrowth of the last Eugene visitation, last November, when 1500 Lane county folk descended upon Klamath. So many Eugene folk have urged the S. P. to conduct a second special train to Klamath that it was decided to arrange the special for a week from tomorrow.

According to local chamber of commerce officials no plans have matured for the entertainment of the visitors, but assurance was given that Klamath would not be remiss. There were not sufficient cars the last trip for the Lane county visitors.

At The Pine Tree

"The Third Degree," the Warner Bros. production, starring Dolores Costello, which opens Sunday at the Pine Tree theatre, is as gripping a police melodrama as its name suggests.

"The Third Degree!" Words that carry a connotation of horror and miserable injustice; nagging, bullying, brow-beating, torture, forced confession; the modern version of Inquisitions.

Happily, the "third degree" in this country has, to a large extent, given way to more scientific less painful, and infinitely more accurate methods in police departments. Bewildered prisoners no longer writhe on a stool of agony, a blinding light flooding their weary eyes, with harsh voices in the darkness beyond threatening, cajoling, insisting, demanding, questioning them until their senses reel and the earth seems to be staggering crazily through trackless space. They are no longer slapped awake or roughly shaken by manicured paws out of the darkness, tempted with food, with drink, tempted with promises of freedom and leniency and rest to confess a terrible crime of which they are guiltless.

At The Liberty

The Liberty theater will open its doors today for men only while the sensational film drama "Are You Fit To Marry?" will be shown. This thrilling spectacular production offers the most unusual entertainment ever attempted, the story centers around the most delicate issues of life, tells the whole unfurnished truth, leaving nothing to the imagination. The stirring talk by the well known James Lawrence Brooke, S. S., noted writer and lecturer is something that every man will remember and his startling exhibit of actual cases which he presents at each appearance is positively the most sensational adventure ever offered to the public. The men of this community should certainly avail themselves of this opportunity to secure definite knowledge of these "forbidden subjects," and they can rest assured that plenty of thrills and sensations awaits them.
