SALLIES

One finds speed in many things. This old earth moves pretty fast and sometimes those on it do well themselves in this regard. However, speed doesn't always mean certainty.

Classified ads very often are both fast and certain. Here is an example. Mrs. R. Kaler, 1745 Menlo Way ran this ad:

For rent—4-room furnished apartment and garage, hot and cold water furnished, close in. 1745 Menlo Way.

It appeared Tuesday morning in the News and Mrs. Kaler rented her apartment before noon the same day.

That is SPEED and RESULTS.

K. U. H. S. MAY SEEK HONORS IN DEBATE

UNIVERSITY OF OREGON, Eugene, Jan. 20.—Klamath Falls high school will have an opportunity to try for the state high school debating championship this year, according to an announcement made here by Percy M. Collier, professor of English, and secretary of the Oregon high school debating league.

Oregon has been divided into eleven districts, and the champions in each one will debate each other until there are but two teams left, one in Western and one in Eastern Oregon. These teams will meet fo rthe final debate at the University of Oregon sometime in May. The question for all the debates will be, "Resolved, That the several states should enact legislation providing for compulsory unemployment insurance."

The two winners in Western and Eastern Oregon will receive the Burt Brown Barker cups given each year by the vice president of the university, and held at present by Prineville and Medford high schools. Medford is the present champion and possessor of the "Oregon" cup, given annually by Professor and Mrs. E. E. DeCou of the university.

Klamath Falls is in the south-central district, composed of Klamath and Lake counties, and Paul T. Jackson of Klamath Falls is director.

Pine Tree—Now playing, "I Like Your Nerve," with Douglas Fairbanks, Jr.

Rainbow—Now playing, "The Miracle Woman," with Barbara Stanwyck.

Vox—Now playing, "The Big Parade," with John Gilbert.

PELICAN

"He wanted a blonde so she brought one home." Mary Astor with Robert Ames and Edward Everett Horton in "Smart Woman," playing at the Pelican today and tomorrow is a gay, gossipy story which everyone will like.

A complete program of news, comedy and an interesting travelogue, also Marie Obenchain at the Wurlitzer all this week playing special request programs.

THE PINE TREE

An enthusiastic audience expressed its appreciation of Mae DeRoster's Sunshine Follies at the Pine Tree last night. Every act was good and some exceptionally so.

On the screen, "I Like Your Nerve" was the feature and Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., was perfectly cast in this feature. Loretta Young, beautiful as ever, headed the supporting cast.

RAINBOW

Barbara Stanwyck comes to the Rainbow theater today in "The Miracle Woman," special picture that provides this incomparable actress with her greatest dramatic role. Miss Stanwyck has been nothing less than a sensation. She burst into the cinema sky like a bombshell.

NEW VOX

"The Big Parade," playing all this week at the New Vox was re-issued in response to demand from film enthusiasts all over the country. The picture, enhanced with new and thrilling sound effects, stands out as one of the most convincing and moving stories ever portrayed on the screen.

"Frankenstein" To Be Exhibited Here

"Frankenstein" the new "horror" picture which has aroused the whole nation is scheduled to be shown soon in a local theatre. Much comment has been aroused over the situation recently created in Kansas, when the board of censorship refused to allow the picture to be exhibited in that state. Theatre-goers demanded that the picture be shown and the outcome of the war is being watched with interest.

Complaints Filed In Circuit Court

Two minor complaints were filed in circuit court Tuesday afternoon. The Linde Air Products corporation of the Pacific coast filed a complaint against the Spring Street Iron Works, asking for payment of a merchandise account amounting to $535.70.

William E. Garwick filed a similar complaint against John H. Edwards for $50 judgement, due on a $100 note.

the air, will show you why properly streamlined automobiles can be driven at high speeds with LESS fuel.

Your second series, holding the lath edgewise and then tilting its forward edge first down and then up, will teach you why proper streamlining will tend to hold cars to the road instead of lifting them off.

STREAMLINING the first car ever built would have given the same result as streamlining the cars of today. But NOBODY THOUGHT OF IT.

It is only, you see, as we get better brains, capable of doing better thinking, that we are capable of achieving greater progress.

SO much for your automobile. Let us turn now to your newspaper.

This newspaper, which you are now reading, was first set up in type, then printed on a fast perfecting press and finally delivered to your door in good weather and bad by a hard-working boy who is getting his first training in business.

What of its future?

WELL, it seems probable, on the basis of experimental results already achieved, that at a certain hour of the day you will go to an instrument resembling somewhat your present radio, open it and take from it your completed newspaper.

A master copy of this newspaper will first have been completed at the newspaper plant, either by present methods or by other methods to be later developed. This master copy will then have to be passed before a beam of light which will set up ether waves similar to radio waves.

These waves, broadcast through the air, will be picked up by the receiving instrument in your house and transformed into a completed newspaper, all ready for your reading.

FANCIFUL in the extreme, you say scornfully? Absurd? Chimerical?

Let's see about that.

IN this newspaper, from time to time, you see pictures called telephotos. Some of these pictures have been transmitted from the other side of the world, over mountains and seas, by radio.

If it is possible to transmit and reproduce a photograph in this manner, it will be possible to transmit and reproduce a page of a newspaper. If it is possible to transmit and reproduce ONE page of a newspaper—which, as a matter of fact, has actually been done—it will be possible to transmit and reproduce MANY pages.

THESE ether waves, which now bring to you sounds that you hear and may be expected to bring to you sights that you see, have been present since the beginning of the world.

Indeed, a few bold thinkers assert that every sound ever made since the beginning of the world is still racing around in space in the form of ether waves and they intimate that if instruments sensitive enough could be made we could HEAR these sounds from the past—such, for example, as the voice of Jesus.

That IS something fanciful.

BUT here is the point:

These ether waves have been present, like electricity, since the beginning, requiring in order to be turned to human uses only a BRAIN shrewd enough.

It is brains that bring progress, and if we can go on developing brains there is no limit to the progress we can achieve.
