MISSING LINK IN TELEVISION FOUND

NEW YORK, Feb. 1 (AP)—The Radio Corporation of America has found the "missing link in television"—a system increasing television range from 50 to 1000 miles.

David Sarnoff, RCA president, said the development would make possible a network linking New York with such cities as Washington and Boston, and that with further technical improvements would raise the present 50-mile limit to coast-to-coast broadcasts.
