Valentine Affairs Given in Valley Town During Week

MERRILL — Social gaiety held sway this week, revolving around the anniversary of the feast day of the Roman martyr, St. Valentine. Clubs and societies and young folks of the community used the red and white heart motif as background for festivities. Classes in the elementary school observed the day with an exchange of the fancy lace paper tokens and more than a few flew about the high school building. Valentine counters of south end stores were emptied and a few procrastinating lads and lassies were caught napping with not enough to go 'round.

At a "Come as You Are" luncheon at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Luther Haskins, the holiday motif centered the long table where places were marked for twenty-two. Assisting Mrs. Haskins were Mrs. Laura Hill and Mrs. W. F. Jinnette. The guests are called for and returned to their homes by the hostess group, the affairs being given by the Ladies Aid of the Presbyterian church to swell the aid treasury.

Seated at the table were Mr. and Mrs. Alonzo Hodges, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hodges, Mr. and Mrs. Myron Haskins and two daughters, Mrs. Mary Pope, Mrs. Wheeler, Mrs. Louis Moore, Mrs. Mabel Hunnicutt, Mrs. Herbert Rodgers and son Donny, Mrs. Lou Hill, Mrs. Howard Wynant, Mrs. Lyle Merrill and son, Luther Haskins and the hostesses.

On Tuesday Mrs. Lillian Thomas entertained a number of friends celebrating her birthday anniversary which falls on St. Valentine's day and honoring Mr. Malcolm Stine, Medford, who celebrates on February the twelfth. Here, too, the usual motif predominated with the central table note being the four tiered birthday cake. Places were marked for Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm Stine, Medford, Mrs. Frances Guimon, Miss Lucille Thomason, W. Thomason, Pete Guzzman, Lloyd Thomas and the hostesses.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Svehlak were hosts at an evening party Wednesday with pinochle and Chinese checkers in play. High score in pinochle went to Mrs. James Sedlacek, second high to R. E. Bailley and Tony Sedlacek and low honors to Alfred Sedlacek. Honors in checkers went to Mrs. Ann Kruml.

Refreshments were served at midnight to Mr. and Mrs. Dean Minnis, Mr. and Mrs. John Baley, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Sedlacek, Mr. and Mrs. James Sedlacek, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Sedlacek, Mr. and Mrs. Earl King, Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Bailey, Miss Caroline Sedlacek, Miss Ann Kruml, Miss Marion Bond, Emil Bailey, Tony Sedlacek and John Kruml.

Mrs. Jess Dieter was hostess on Tuesday afternoon to members of the Malin group of the Holy Cross Altar society. Mrs. Dieter was assisted by her daughter, Mrs. Guy Sheldon. Guests modeled miniature animals from sticks of gum with the prize for the best going to Mrs. John Giacomini. Refreshments were served to Mesdames Gene Hammond, W. E. Hammond, John Colwell, Kenneth Colwell, Floyd Sayer, John Giacomini, C. C. Johnson, Petrik, Tim Sullivan and the hostesses.

Guests from Tulelake, Merrill and Malin enjoyed the afternoon of cards sponsored by the Merrill Library club Wednesday. A dessert course was served at a long table centered with tall red and white tapers, and red hearts against a white background before play.

Pussywillows added a note of spring to the appointments in the Odd Fellows hall and other decorations were in keeping with the holiday. High honors in bridge went to Mrs. Dan Geyer, Tulelake, consolation to Mrs. Dan Barry, Merrill. In pinochle top award went to Mrs. H. C. Bradbury, Merrill, and low to Mrs. Clifford Shuck, Tulelake. Fifteen hundred trump in hearts was held by Mrs. Guy Sheldon, Merrill.

Mrs. Marvin Thomas, Tulelake, was general chairman. The party was sponsored by the group working under Mrs. Scott McKendree to raise funds for the new library building.

Two Sump Plan Backers Meet In Elevator at Washington

Two men from the far west, each in Washington, D. C., to do what he could for the Tulelake sump project but neither knowing the other, met by sheer coincidence in the elevator of the capital city's Willard hotel the other day.

Marshall Cornett, director of the Klamath county chamber of commerce, went on to Washington from Kentucky to help out on the sump project. He put up at the Willard.

Entering the elevator on the way down from his room, a name on a telegram in the hands of a fellow elevator traveler caught Cornett's eye. It was "Klamath Falls." He offered his apologies to the stranger "for peeping," and learned that it was Arthur S. Dudley, secretary of the Sacramento chamber of commerce.

Dudley had been asked by Secretary Earl Reynolds of the local chamber to put in his good licks for the sump project, and was sending a wire to Reynolds reporting his progress when he encountered Cornett.

They compared notes and pooled their efforts in behalf of the sump. Final decision on the project's fate at this session of congress has not been reached.
