Sports Briefs

By Hugh Fullerton, Jr.

NEW YORK, Sept. 30 (AP) — The United States Military academy has just issued a booklet, written by the able Joe Cahill, based on the theme "Football Pays Dividends in Battle." . . . Today, when the 1944 Cadet football team opens its season, we can think of nothing better than to quote a few passages about two of the eight football-playing officers whose careers are sketched.

* * *

GEN. DWIGHT D. EISENHOWER

When 21-year-old Ike Eisenhower entered West Point, he was known as a lightweight tackle from Salina, Kas., high school who couldn't be fooled more than once on a play . . . As a plebe he was shifted to the backfield and was on his way toward becoming a varsity standout when he broke a knee plunging into the Tufts line. So Eisenhower finished his undergraduate career as a freshman coach and cheer leader . . . "His special talents," says the booklet, "were his speed and ability to diagnose the plays of his opponents."

* * *

GEN. JOSEPH STILWELL

As a cadet, "Vinegar Joe's" 145 pounds made him a second-stringer. But when Army played Chicago in 1903 it was Stilwell who won the game . . . With the score tied at 6-6, Stilwell entered the game in the last few moments. A Chicago back fumbled and Walter Eckersall was called upon to punt . . . Back on the 45-yard line, Stilwell took the punt, and, seeing a Chicago player ready to tackle him, signalled for a fair catch . . . The over-anxious westerner interfered and the resulting penalty gave Army the ball on the 20-yard line, from where a field goal brought the winning points.

Duffer or Hotshot, No New Golf Balls

CHICAGO, Sept. 29 (AP)—The nation's golfers, duffers and sharpshooters alike, will have to get along without any new golf balls in 1945, says L. E. Coleman, president of the Golf Ball Manufacturers' association.

Coleman, addressing the group's meeting yesterday, said the only solution to the ball shortage—critical the last season—will be for all players to turn in used balls for reprocessing during winter months.

JUNCTION CITY, Sept. 30 (AP) Virg Kingsley will be athletic coach in addition to principal of Junction City high school. He will take over in the place of Kenny King, who is resigning because of illness.
