WHEAT

CHICAGO, Nov. 2 (AP)—A three-day decline in grain futures prices was halted today when corn resisted early selling pressure and limited offerings indicated an oversold condition in other markets.

Commission house offerings of wheat were absorbed quickly and resting orders to buy just under the market provided some support. The trade was light.

At the close wheat was ⅞ to ⅞c higher than yesterday's finish, December $1.03⅝-½. Corn was up ½ to 1⅛c, December $1.09⅛. Oats were ¼ to ⅜c higher, December 63⅝-⅝c. Rye was up ¾ to 1½c, December $1.01⅛-½. Barley was ¼c lower to ¼c higher, December $1.02⅝.

VOTERS
Free Flashlights for every citizen is a platform promise that seems to have been overlooked by my rivals for the position of Mayor. This should be a popular promise and will find favor amongst those voters who have to find their way down Main street after the Merchants turn off their show window lights. Another promise added to the multitude already presented probably will not make much difference. I only offer the suggestion for the Candidate that wishes to use it.
