Lewis Raps Government's Mine Bureau Boss Choice

WASHINGTON, March 20 (AP) John L. Lewis declared today the administration made a "purely political" appointment in naming a 42-year-old Australian-born professor as director of the bureau of mines.

He added that the coal miners resent it from the bottom of their hearts."

The United Mine Workers chief told senators that the appointee, James Boyd, is unqualified and does not understand the coal miners' problems.

Lewis told a public lands subcommittee studying Boyd's qualifications for confirmation:

"We feel his appointment is purely political, and we resent the fact that the department of the interior plucked him out of obscurity without asking the men who are going to die in the mines if they are satisfied."

Boyd's principal experience has been in metal mining. He now is dean of the faculty of the Colorado School of Mines.

He was named to succeed Dr. R. B. Sayers, who is returning to the United States public health service. The public lands committee, then the senate, must pass on Boyd's appointment.

Stressing the problem of safety in the mines, Lewis declared that "statistically, in six years every man in the coal mining industry is either killed or injured." From 1942 to 1945, he said, there were 322,637 casualties, 6224 of them fatal. Coal miners numbered 450,000 in 1942 but have declined since to an estimated 375,000.

LaGuardia Asks More Housing

WASHINGTON, March 20 (AP) Fiorello H. LaGuardia today told congress "chaos will set in" unless we start building homes at once.

He urged prompt passage of housing legislation "or we'll lose another building year."

LaGuardia told the senate banking committee he represents the national fair rent committee and is "unauthorized spokesman of unauthorized Americans."

Turning to rent control, which is also before the committee, LaGuardia pleaded:

"I beg of you to reassure millions of American families at the earliest possible moment so they will be protected from being dispossessed."

The former New York mayor declared private capital is unable to build for low income groups and added:

"It's not a judicial saying that. It's not Joe Stalin. It's the conservative senator from Ohio saying that."

No New Roads Said In Prospect Now

The county is making no plans at present for new road construction, according to Wally Hector, county engineer.

Hector said that the only projects contemplated at the present time were resurfacing work on various oiled roads and other routine maintenance. "We are only bettering what we already have," Hector added.

Greek Troops To Open Offensive

SALONIKA, Greece, March 20 (AP) — Greek government troops were reported ready to begin full-scale operations today against guerrillas in the neighborhood of Mount Grammos near the Albanian border.

Market Trend Still Down

NEW YORK, March 20 (AP)—Stocks generally reverted to an offside drift in today's market although assorted leaders managed to make a little headway. Dealings were among the slowest of the past year. Minus signs predominated at the close. Transfers tapered to around 600,000 shares.

Modest advances were attached to International Harvester, Eastern Air Lines, United Air Lines, Union Carbide, Detroit Edison, Philip Morris and Standard Oil (NJ). Atlas Tack was up 5¼ points on the first sale since March 12.

Laggards were U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, General Motors, Goodyear, U. S. Rubber, Santa Fe, Norfolk & Western, Northern Pacific, American Telephone, Cerro De Pasco, Montgomery Ward, Du Pont and Johns-Manville.

Bonds were mixed. Gyrating commodities remained as a cautionary argument for securities.

Wheat Price Still Dropping

CHICAGO, March 20 (AP)—Old crop wheat futures displayed pronounced weakness, May dropping the 10 cent limit at one time, in a chaotic market on the board of trade today.

An avalanche of selling hit the wheat market shortly before noon and prices broke sharply under this liquidation. However, the decline attracted new buying and prices rallied rapidly from their lows.

Old crop wheat futures finished 3¼ to 6 cents lower, March $2.74. New crop deliveries were ¼ to 2 cents higher, July $2.20-2.20¼.
