MILWAUKIE (AP) — An automobile drove across the Southern Pacific tracks at the Harrison Street crossing here Wednesday and was struck by a northbound passenger train. The car driver, Fred J. Dorath, 60, of nearby Maplewood, was killed.

Marlon Brando's Sister Treads Boards In H'Wood

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Another Brando has come to Hollywood. This one is neat, articulate—and pretty, too.

Her name is Jocelyn Brando, and she's the sister of the much-publicized Marlon. Here for her first movie role—as Glenn Ford's murdered wife in "The Big Heat," she has firm words in defense of her brother.

"Marlon is a fine actor and a very interesting person," she remarked between movie scenes. "I would like him as a good friend, even if he weren't my brother. As a matter of fact, we ARE good friends.

"That's why I get so mad at some of the things I read about him. His clothes, for example. He's not as sloppy as he is made out to be. I will admit that he is a great believer in informality. In his earlier days, he preferred to wear blue jeans and a T-shirt. But they were always clean blue jeans and the T-shirt wasn't torn.

"Since he has become a star, he dresses much better. He has bought several suits, and I understand he just bought three tailor-made ones last week."

She admitted that his love of informality sometimes causes a family crisis when both were studying dramatics at the Actors Studio in New York. Before leaving to attend a party or other function, she would gaze at his garb and shake her head.

"I don't mind seeing you there," she would tell him, "but I won't walk in with you. We'll go separately." She added that he was usually shamed into wearing something more acceptable.

After a shaky start, Miss Brando is beginning to like the experience of making movies. She was the first in the family to go on the stage, Marlon following her example when his attempts at schooling and other work failed. Her first job was in a show called "The Crocus," which lasted all of a week on Broadway.

Her first lengthy run was in "Claudia," but the engagement had its drawbacks. She was understudy to Dorothy McGuire, and the star was blessed with unfailing health.

Jocelyn finally got a chance to go onstage, but not to replace Miss McGuire. Frances Starr, playing the mother role, fell ill. The actress playing the sister took over, and Jocelyn portrayed the sister. Jocelyn was about a foot shorter than the actress she replaced, and Miss McGuire giggled because of it all through the performance.

Miss Brando's next big part was as the nurse, the only woman in "Mister Roberts." She said she didn't seem too out of place, since the stage manager and the goat in the show were also female.

Jocelyn is married to writer Eliot Aviloy, and they have a 7-month-old boy. She also has another son, 3, by a previous marriage.

Nationalists Confident

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP) — Nationalist China told Russia Wednesday that Chiang Kai-Shek's government will liberate the Chinese mainland on its own initiative, and need not wait for a U. S. go - ahead.

Calling himself the representative of the "only legal government of China," Chung - Ming Chang said "I can assure the Soviet bloc . . . my government is determined to recover its territories.

"It will do so because it has the support of the Chinese people. It will liberate the Chinese people on its own initiative and not at the bidding of the United States. The Chinese people detest Soviet domination. They detest Communist Boss - Mao Tse - Tung."

Guerrillas are waiting, and it will require no U. S. congressional action to get them moving, Chang declared.

The Chinese delegate was replying in the U. N.'s 61 - nation Political Committee to Soviet bloc charges that the U. S. has financed and led espionage and sabotage movements against mainland China as well as against Communist countries of Europe.

Those charges have led to some of the most vitriolic Soviet bloc attacks on the U. S. ever heard in the U. N. They blasted the hopes of some delegates that the new Malenkov regime in the Kremlin might take a more moderate tone.

Others awaited the arrival Thursday of Andrei Y. Vishinsky from high - level Moscow talks before giving up all hope.

FOOD DOWN

NEW YORK (AP) — Wholesale food prices, as measured by the Dun & Bradstreet food index, were a shade lower this week for the first time in seven weeks.

The index stood at $6.41 compared with $6.42 a week ago. This week's figure was 1.1 per cent lower than the $6.48 of a year ago.
