Morse Blames Everyone In Loss Of Committees; To Continue Battle For Seat

BY G. MILTON KELLY

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Morse (I-Ore) pressed Tuesday for a showdown by the week's end on his efforts to win back the Senate committee posts he lost after his election-campaign bolt from the Republican Party.

Morse is sponsoring a resolution designed to make him again a member of the Senate Labor and Armed Services Committees, from which he was dropped at the start of the congressional session in January. He has refused to take two committee posts left open to him—on the Public Works and District of Columbia Committees.

The senator, who has criticized both the Republicans and Democrats for his no-committee plight, accused the Senate Rules Committee Monday of "dead wrong" tactics in refusing to approve the resolution. He argued in a Senate speech that the committee had based its refusal on a typographical error in the resolution, which he had expected it would correct.

He announced he now expects the resolution will come to a vote some time during the week, and filed with the Senate a corrective amendment he said he hopes will bring approval.

The resolution proposes to add two members—himself and one Republican—to the Labor and Armed Services Committees. The idea is to preserve the Republicans' one-vote majority, while expanding the Armed Services Committee from 15 members to 17 and Labor from 13 to 15 members.

His resolution would also reduce the Public Works Committee from 11 to 10 members, and the District of Columbia Committee to eight members. As written originally in his office the resolution would have cut the Public Works group from 11 members to eight.

He told the Senate Monday that was a typographical error which was called to the committee's attention before it acted, but that the committee still cited it as the chief reason for recommending against his plan. Chairman Jenner (R-Ind), he said, has written him pointing out that he never did formally submit a corrective amendment. Jenner made no comment.

Morse termed such reasoning "unfair . . . dead wrong" but filed a corrective amendment.

Morse repeatedly has argued in Senate speeches that stripping him of his old committee posts was a "reprisal" for his bolting the Republican Party, and that the Democrats have failed to back him in the fight.

Police Tell Bomb Plot

BUENOS AIRES (AP) — Federal police said Tuesday they have found evidence terrorists plotted to bomb the Argentine national capital while President Juan D. Peron was speaking to Congress there on May 1, and then blow up the U. S. Embassy. The Peronista Party headquarters was also marked for bombing, they said.

Police reported the arrest of a man identified as Luis Benigno Guitaman, socialist leader, who, they said, arrived from Montevideo secretly last April 27 to direct the bombing. The authorities said Guitaman and his followers were dedicated to bombing the front of the U. S. Information Service office in July, 1952, and other earlier bombings.

Fourteen bombs have exploded and two unexploded bombs have been found in a wave of terrorism in Buenos Aires since March. More than 300 suspects, mostly politicos and aristocrats opposed to Peron, have been rounded up.

City Council Okays Bonds For Big Pool

A short meeting of the City Council Monday night brought Klamath Falls' long-awaited swimming pool one step nearer as an ordinance providing for issuance and sale of bonds for the project was given a third and final reading.

The City can now proceed with advertising the $130,000 bond issue for sale. Actual work on the swimming pool is expected to be underway within the next 60 days.

In the absence of Mayor Paul Landry who was out of the city, Councilman Don Kenyon presided at the session.

The council approved a building permit for a $20,000 addition to the First Presbyterian Church. It was also decided to waive the building permit fee as the church previously paid for a $90,000 permit which was not used.

Action on construction of a one story frame building at the Municipal Airport to be leased to West Coast Airlines was held in abeyance pending the return of Mayor Landry. The structure is to cost approximately $3,500 and will house the offices of the airline.

Fire From Heaven

By Geo. N. Taylor

In earlier Bible times, God's people gave themselves over to the worship of the heathen Baal. Almighty God chose the prophet Elijah to win the people back. Elijah names a test that will determine the true God. It is that the true God shall send down fire from heaven to burn the offering. At the trial, the Baal people prayed and cut themselves but Baal answered not.

Geo. N. Taylor

Later, at eventime Elijah, god's man, has 12 barrels of water poured over the altar and sacrifice he is to offer. Then at Elijah's prayer, God sent fire to consume the offering and barrels of water. Then cried the people — The Lord, he is God. So God had his people back. 2nd Kings 18th. And to-day? When you received Christ as your own Lord and Saviour, you had eternal life. Know that God is your prayer-answering heavenly Father. This space sponsored y a Portland Lumber Mfg. and Wife.
