Spud Harvest Nears End

Farmers in the Tulelake Basin are taking full advantage of the fine fall weather and the harvest of the huge spud crop is fast drawing to a close.

An estimated 85 per cent of the crop is now is cellars and growers feel if they can have another week of good going the harvest will be over.

Some small acreages of alsike have remain to be cut, but this work is winding up fast due to the good weather.

Most growers reported a fair yield both in spuds and clover and predicted that the price of potatoes will start to look up when digging is over and the crop is stored.

Packing plants throughout the basin are running but carloads moved out so far this fall are far behind normal years.

An abundance of itinerant help has been an asset to farmers this year who were faced with a late season and considerable bad weather at the start of digging operations.

Corvallis Ends Deathless Days

CORVALLIS (AP) — A death recorded Monday ended a Corvallis record of 1,389 days without a fatal automobile mishap.

The victim was M. M. Moser, 71, of Corvallis who died in a hospital Saturday after his car collided with another and then crashed into the Hotel Benton.

At first it was believed Moser died of a heart attack. But Police Capt. James A. Goodman said he had learned from Moser's doctor that death was due to a brain concussion suffered in the accident.

Two Oregon State athletes, Stan McGuire and Bill Corvallis, were the city's previous traffic victims. They were killed Jan. 4, 1950, when a toboggan crashed into a car.

Israel Offers To Hold Up River Project

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—Straining tensions over the hot Palestine dispute eased a notch today after Israel suddenly offered to hold up her Jordan River hydroelectric project while the U.N. Security Council debates the issue. The move won quick commendation from both the Arabs and the United States.

The council postponed until tomorrow its Palestine hearings to give the General Assembly's 60-nation Political Committee a chance to resume debate on American charges that the Russians ran a torture center to extort germ warfare "confession" from captured American airmen.

U.N. informants said the United States was prepared to present further evidence "of a more effective nature" to support her charges.

Israel's chief U. N. delegate, Abba Eban, made the surprise offer yesterday to suspend work on diverting the waters of the Jordan as the council debated Syria's complaint that the project deprived the Arabs of water for irrigation and breached the Arab-Jewish armistice.

Lebanon's Dr. Charles Malik, sole Arab League delegate on the council, voiced gratitude for Israel's "conciliatory gesture" and congratulated Eban for making it.

U.N. circles said the Israeli compromise gesture might serve to cool off the boiling Palestine dispute, which has roused fear in Washington and London that an open Israeli-Arab break was near.

Deduction Plan Said Effective

With the United Fund-Red Cross drive in its third day, the effectiveness of the payroll deduction plan is quite evident.

"The idea of payroll deduction is much better accepted this year than last and it is being accepted on a higher scale," according to Ernie Taylor, president of the of the United Fund Committee.

Taylor gave the fact that participation last year was too limited as one of the major causes for the failure of the drive to make its goal.

"Some employes pledged 50 cents per month last year, and that just wasn't enough," Taylor said. He was optimistic however, with this year's reports that, with few exceptions, companies that were too low are attempting to increase their gifts.

Taylor emphasized that seasonal workers should be encouraged to give one hour's pay per month per working year, For example, in a mill where the working year is only eight or nine months, employes are urged to give at least one hour's pay a month during those eight or nine months.

"To make any drive successful, we have to have almost 10 per cent solicitation," Taylor commented, and added that the payroll deduction plan is more equitable since it is based on ability to pay.

Campaign chairman Rex Dye's comment on the payroll deduction plan was:

"I think it's wonderful that the United Fund-Red Cross program makes it possible for salaried persons to give what they would feel proud to give by using the pledge or payroll deduction plan.

"One example is a typical office girl whose income is relatively small. She was very pleased when she found that by pledging an hour's pay per month to the fund it would total nine dollars per year. As a matter of fact, she was so pleased that she decided to pledge one dollar per month to make her total gift twelve dollars a year.

"This is an example of how people can evaluate and plan their giving to the one campaign a year."

Poland Renews Gunboat Demand

WARSAW, Poland (AP) — Communist Poland has fired off a new note to the United States reiterating its demand that Washington secure the release of a Polish ship seized by a Chinese Nationalist gunboat early this month.

A Warsaw radio broadcast last night quoted the note as saying the Polish government holds the United States responsible for the lives and health of certain members of the ship's crew who have been reported under arrest.

The vessel, the Praca, was seized by the Chinese Nationalist warship Oct. 4 in Far Eastern waters.
