Basin Church Meeting Held

"Evangelism, the Church's Neglected Vocation," was the topic for study and discussion by the Klamath Basin Ministerial Association at a recent meeting at the Wilema Hotel.

The Rev. William Little, pastor of Mt. Lake Community Church, presented the topic following discussion of business items.

The 1:30 a.m. breakfast meeting was presided over by the president, the Rev. Richard Graef, pastor of Zion Lutheran Church. Devotions were in charge of the Rev. Dale Hewitt, First Presbyterian Church.

Other [illegible] members present included the Rev. John Bauer, Hope Lutheran Church; the Rev. Wesley Crist, First Nazarene Church; the Rev. Leif Malmin, Chiloquin Open Bible Church.

The Rev. Keith Burns, Klamath Temple; the Rev. Robert Durbin, Klamath Temple; the Rev. W. D. Rigby, Full Gospel Tabernacle; the Rev. Dewey Johnson, Lakeside Church; the Rev. Harvey Dunn, Free Methodist; the Rev. Harry Ayers, Assembly of God; the Rev. Lloyd Holloway, First Methodist.

The Rev. Edward Lanier, Community Church of the Brethren; the Rev. and Mrs. J. R. Griffith, Klamath Revival Center; the Rev. Edmund Benton, Chiloquin Methodist Church.

Wheat Income Warning Told

It is likely that the worst is yet to come for Oregon wheat farmers, says M. D. Thomas, extension agricultural economist at Oregon State College. He contends that although incomes from wheat are already down sharply from last year and the year before, further cuts seem almost certain.

The economist explains production controls and price support provisions of the present federal farm law could result in the 1955 crop bringing little more than half as much as the record 1952 crop, and at least one-fifth less than was expected from the 1954 production.

Regardless of what happens to supplies, wheat supports almost certainly will never again provide the purchasing power they have made possible in recent years, continues Thomas. By 1960, support prices for wheat could be around 70 cents a bushel under the 1954 level if conditions remain as they are now.

The new 1954 Agricultural Act, that is much like the 1949 act, permits wheat supports to drop as low as 75 per cent of parity.

State Cattle Contest Held

District winners for the 1954 Oregon Cattleman of the Year Contest are: Lloyd H. Hill, Harney County, District 1; Dick Hilbert, Union County, District 2; Ralph Breese, Crook County, District 3; Chester Chase & Son, Lane County, District 4; and Gerry Elsoe, Josephine County, District 5.

From the district contestants a state Cattleman of the Year will be selected. The state winner will be awarded the Herman Oliver Trophy at a banquet dinner held in Prineville on December 10.

In selecting the state winner, each of the district winners' contests will be visited individually by a special judging committee. The district contestant with the highest score will become the state winner. The five man judging committee will be composed of a livestock specialist, a forage specialist, a farm and ranch management specialist and two cattlemen who will score the contestants on public relations, community, state and national interests.

Herman Oliver originator of the Cattleman of the Year award has the following to say concerning the picking of a state winner: The winner should not only be outstanding in his own personal accomplishments and gain in building up his best resources and livestock but should also be outstanding in sharing his experiences and techniques with others as time goes - all state accomplishments and gains in improving the livestock industry will be maximized.

National FHA Week Observe

National FHA Week is being observed by members of Future Homemakers of America Club of Klamath Union High School this week.

Karen Urban, [illegible] arranged a downtown store window with a display of the emblem, state and national publications and the club scrapbook. Helen Reinera has written a radio program to be broadcast over KFJI.

As part of the celebration, the club recently bought an original watercolor for the homemaking department.

Sixteen new members will be initiated Friday. They are Lela Baker, Maria Ward, Mary Ellen Kelly, Helen Herrera, Ruth Larson, Julia Valdez, Mary Ferrin, Delores Tracy, Bonnie Taylor, Darlene St. John, Lee Price, Sharon Jackson, Margaret Stubblefield, Nancy Farmer.

This year's officers of the club are Roberta Matthews, president; Leila Hastad, vice president; Sandra Campbell, secretary; Nancy Cox, treasurer, and Carol Garrison, parliamentarian.

Clara Shepard is director of the KUHS homemaking department.

Rare Type Blood Given To Girl

MT. SHASTA, Calif. — California highway patrolman, in a dramatic relay race with death, arrived early Friday with a quart of rare type blog for a railway girl critically burned when a cigarette spark turned her automobile into a blazing furnace.

Doctors at Mt. Shasta Hospital immediately administered the blood to 15-year-old Helen Sutfin of Jolon, Monterey County, Calif., attendants said the girl's condition still was critical.
