THIS IS THE WAY they moved books from the old Klamath County Library near Klamath Union High School to the new building on Klamath Avenue and Third Streets. Moving is still going on but will be completed this week. About 60,000 books were hauled in a truck borrowed from the Klamath County School District and driven by Lois Wise, rear, driver of the regular "Bookmobile." Assisting are Neal Wade, center, senior accountant student, OTI, and Stanley McClelland, electrical repair student, OTI. Books were moved in boxes loaned by Fluhrer's Bakery.

Morse Says Censure Vote Demanded By U.S. People

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Morse (Ind-Ore) said today that a resolution to censure Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) would be reintroduced in the next Congress if necessary but that "the American people are going to demand a vote" by the present Senate.

"This issue, in a sense, is out of the hands of the Senate, Morse said in an interview. "The people are demanding that the members of the Senate stand up and 'be counted' before the Dec. 24 adjournment deadline previously set by Congress.

Morse, who helped the Republican party during the 1952 presidential campaign, is one of the fifteen senators who filed 46 charges considered by a special bipartisan senate committee that unanimously recommended McCarthy be censured.

A friend of McCarthy's, Sen. Mundt (R-SD), likewise indicated in a separate interview he expects the censure issue to crop up in the next Congress if this one doesn't act. But he predicted a vote within a week or 10 days after the Senate reconvenes a week from Monday.

"I'd think from McCarthy's viewpoint he would be glad to get it washed out," Mundt said. "If it isn't, it will just be reactivated at the next session."

Sen. Watkins (R-Utah), chairman of the special six-member committee which recommended censure, said he "wouldn't speculate" on whether the censure resolution would be reintroduced in the next Congress if the Senate failed to act on it before adjournment.

"I think the Senate will get to a vote," Watkins said.

With McCarthy hospitalized for the treatment of an injured elbow the Senate voted 75 to 2 Thursday to recess its temper-fraying debate on the censure issue until Nov. 29. The session began Nov. 8.

The Senate received a report from Dr. George W. Calver, the Capitol physician, that McCarthy had developed "traumatic bursitis" in his right elbow and could suffer "permanent injury" if he failed to stay in the hospital until Nov. 29.

McCarthy's condition was reported "a little improved" yesterday. A doctor said the elbow bruise, inflicted when a well-wisher shoved it against a glass top table last weekend, had been "aggravated considerably because the senator probably continued to use the arm four or five days after his original injury."

Before the recess, supporters of the censure resolution were blocked by Sen. Jenner (R-Ind), a McCarthy backer, in efforts to fix a deadline for voting after the Senate reconvenes.

Sen. Fulbright (D-Ark) said that with the Senate not returning until Nov. 29 and with final adjournment of the session automatically fixed for Dec. 24, it would be "a relatively simple matter" for opponents to block a vote by delaying tactics.
