APPREHENSION FOR BRIDGE.—There is some apprehension over the condition of the Union-avenue bridge across Sullivan's Gulche. At present heavy gravel trains are run over this structure by the Pacific Bridge Company from Mount Tabor to Montgomery slough, in Lower Albina. The trains consist of the motor and six The trains consist of the motor and six dump-cars filled with gravel and sand. An ordinary streetcar, such as are operated on Union avenue, does not shake the bridge very much, but when one of these gravel trains dash over the Union-avenue bridge the whole atructure trembles and shakes to an alarming extent.

CHARLES B. HANFORD'S devotion to United East Side Push Club has started est commendation, for of all the stars hearsals of "Leah Kleshna," without a movement by which it is hoped to re-

Saclimo, the Roman nobleman adventuring in early Britain, and his work was marked by the same care and attention to the effective reading of the lines that has always marked the efforts of this conscientious actor. Miss Drofnah, as Imogen, met with much favor in the eyes of the audience, proving just the foil for the robust star, as those who have followed her career have come to expect. The Queen is well played by Harriet Davis, a more than usually capable actress, and Andrew H. Tombes is an excellent Cloten. The remaining members Tonight the engagement will close with 'Julius Caesar," with Mr. Hanford play-ng Marc Antony.

At the Theaters

What the Press Agents Say.

"JULIUS CAESAR" TONIGHT.

Eminent Tragedian Will Present the Great Shakespearean Tragedy.

The eminent tragedian and actor, Charle B. Hanford will present Shakespeare's great tragedy, "Julius Caesar," at the Hellig Theater, Fourteenth and Washington streets, rheater, Fourteenth and washington streets, tonight at S:15 o'clock, Mr. Hanford is supported by Marie Drofnah and a capable company of players, giving the lovers of classic plays an excellent opportunity of seeing the immortal bard's great tragedy presented in a most finished manner. Seats are now selling at the box office of the theater.

"Leah Kleshna," which the Baker Stock Company opened with yeakerday afternoon, proved one of the most artistic productions of the entire season and was thoroughly enjoyed by two immense Easter audience. The work of the individual players was of a high order and elicited the approbation of the house at every turn. "Leah Kleshna" is pronounced a decided and unmistakable success.

An Old Friend Back.

"Ole Olson," which opened to a record-breaking Easter audience yesterday aftermon, was given the genuine welcome de-served by an old and trusted friend. Ben Hendricks as Ole won the favor of every apoctator in an instant, and when his spien-did voice rang out in the new songs he has brought from New York, he was received with spontaneous enthusiasm.

"Winchester" at the Star.

"Winchester." the military drama of which so much has been heard, will be the attraction this week at the Star Theater. The Allen Stock Company will give the first performance tonight and there will be matiness Tuesday, Thursday, Saturday and Sunday. The play will be costumed in fashions of the Civil War period, Seats are now on sale.

"Carmen" at the Lyric.

Beginning with today's matinee and centinuing all week with matinees daily, the bill at the Lyric will be a magnificent production of the immertal "Carmen." Splendid scenery, gorgeous cestumes, an enlarged company for the production.

COMING ATTRACTIONS.

Blanch Walsh Will Present Fitch's Play, "The Straight Road."

Temorrow (Tuesday) morning, at clock, at the box office of the Hellig o'clock, at the box office of the Hellig The-ator the advance sent sale will open for the favorite actor. Blanche Waish, who comes to the above theater next Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights, April 4, 5 and 6, with a special matines Saturday. Miss Walsh, supported by an excellent company of play-ers will present Clyde Fitch's latest com-edy-drama success "The Straight Road."

"Ole Olson" at the Empire.

Few popular-priced theatrical attractions visiting Portland have more friends than "Ole Olson," headed by Ben Hend-ricks, which opened a week's engagement at the Empire with a matinee yesterday afternoon. By reason of his splendid interpretation of the character of the bighearted, whole-souled Swede Mr. Hendricks is a favorite with patrons of the Empire and the sweaters. An Artistic Production at Baker.

"Leah Kleshna," which the Baker Stock company opened with yesterday afternoon coved one of the most stristic productions of the entire season and was thoroughly the continuous of the same and the announcement of this bill is always the signal "to get your seats early." Age does not seem to detract from the popular interest in this production. Although Ole had been in this country only "ten mont and sax weeks," his conception of right as opposed to wrong was so well defined that he was not to be influenced into doing anything questionable.

Hendricks meets all requirements and is the biggest part of the company, which is a fairly good one. Gertrude Gilbert makes a good Genie Dimple, who is the faithful friend of the widow, impersonated by Bell Francis, to whom Ole Olson succeeds in restoring her abducted daughter, Gertrude Gilbert also does a clever song act and in the fortunes of the story becomes "enyaged" to Ole before the curtain falls. Lizzle Conway as Bridget O'Flannigan in search of husband No. 2, made as good an Irishwoman as she was peristent in her quest for as she was persistent in her quest for another man. Charles F. Hart who plays the part of the widow's first hus-band, is lacking in steam and fails to inject the resolution and determination into his lines that one would expect of firmer grip on himself. Mr. Mackley, however, deserves so much credit for the excellent direction of the plece that some individual sinning may be excused on the ground of overwork.

Edgar Baume is eminently satisfactory most of the time as Sylvaine, but occasionally he becomes "sing-songy."

Schram, the sneak thief, is well played by James Gleason—so well, in fact, that, naving William B. Mack in mind, I was agreeably surprised to see such a good performance. Muribel Seymour is a delightful Sophie, Wilillam Gleason is all that the part of General Berton will allow him to be.
The other parts are not especially important. The production is a very fine one.
