FRESH PEACH PUDDING made with low-calorie vanilla pudding is a perfect dessert for hot weather. It is low in calories but high in appetite appeal and easy on the cook. The photo and recipe suggestions are courtesy of D-Zerta Dietary Pudding.

PEACHES ARE IN SEASON

Fresh peaches, beloved of fruits, are in season. They are wonderful combined with cottage cheese for a luncheon main-dish salad. Also, they combine well with low-calorie pudding mixes for delicious summer desserts; and, fortunately, peaches themselves are low in calories. In our photograph, sliced fresh peaches are folded into low-calorie vanilla pudding and are used as a garnish as well. What a treat this is for weight watchers!

LOW-CALORIE SUMMER MENU

Jellied Tomato Bouillon
Baked Chicken Spinach
Mixed Greens Salad
Low-calorie Dressing
Fresh Peach Pudding
Iced Tea with Lemon Slice

FRESH PEACH PUDDING

2 envelopes low-calorie vanilla pudding mix
2 cups milk
½ cup sliced fresh peaches

Add pudding powder to milk in saucepan and stir until well blended. Heat and stir until mixture comes to a boil. Remove from heat and fold in peaches, reserving a few slices for garnish. Pour into serving dishes or a bowl. Makes 4 servings.

About 16 calories per serving.

August Sandwiches

Get on the bandwagon and serve lots of sandwiches during August. It's Sandwich Month; and besides, sandwiches can be mighty delicious and tempting as warm weather fare.

NEPTUNE SANDWICHES

1½ teaspoons instant minced onion
1 tablespoon water
1 (6½ or 7-ounce) can tuna
1-3 to ½ cup finely chopped celery
Drop or two Tabasco sauce
1 tablespoon fresh lime or lemon juice
¾ teaspoon seasoned salt
1 Calavo avocado

Combine onion and water. Flake undrained tuna; combine with celery, Tabasco, lime juice, salt and onion. Cut avocado in half; remove seed and skin. Mash fruit and blend into tuna mixture. Spread on toast for open faced or double sandwiches.

WILTED?

Shower yourself with flowers on hot, steamy days and see how cool and comfortable you can be is the advice of Houbigant. The fragrance of beautiful blooms will revive wilting spirits, make you feel fresh, look crisp and well groomed.

Quelques Fleurs, known all over the world, is a light, lasting accent for hot days. Wear it and those around you will look for fresh flowers.

The eau de toilette is a quick refresher, to be used often during the day to help lower body temperature. Apply it with an atomizer, or simply splash it on palms, arms, forehead, throat and neck.

Or, you may prefer eau de toilette spray mist which is so convenient to use. Just touch the top and you are surrounded with fragrance.

Before donning lingerie, sprinkle body powder into your bra and girdle to give them slip, prevent sticking and absorb perspiration. Tuck a container of body powder into the glove compartment of your car so you can use it freely on hands to discourage perspiration while driving. Quelques Fleurs body powder now contains hexachlorophene, a bacteria killer, for all day protection.

If your skin is dry and parched from the summer sun, smooth Quelques Fleurs hand lotion all over your body. Apply it after your bath, with an upward motion. You will feel its soothing action right away, your skin will be softer and smoother to the touch, and you will be aware of the feminine Quelques Fleurs fragrance.

Aloha Sandwich

Look to Hawaii for friendliness, hospitality and exciting ways with food. The Aloha Peanut Butter-Ham Sandwich is a culinary delight to enjoy anytime, anywhere during National Sandwich Month.

Make these fine sandwiches for picnics and family outings. When you blend crushed pineapple and honey with peanut butter, you'll discover an appealing new sandwich spread. Next add ham and lettuce leaves to your sandwiches for a combination that pleases youngsters and grown-ups alike. Pack potato chips, crisp relishes, fresh fruit, cake and lemonade in your picnic basket, too.

ALOHA SANDWICH

¾ cup crunch-style peanut butter
¼ cup crushed pineapple
1 tablespoon honey
12 slices enriched bread
Butter or margarine, softened
6 slices baked ham
Lettuce

Blend peanut butter, pineapple and honey. Spread bread with butter or margarine. Spread 6 slices with peanut butter mixture. Place ham slice over peanut butter mixture and top with lettuce. Cover with remaining bread slices.

Makes 6 sandwiches.

COLOR

Sprinkle paprika on white-meated fish for accent of color.

AUGUST is sandwich time. Here are stuffed Hamburgers De Luxe, suggested by the test kitchens of the Wheat Flour Institute. Each hamburger is two meat patties with cheese and a tomato slice sandwiched between. They provide a double treat to Sandwich Time.

Hamburgers De Luxe

For men and boys and hungry girls—"melty" cheese and a tomato slice hide inside these broiled Stuffed Hamburgers De Luxe to impart hearty and long-remembered flavor.

To make the "special treat" burgers, mix and season ground beef with salt, pepper, monosodium glutamate and thyme. Divide into 12 portions and shape into flat, round patties. Place a tomato slice, chopped parsley, and grated sharp cheese on six of the patties. Top with remaining six meat patties, seal edges carefully, and broil. It's two "sandwiches" in one—a salute to August, National Sandwich Month.

For extra flavor, spread the buns with garlic-flavored butter or margarine, then toast. When the hamburgers are well browned, eat on toasted buns and savor the blend of flavors—cheese, tomato and a hint of garlic and thyme.

Sandwich meals are a wonderful hot weather choice. They're a joy to plan and serve and high in nourishment, too. A sandwich, with fruit and vegetable accompaniments, becomes a complete meal.

STUFFED HAMBURGERS DE LUXE

1½ pounds ground beef
1½ teaspoons salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
½ teaspoon monosodium glutamate
¼ teaspoon thyme
6 thin slices tomato
2 tablespoons minced parsley
½ cup grated sharp cheese
1-3 cup butter or margarine, softened
¼ teaspoon garlic powder
6 enriched hamburger buns

Mix thoroughly ground beef, salt, pepper, monosodium glutamate and thyme. Divide hamburger mixture into 12 equal portions. Flatten each portion to patty about 3 inches in diameter. On 6 hamburger patties place tomato slices. Sprinkle parsley over tomato slices. Cover parsley with grated cheese. Top with remaining hamburger patties and seal edges. Blend thoroughly butter or margarine and garlic powder. Split hamburger buns and spread all halves with garlic butter. Toast under broiler until lightly browned. Broil stuffed hamburgers until well browned on both sides. Serve on toasted buns.

PERK UP your picnic menu by planning to serve this Frankfurter Salad Bowl. It is simply another way the "hot dog" can lend versatility to a meal. The photo and recipe suggestions are courtesy of National Live Stock and Meat Board, Chicago.

Hot Dog Salad Bowl

Picnics are just naturally part of the accepted meal pattern during July and August and frankfurters, more often than not, are just naturally part of the accepted menu pattern.

If you're picnic prone and enjoy this informal type of meal service, keep in mind the numerous ways in which frankfurters can help you to plan a picnic.

Reba Staggs, well-known home economist and meat expert, reminds us that August is Picnic Month and since frankfurters and salads are usually very much part of the picnic menu, why not combine the two into a dish called Frankfurter Salad Bowl.

It's an easy carry-along salad and contains in addition to the frankfurters, kidney beans, sour pickles, French dressing and slices of onion.

FRANKFURTER SALAD BOWL

2 cups sliced frankfurters (7 to 8 frankfurters)
1 can (16 ounces) kidney beans
¾ cup sliced sour pickles
¾ cup French dressing
1 head lettuce (medium size)
½ large onion, sliced

Drain kidney beans. Add frankfurters, pickles and ½ cup French dressing. Chill about one hour. Break lettuce leaves into pieces. Alternate layers of frankfurter mixture, lettuce and onion in a shallow bowl. Pour the remaining French dressing over all. Garnish with a few onion rings. Eight servings.

Cantaloupe Boats

Here's as pretty a "Cantaloupe Boat" salad as you could make, and a delicious one to serve in summer. Cut a large California mid-summer cantaloupe into quarters for the "boats," and remove the seeds. Fill the cavity of each wedge with creamy cottage cheese, and cover the cheese with halved strawberries, cut side down. A tiny sprig of mint on each salad makes a pretty garnish. serve with a spoon and a fork so folks can choose their "weapons." If you wish, cut the cantaloupe from its rind with a grapefruit knife. Leave the melon in place, and score it into bite-size pieces with a sharp knife. With this preparation, you need only a fork for eating.

CANTALOUPE BOATS

1 large California mid-summer cantaloupe
½ pint cream style cottage cheese
1½ cups fresh strawberries
Mint sprigs
Lemon honey dressing

Cut cantaloupe in lengthwise quarters and remove seeds. Cut melon from rind leaving it in place (a grapefruit knife works well for this), or cut part way through from each side with a small knife. Cut melon in bite-size pieces with point of knife, leaving it in the shell. Fill center with cottage cheese, and cover cheese with halved strawberries. Garnish each salad with mint sprig. Drizzle with a little lemon honey dressing (made by blending equal parts lemon juice and honey.) Serve at once.

Makes four servings.

GREEN RICE

"Green Rice" is very nice — with barbecued fish or meat. Stir plenty of ripe olives, grated cheese, chopped parsley and some melted butter into cooked rice along with two beaten egg yolks. Fold in stiffly beaten whites to give souffle-like lightness; then bake briefly. You'll enjoy this savory casserole with salmon or trout done on the grill. A pleasing choice, too, for hamburgers or hot dogs. Crusty rolls, green salad and coffee along with cantaloupe wedges makes a fine mmer meal.

You'll find ripe olives give a flavor lift to summer foods. Serve pitted ripe olives straight-from-the-can or stuffed with slivers of cheese, crisp carrot or celery sticks, or whole almonds. If the weather is warm, arrange these handsome olives on a bed of crushed ice. Most refreshing! A few olive wedges stirred into scrambled eggs just before set makes a breakfast treat to be rememberd.

GREEN RICE

¾ cup ripe olives
2 cups cooked rice
1¼ cups grated American cheese
¾ cup chopped parsley
¼ cup melted butter or margarine
Salt
Pepper
2 eggs

Cut olives in large pieces. Combine rice, one cup cheese, parsley, olives and butter; mix lightly. Season to taste with salt and pepper. Separate eggs and beat yolks lightly. Blend yolks into rice mixture. Fold in stiffly beaten egg whites. Turn into one-quart casserole and top with remaining cheese. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees) 25 to 30 minutes.

Makes about four to five servings.
