Return 'Home' Set By Man

PORTLAND (AP) — The man sat astraddle the fire escape railing, 11 floors above the street, and said: "Don't come near me or I'll jump."

Then he took off pieces of clothing and dropped them to the street, a shirt, a shoe, a stocking.

For more than an hour, the man was standing on the railing of the Pacific Building in downtown Portland, every so often leaning far over the railing, tottering back and forth.

It happened during the noon rush Tuesday, and a big crowd grew in the street below, as firemen spread their nets and waited.

A policeman, Sgt. George Hempe, on the eleventh floor began talking to the young man. The young man said he wanted to talk to Dr. Lewis Wolf of the Oregon State Hospital in Salem.

Minutes passed. Then the policeman said: "Come in. Dr. Wolf is on the phone. He wants to talk to you."

"Where's he calling from?" the man on the fire escape asked.

"From Salem," the policeman answered. There was no response from the man on the fire escape. "You know I wouldn't lie to you," the policeman said.

Then the man came away from his perch, crawled through a window and took the receiver of the telephone.

A few minutes later, the man who had been on the fire escape, identified as Richard Townsend, 22, was on his way to the state hospital. Before he left, he told reporters:

"I just want to say that I can never be happy away from the state hospital. I've been there four times. I just got out. It's my home."

Former Soviet Attache Attacks Commie Ideas

WASHINGTON (AP)—A youthful former Soviet diplomatic attache who defected in Burma last June says that in the Soviet Union anti-Communist ideas appeal primarily to young people.

"The new generation in the Soviet Union is a little different," Aleksander Yurievich Kaznacheyev testified at a closed-door hearing of the Senate Internal Security subcommittee on Jan. 22. His testimony was made public today.

"They don't want to live like their fathers," he said. "They want to live useful lives, to become masters of their lives and not slaves.

"It is not surprising that anti-Communist ideas appeal primarily to young people and that open actions are taken against the regime."

Kaznacheyev, who is 28, said many of the older generation in the Soviet Union "were deluded by bright Communist promises" in the early days of the revolution and really believed it would bring them to a new and happy classless society.

"When they realized that all these promises of the Communist leaders were nothing but a fairy tale, it was too late," he said.

"Long years of suppression, concentration camps, purges, especially terror of the bloody Stalin period, convinced some of them that nothing can be done about it, that it is much safer to put all their efforts into the struggle for survival," he said.

However, Kaznacheyev said that if really free, secret elections were to be held in the Soviet Union, "the overwhelming majority would vote against the present Communist party dictatorship."

More and more of the Soviet people, he said, understand that it is the Communist one-party dictatorship "that prevents the people from living under decent conditions."

He said they also understand that it is the Soviet government's policy "that keeps the world under constant danger of atomic war."

Kaznacheyev also testified there is a religious revival under way in the Soviet Union. He said the main reason for this is "the growing dissatisfaction among Soviet people, especially among the youth."

"The Soviet government especially worries about Baptists, Seventh-day Adventists and Witnesses of Jehovah," he said.

"I think that these sects are more appealing to the Soviet people because of conditions in the Soviet Union," he added. "Another point is that it is not as easy to control them as, for instance, the Russian Orthodox Church."

Charges Face California Duo

EL CENTRO, Calif. (UPI)—Dr. Benjamin J. Shinn and his wife Mary have been ordered to stand trial May 16 on charges stemming from their refusal to send their three children to public school.

Superior Judge M. J. Mouser Tuesday denied a motion by the couple to dismiss the charges of contributing to the delinquency of minors.

Shinn, a veterinarian who briefly waged a hunger strike before being bailed out of jail recently when arrested on the charges, contended he and his wife were innocent because they provided their children aged 10 to 13 with a good education at home.

"In the end we hope for a precedent - setting decision that will let parents train their children as they see fit," he said.

His children have not attended public school in nearly a year.

CALL FOR VOLUNTEERS

CAIRO (UPI) — An office to register volunteers who want to fight the French in Algeria will be opened in two or three days, an authoritative source said today.

Earlier this month the Arab League Council asked Arab countries to accept volunteer applications to supply extra troops to the Alegrian nationalists.

Uneasiness Hits Indio

INDIO, Calif. (UPI)—An air of uneasiness prevailed today in this desert city menaced by a series of man-set fires and now bomb threats.

Indio's 10,000 residents were already keyed up by the destructive work of an elusive firebug when yesterday a husky-voiced telephoner told Indio high school officials:

"There's a bomb in your school."

The 350 students and teachers at the school were quickly herded outside. Sheriff's deputies were called and made a thorough search of the school without finding anything amiss.

It was the latest incident in a series of frightening fires authorities are sure were deliberately set by a firebug.

A state of emergency was declared by the city council Monday, the day after the latest of the three fires which have caused about one million dollars in damage. The two other fires occurred last week.

Steamship Line Buys Air Stock

LONDON (AP)—After carrying passengers across the Atlantic by ship for more than a century, the Cunard Line now plans to carry them by air too.

Sir John Brockleback, chairman of the firm that operates the liners Queen Elizabeth and Queen Mary, announced Monday that Cunard will buy 60 per cent of the stock of Eagle Airways in a few weeks. Brockleback said plans to expand the small, 10-year-old British airline depend on a license for transatlantic flights.
