HAVE NARROW ESCAPE

LONDON (UPI) — Royal Navy investigators today sought the cause of a rocket accident that endangered 200 villagers. An aircraft rocket struck a field beside a row of houses, but there was no property damage and no one in the village of East Quantoxhead was hurt. The rocket came from the navy's practice range over the Bristol Channel.

Cooperation Need Stressed By Smith

CHILOQUIN—Alex Smith Monday night asked residents of this community for help.

He was appointed by Forest Service Regional Forester J. Herbert Stone, Portland, to take charge of initial development of the newly-formed Winema National Forest in this area.

Smith, speaking during a meeting of Chiloquin Chamber of Commerce, asked for the community's cooperation while Klamath Indian forest lands are absorbed into the national forest system.

Formation of the new forest was announced Monday by Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman. The forest service is administered by the Department of Agriculture.

Management of the Indian reservation forests previously was handled by the Bureau of Indian Affairs. The forest service will take over April 1.

Forest service management will differ somewhat, said Smith. He said the forest service will attempt to develop comprehensive management on the land of five renewable resources — wood, water, forage, wildlife and recreation.

"Sustained yield" of those resources has come to be known as the multiple use concept of forest management, said Smith.

Smith asked local residents to be patient "while we put the land under the type of management you want."

He also stated that he believes a ranger district headquarters will be located during the next two years in or near Chiloquin and that another will be established in the Chemult area.

Headquarters for the Klamath District, at present a portion of Rogue River National Forest, will remain in Klamath Falls, he said.

Smith stated that personnel to man the new forest will not come all at once, but will move in as men are needed.

Development of the new forest will progress as money becomes available, Smith told a group of stockmen earlier during the day.

Some of the first considerations will be adjustment of forage rights and establishment of a fire protection system, he stated.

The forest will consist of 419,000 acres of Klamath Indian forest lands, and about another 500,000 acres annexed from Rogue River National Forest on the west side, Deschutes National Forest in the north and Fremont National Forest in the east.

About 100,000 acres of Indian land will be added to Fremont Forest, however, since administration of that sector may best be handled through Bly Ranger District, the forest service announced.

The new forest will be slightly larger than both Rogue River and Fremont forests, Smith said, but slightly smaller than the Deschutes.

Lake of the Woods is in Klamath Ranger District, thus will be included in the new forest.

Headquarters will be located in Klamath Falls.

Overflow Crowd Jams Malin Chamber Dinner

MALIN — An overflow crowd of guests of the Malin Chamber of Commerce filled the Broadway Hall Monday night for the chamber's 17th annual crab feed, award presentations and entertainment. More than 500 attended.

Bill Dalton, retiring president, reviewed accomplishments of the past year and introduced the new directors and holdover directors.

Robert Victorin will serve as president, Paul McCulley, vice president, and Wayne Rick as treasurer. Jack Storey, long-time secretary, was reelected. Other member-elected newcomers to the board are T. A. DeMerritt, Dick Halousek, Marion Kirkpatrick and Ed Stastny.

VACLAV KALINA

Holover members are Merle Loosley, Earl Wilson, Paul McCulley, Bob Victorin and Bill Dalton.

During 1960, the chamber sponsored the Malin Boy Scout Troop, the local Little International Livestock Show for 4-H Club and Future Farmer of America members with cash awards; helped raise funds for the Tulelake ambulance which also serves Malin; cooperated with the California Oregon Power Company and Malin Garden Club in the annual Christmas lighting contest and was host to the 1960 Oregon State basketball champions, the Malin Mustangs, at a dinner.

The chamber is also working on an elementary school fencing project for protection of students, is replacing dinner tables used by the public with the help of the FFA and this year will work toward lighting the high school athletic field.

Don Johnson, high school senior, was named by Coach Bob Graham as outstanding high school athlete. Young Johnson will receive a personal trophy and his name will be engraved on one for the trophy case at the high school. The personal trophy was presented by the Malin Simplot office.

Vaclav Kalina, owner of the Broadway Hall, was honored as the outstanding citizen of Malin by the auxiliary of the Veterans of Foreign Wars.

Kalina, also recognized officially as the second oldest volunteer fireman in Oregon, has played an important part in Malin's progress for many years. He has served in official capacities on the chamber of commerce, park board, fire department, the city council, in CZBJ, the Bohemian Lodge, the Masonic Lodge and has "loaned" the Broadway Hall without charge for many years for community gatherings.

Kalina has served continuously for 41 years as a volunteer fireman. A La Grande man has a record of 45 years.

Bob Victorin, program chairman, introduced the program numbers, a quartet of high school boys in barbershop harmony; Lorraine Cacka and Diana Lyon, accordionists, and Bill Whitaker, secretary - manager of the Tulelake-Butte Valley Fair in a "musical riot."

Tiny Burglar Robs Tavern

A small burglar broke into the Spot Tavern, 2404 South Sixth Street, early Tuesday morning, broke open the coin boxes on three machines, had a snack in the men's room and left with an unknown amount of cash.

A city policeman covering his beat noticed the bars on a rear window of the tavern had been pried off. Closer inspection revealed that a screen had been taken off the window and half the window had been pried open. A small ladder was found on the ground; the burglar apparently crawled through an opening 10 inches wide and 21 inches high.

After gaining entry, the thief used a screwdriver or small pry bar to smash the coin boxes of the pinball machine, shuffleboard machine and juke box. The tavern owner said there was not more than $4 in each machine. The burglar left a jar of pepperoni and two soft drink bottles in the men's room, so he apparently had a snack before he crawled back out the window.

City police detectives are investigating.

Rainbow Club Knocked Over

DUNSMUIR — Police are investigating a burglary of the Rainbow Club in which over $600 is reported missing.

The burglary apparently occurred after the bar was closed early Saturday morning. Police said entry was made through a small window at the rear of the building.

Sam Tallerico, club owner, reported $628 was missing from a small safe and cash drawer, also a revolver and a watch.

Copper was the standard of monetary value in ancient Egypt and the early Roman Empire.

Police Crack Check Ring

Two young men and a woman were arrested late Monday on charges of conspiring to pass worthless checks.

Grady William Black, 18, 615 Commercial Street; Edward Daniels, 18, 547 Commercial Street, and Neva Joann Biss Jackson, 21, 2514 South Sixth Street, were the trio arrested. Black was charged with obtaining money and property by false pretenses. Daniels was charged with being an accessory with Black and Miss Jackson was charged with knowingly uttering and publishing a forged bank check.

City police detectives said Black and Daniels had entered Herman's Mens Store, 826 Main Street, about 5 p.m. and Black had tried on some jackets and shoes. After he decided what he wanted, he offered a $45 check in payment to store manager Bill Hall. Hall said he would have to check with the bank and the two men left the store.

Black and Daniels were questioned shortly thereafter and Daniels admitted having some blank counter checks. Miss Jackson was questioned after she was implicated. She said she filled out seven checks but added that she didn't know they were going to be cashed. The trio was lodged in the city jail. Formal charges will be filed in district court.

Reno Women Injured Here

Two Reno women were injured Monday morning when their car went out of control near the Kirk Junction on Highway 97, but a three-month-old baby in the car escaped injury.

Mrs. Opal G. Smith, 44, suffered a broken shoulder and a broken finger in the accident and her daughter, Mrs. Anita Aleen Brazle, 18, received minor abrasions. They were taken to the Chiloquin Clinic for treatment. Mrs. Brazle's three-month-old baby, Theresa Aleen, was uninjured.

State police said the car, driven by Mrs. Brazle, apparently hit a slick spot on the highway about 1½ miles north of the Kirk Junction. The car went out of control, skidded and overturned in the borrow pit on the west side of the highway.

Mrs. Smith was rushed to the clinic by a passing motorist. The women said they would return to Reno Tuesday.

pushed out after 27 years. I agree the building is not in very good condition, but it is not dangerous. The inside is pretty good."

The council granted Fritsch until Jan. 8 to liquidate his business, and either have the building torn down or brought up to code.

Emil Nelson, owner of cabins at 1237 Adams, appeared to protest condemnation of one of the buildings. He informed the council that as soon as he rented the back building, he would use that money to repair the one that was up for condemnation. He admitted that neither building had been rented for a year.

After a motion had been made to give Nelson a six-month grace period, the discussion evolved around the question of drainage in the area, and action was deferred for a week to get a report from the engineering department.

Schortgen reported on a building at 2005 Biehn Street owned by John Cardoza. He asked 90 days to sell the building, and Schortgen agreed that the structure had a lot of value remaining in it. The council approved a motion by councilman Chet Hamaker to grant the 90 days.

The final building was at lot 5, block 1, railroad addition, owned by International Paper Company. Councilman Fleet reported the structure already practically torn down.

The council heard discussion on the feasibility of asking bids on a bookkeeping machine, and authorized the city manager to call for bids. It was estimated it would cost about $6,000 but would result in savings of time and money and would bring about better accounting.

No date was set for the bids to be received, however.

Authorization was granted for the installation of street lighting for the area that lies between the Fremont Bridge and Moore Park alongside Upper Klamath Lake.

There will be about four lights to be installed at strategic points along this route.

City Attorney Henry Perkins reported on the proposed revised traffic ordinance and said it already covered 15 pages, and incorporation of other ordinances was being considered. He expected to have it ready in two weeks.

After a letter was read from Harold Jones, airport manager, regarding the application for $5,000 of state funds for airport maintenance, G. S. Vergeer, city manager, said, "It is correct to say that the city has made no such application for funds, and does not intend to do so in the future."

The question of unauthorized personnel riding in police cars was also brought up by Councilman Ladd Hoyt who requested a clarification of the city's liability in such a case. Councilman Walter Fleet said the departments of the city had been informed a long time ago that such practice was not permitted.

Attorney Perkins stated that legal opinion has ruled that the city could not be liable if it had issued such instructions and a city employe violated them of his own accord.

Sacred Heart Academy Reveals Honor Students

Janice Rosalie Bartell and Patricia Ann Korsen of Sacred Heart Academy have attained highest honors in the graduating class and will be valedictorian and salutatorian, respectively, Sisters of St. Francis announced.

Miss Bartell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Regis Andrieu, 635 Pacific Terrace, has attended the academy for 12 years. She has a cumulative grade point average of 3.8. A 4.0 average is perfect.

She is a prefect of Immaculate Conception Sodality, the Sacred Heart Choir, the Madrigal Singers, the Cecilian String Ensemble, the glee club and the pep club.

During her sophomore year, two of her poems were selected for honors during contests sponsored by the Catholic Daughters of America and the National High School Poetry Association.

Miss Bartell was chosen recently to represent the academy in the Northwest Chorus that will perform during a conference of the National Music Educators Association in Spokane March 15 through 18.

Miss Korsen is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Korsen, 1840 Fremont Street. She has attended the academy for 11 years. Her cumulative grade point averaged 3.69.

As a freshman, she was class president and was class secretary during sophomore and junior years. She is a member of the Madrigal Singers, the Sacred Heart Choir, Cecilian String Ensemble and the pep club. She has been a cheerleader during the past two years.

Miss Korsen last summer was the academy's representative to Oregon's Girls' State.

Miss Bartell plans to study nursing at the University of Portland and Miss Korsen psychology at Seattle University.

Indians Sold Fake Stocks

PORTLAND (AP)—The Klamath Indians were warned today that some salesmen apparently are trying to hoodwink tribal members who are sharing in the assets of the Klamath Reservation termination.

The Bureau of Indian Affairs said the salesmen were trying to sell stocks or to get investments in funds by saying the investments have the approval of the Bureau of Indian Affairs.

The Bureau announcement said the Bureau "has not recommended, approved or endorsed any mutual funds, company stocks or other types of financial investments."

Ganong Backs Bill On Fund

Klamath County Commissioner Frank Ganong spoke to the local government committee of the Oregon State House of Representatives Tuesday morning in support of a bill to provide more substantial cash working funds for taxing districts.

The bill, introduced in the House by Klamath County Representative Carrol Howe, would raise the limit for cash working funds from 10 per cent of annual expenditures to 20 per cent. The funds are used for cash payments between the beginning of the fiscal year on July 1 until taxes are collected and turned over to the treasurer on Nov. 15.

Ganong said the proposal would not change the budget, nor would it raise taxes. Its main advantage, Ganong said, "would be to provide an adequate cash working fund.

"Without an adequate cash fund," Ganong said, "the treasurer's office must issue warrants, which later must be redeemed at face value plus 4½ per cent interest."

Cash working funds must be set aside from surpluses accumulated by taxing districts. Surpluses are created when a district spends less than the budgeted amount or when receipts are higher than anticipated.

"Passage of the cash fund bill (House Bill 1410) would allow most taxing districts that needed it and wanted it to operate on a sound cash basis," Ganong said, "but it requires no district to use it." Ganong said the county itself would not need the full 20 per cent allowance but several of the smaller taxing districts would need the full amount for sound management.

23 Years Ago

Monday, February 27, 1938—Mrs. George Grizzle called the Herald-News Saturday morning and claimed to have the first flower of spring at her home, 927 Jefferson street. The snowdrop, which was found in a flower bed near the house, was fully blossomed is the first in the neighborhood, and, the wife of the county judge thinks, is the first in the county.

Tuesday, February 28, 1938—Howard Barnhisel announced the removal of his real estate and insurance office from 111 No. Ninth street to quarters in the new United States Bank building, 112 So.
