First Lead Seals Fate

By OSWALD JACOBY
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

When Mrs. Charles Moore and Ira Corn Jr. of Dallas won the mixed pairs at the St. Louis Nationals it marked the second mixed pair victory for Dallas in the last three years.

I watched the new champions play in a Bridge Deck duplicate the other day and I was able to see one of the reasons with her hand.

Mrs. Moore sat West and I was watching her hand only. As is customary with me when I kibitz, I try to decide on my own play and it did not take me long to make up my mind what I would lead against four spades.

It didn't take her long either. She placed the four of clubs on the table. From that point there was nothing South could do to make the hand. He won in his own hand and led a trump. Mrs. Moore took her king and led a second club. Then she got in with the ace of trumps and led a third club which Ira ruffed.

He returned the queen of diamonds and just waited for the setting trick. Actually the club lead was not very difficult to decide on, but I wonder just how many players would have followed Dorothy Moore's line of thought and made it. Dorothy had listened to the bidding. Obviously South held four clubs and five spades and North three spades.

In that case, if North held four clubs Ira would be able to ruff the third lead of the suit since Dorothy held the ace and king of trumps she could get three club leads.

What do you do?

A—Bid five spades. Your partner did not double five hearts and he is obviously prepared for further bidding by you. If he can't stand spades he will go to six clubs.

TODAY'S QUESTION

You hold the same hand. West passes after you double three hearts and your partner bids four clubs. What do you do now?
