COMMENDS SUNDAY CLOSING.-Dr. F. Burgette Short conducted the last prayer meeting he will attend before his depart-ure for the East, last night at the Tay-lor-Street Methodist Church. There was an unsually large attendance. Dr. Short spoke of the spiritual life in its relation to Municipal Government. He com-mended Mayor Lang District Attorney

Municipal Government. He com-needed Mayor Lane, District Attorney Manning and Sheriff Stevens for what they have done and have promised to do in regard to Sunday closing of salona. "This transformation," he continued, "which has some about within the past they.

three or four years, is the greatest adver-tisement for the city of Portland which could possibly be made. This is espe-cially so when the newspapers and the initiaters, stand together for the good of the community's morals. Politicians are eighning to consult with the moral lead-rs in communities, and there is coming a be more of a banding together of the moral forces than there ever has been before." Dr. Short will preach his last sermon before leaving the city at the Taylor-Street Church next Sunday.

THERE was a spasm of ragtime or-chestration, a quick curtain and a lar songs, most of which was George Spink's classic; Bill Simmons, a longhaired gentleman in the center, who said "be seated, gentlemen," or words to that effect, and the minstrels were themselves again. Minstrelsy may be on its last legs big crowds. There are many who believe so. That matters little, however, for minstrelsy matters little, however, for minstrelsy is going to die standing up. It has been out of vogue for 20 years, but there are still so many people who enjoy seeing the end mea have trouble with their mouths and hearing the venerable jokes, that any theater in the hand is likely to have plenty of business when it is known that a blackface musicale is to be heard and seen.
