CATERPILLARS DREDGE OOZE FROM RIVER BOTTOM —Bulldozer operators deepen shallow portions of the Klamath River west of the Keno Bridge in the first part of a two-phase project to drain some 10,000 acres of farmland inundated by the Christmas week floods. Officials of the Pacific Power and Light Company were in Klamath Falls Friday to explain various phases of the project to members of the Klamath County Flood Control Committee and representatives of the city and county government. Members of the PP&L entourage estimated the cost of the new channel and erecting the diversion canal—second phase of the construction job — at some $200,000.

Civil Rights Commission Probes Mississippi, Says Progress Made

By United Press International

The U.S. Civil Rights Commission departed Jackson, Miss., Sunday, following a two-week investigation of Mississippi's racial matters in which it concluded that some progress was being made but problems still existed in voting and law enforcement.

"It seems clear that, despite some encouraging signs of change, many of Mississippi's Negro citizens continue to face extremely serious and unwarranted denials in voting and law enforcement," said Commission Chairman Dr. John A. Hannah in a closing statement. Hannah, president of Michigan State University, said "the voice of moderation now being heard after a long silence will begin speaking clearly and forcefully for a progressive Mississippi."

Elsewhere:

Gadsden, Ala.: Rep. James Martin, R-Ala., said during the weekend that Dr. Martin Luther King is trying to gain national attention with his voter registration drive in Alabama to get Congress to pass another law allowing all to vote without qualifying.

Montgomery, Ala.: Gov. George Wallace said Alabama has been "besmirched" nationally by a telegram from the president of the Alabama Press Association protesting the beating of three newsmen in Marion Thursday night who were attacked by white bystanders.

New York: Roy Wilkins, executive secretary of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People said Sunday that school boycotts were not effective in pushing integration.

Philadelphia: Extra police cruised through areas of the city during the weekend following reports that racial rioting was brewing.

King Heading New Selma Vote Drive

SELMA, Ala. (UPI) — Dr. Martin Luther King returns here again today to open the sixth straight week of a voter registration drive in Alabama's black belt described as "the last stand for white supremacy."

King was scheduled to lead another march to the Dallas County Courthouse in a drive that has resulted in violence, mass arrest and growing tension.

The march will be without benefit of a parade permit and it could lead to a face-to-face showdown between King and Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace.

The march is scheduled for 10:30 a.m. EST.

The governor ordered a ban on nighttime marches following violence last Thursday night in nearby Marion in which Negroes and newsmen were beaten and one Negro was shot.

Selma Mayor Joe Smitherman said Negroes will not be issued a permit to parade in his city. Negro leaders also said they had received no answer from a registered letter asking for the permit.

Hosea Williams, a field worker in King's Southern Christian Leadership Conference, told a Negro rally at Brown's Chapel Church Sunday night that he was "utterly disgusted and surprised" that President Johnson has not sponsored legislation to speed up voter registration.

"Johnson is denying the right to vote by being to complacent and apathetic," Williams said. "It is a travesty that our President would sit idly by and not say a word.

"This is the last stand for white supremacy. If we can break the black belt in Alabama for all practical purposes the struggle will be over."

Williams contended that "Negroes are prepared to die like flies and I believe the Jim Clarks (Dallas County sheriff) and Wallaces are ready to kill us like flies."

Barry Takes Strong Line

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Barry M. Goldwater says if it is necessary to bomb Hanoi, the North Vietnamese capital, to win the war in South Viet Nam, "it should be done."

Goldwater, in a television interview, added that he didn't believe the Red Chinese "would do anything about extending the war."

He appeared on ABC's Issues and Answers.

Goldwater said he could not conceive of Peking sending "her only strength, which would be ground forces," against superior U.S. air and sea power.

"It is worth any kind of risk," he said, to protect the freedom of Viet Nam and all of Southeast Asia against Communist aggression.

Some water lilies bloom during the day and others at night. Each, however, closes its flowers day or night.

Solon Refuses Principal Row

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Rep. Billie S. Farnum, D-Mich., doubts whether he could win an argument with a school principal.

James Gauthier, of Pontiac, Mich., complained to Farnum that his grade school principal was not allowing recess with gym class.

"The congressman, who spoke of the "division of power" in society, said Saturday in a letter that just as Congress makes laws, "there is the principal to run her school."
