WANT EAST SEVENTRENTH OPENID.-It has now been a year since East Seven-teenth sireet South, from Powell to Holgate, was opened through regular proceed-ings in the Council, yet only part of the fonces have been removed to the new street lines. Some of the property owners who donated ground and moved their fences complain that the street is still closed up the same as it was before proceedings were had. They are now asking that fences be moved and the street opened. It is hoped to open East Seventeenth street to Midway and thus get another street besides Milwaukie for that portion of the city.

Montavilla School Reunion.—A reunion of the graduates of the Montavilla school with the teachers and principals of the past is years was held last night in the schoolhouse. Professor J. D.
Leatherman, the first principal, now living near Albany, was present as the guest of honor, and N. W. Bowland, present principal, was in charge. Many of the old students attended, and greeied the former principal. A short programma was rendered, which opened by singing "America." Then came a plano solo by Miss May Sisley, when Professor Leatherman, who gave an interesting address, reviewing the work of the school from its organization. He said that there never had been a people in the state more loyal to its school than the people of Montavilla. Following came these num-Rain Damages the Royal Anne and Bing Varieties.

The hard rain yesterday practically rulned the cherry crop in this vicinity. "Buck THE BOOTBLACK" HERE. "Buck the bootblack," a wandering "shiner" known all over the country, arrived in Portland yesterday. He is a dimutive 18-year-old boy and travels from city to city, blacking shoes for a living. He never pays railroad fare, he says, as he either rides the rods or the blind baggage. One of his hobbles is beer check collecting, and his bootblack box, which he always carries with him, is decorated with these souvenirs. He makes it a point Both Royal Annes and Bings suffered severely, according to District spector J. H. Reid. The Bings were cracked by the rain of a week ago, and yesterday's driving downpour put on the finishing touches. The Royal Annes, which were almost ready to be gathered. were so badly split as to be unmarket-able. The Lambert cherry, which is con-sidered the best variety of all, being later than the Bings and Royal Annes, fortuthan the Bings and Royal Annes, fortunately escaped injury.

To obtain a check from one saloon at least in every city he visits. Another of his hobbes is the collecting of press cilippings concerning himself. clippings concerning himself. As soon as he reaches a town, he notifies the newspapers, and usually receives a notice. A little scrap book which he carries, is nearly filled with such notices from hundreds of different papers. Buck's home is said to be in Bellingham, Wash, but when questioned he refused to confirm the story. He says he is on his way home to visit his mother. The inspector declares that this is the firm the story. He says he is on his way home to visit his mother.

T. L. Dixon's Funeral.—The funeral of T. L. Dixon, the young telegraph operator who was killed by being run over by a freight train in the terminal yards Taursday afternoon, will be held from the Raspber-ries especially will be helped. The earli-est variety, the Mariboroughs, is ripening now, but are not soft enough to be af-fected, while the Cuthbets, the leading market crop of raspberries, have not yet begun to turn and will be filled out and improved by the moleture.

Mr. Reid believes that the rain helped the prime crop greatly, and was also a good thing for Bartlett pears, plums and apples. The apple crop of the state will be short this year, but the fruit will be of large size.

Only one city in the United Werthelmer, a well-known citizen of Portland died yesterday afternoon at the Good Samaritan Hospital after a long Illness. A few days ago it was announced that he was improving, but Thursday he took a turn for the worse. He was a brother of Julius, Sig. Fred. Samuel and Joseph Werthelmer, all well-known residents of this city and had lived in Portland from early childhood. He was a member of the A. O. U. W., and resided at 31 North Park street. The funeral will be held from the residence, but the date has not yet been fixed, as it is desired to notify his sister, Mrs. Brunswick, of Indiana.

Lawrer is Contempt.—While acting as a neighborhood row, R. R. Giltner made a remark to Municipal Judge Cameron which carped him a reprimand and a fine of $25, which was afterwards remitted when Mr. Giltner apologized to the court. Giltner was the attorney for Mrs. Thomas J. Hyer and Mrs. Jack O'Conner, in a case involving an assault said to have struck Mr. Hyer and his wife. The case was taken under advisement.
