You are sure to find something, no matter how difficult your choice may be. And then, our experience might help you.

The residents of this city were treated to a rare sight last Thursday morning, in the shape of a minature silver thaw. It was the result of a heavy fog and a strong north wind, the combination coating everything with a thin covering of ice. It was very pretty.

Do not buy blended whiskey. When you want pure whiskey see that it is put up under the government's "bonded warehouse stamp," as is the Continental whiskey, Water Mill whiskey, Normandie rye and F. F. V. rye. Sold by C. D. Willson. ♄

District Attorney W. J. Moore arrived here from Lakeview Friday for the purpose of attending court. When he found that the wheels of justice were clogged with legal holidays he proceeded to Ashland, where he will visit with his family until the Governor sees fit to suspend the holiday program and let matters take their course.

County Clerk Chastain got weary of he holiday business and decided to let the wheels of his office grind on as usual before the advent of the safety valve to business. Therefore, he this week began the recording of all instruments placed in his care, leaving the date of recording blank, to be filled in after the holidays are declared off. No court papers will be accepted, as it is agreed that the holiday proclamation puts an effectual stop to all work of that kind.

Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Mendenhall returned from Iowa this week. They went east some months ago, and after completing their visit returned to Ashland, expecting to remain there for the winter. They changed their mind, however, preferring the ideal climate of Klamath to the marrow-chilling atmosphere of our neighboring city. While east Mr. Mendenhall did some very effective work for Klamath, with the result that next spring will see many Iowa people visit this section.

The question of calling an extra session of the legislature is having the serious consideration of Governor Chamberlain, and if there is any liklihood of the holidays being continued for any length of time it is not all improbable that the law makers will be called together for the purpose of amending a few of the laws that are interfered with by reason thereof.

Archie Mason was up from the dredger for a few hours Saturday and was as full of optimism as ever. It makes little difference to Mason which the cat jumps, he generally has a hopeful view of the situation. He stated that financial flurry was not interfering with his operation any and that the work was progressing rapidly under the new conditions. The second dredger was at Bray and would be on the ground in a few days when it would be assembled as fast as men could put it together. When this second machine is ready for business there will be four crews put to work, and nothing will be overlooked to hurry the work along. No matter where the railroad work is stopped for the winter, Mr. Mason will keep on with his contract until that is completed and thus remove one of the obstacles to the completion of the railroad into this city next year.
