Sunday services at the Christian Church, subject morning sermon: "Pass It Along;" in the evening, "Superstition" This sermon is the outgrowth of six anonymous letters which the pastor has received lately The writers are invited to be present and everybody is welcome.

The Netarts Bay Company has been incorporated, by Chester G. Muryhy, Phil Metschan and E. C. Johnson, all of Portland, where the principal place of business will be located. It has a capital stock of $21,600 divided into 216 shares, and the object of the new corporation is to buy and sell real estate and conduct a general system of improvement of holdings around Netarts Bay, this county.

The enrollment at the Oregon Agricultural College at Corvallis amounts to 655 students, which is nearly 100 more than a year ago, and the probabilities are there will be at least 800 students in the institution during the school year. Those attending the agricultural college from this county are: Frank E. Cross, Homer M. Cross, Hebo; Clifford Duren, Cloverdale; Clyde M. Morris, Oretown; Evans C. Varner, Marx; Avery Applewhite and Otto Schrader, Tillamook.

Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Reynolds and Miss Cosy Clark came in on the stage Tuesday, Mrs. Reynolds and Miss Clark returning from Arkansas, where they had been visiting relatives. The climate was so tropical and different, they were ready to return directly they reached their destination in the Southern state, consequently they are glad to get back to Tillamook, where they can breath the pure atmosphere and get a drink of pure water. Charley, too, had a smile on his face, and looked happy.

In the injunction suit of J. F. Reeher, plaintiff, vs. Wilson River Road Company, a corporation, J. H. McNamer and Wesley Rush, defendants, which was argued before Judge Galloway at McMinnville, upon a motion of the defendants to dissolve the temporary injunction, was taken under advisement by the judge, and Monday morning his decision was received, which ordered that the motion for the dissolution of the temporary injunction be and the same is hereby denied. By this decision the Road Company cannot collect toll on the Wilson river road until the injunction suit is tried out on its merits at the November term of the circuit court, when Judge G. H. Burnett will be on the bench.

We understand that Messrs. Fidel Ganahl, of St. Louis, Mo., W. J. Woodside and L. A Ganahl, of San Francisco, and J. G. Ganahl, of Los Angeles, who were in Tillamook last week looking over the situation, have obtained an option on the saw mill at Hobsonville and Hadley's timber and logging outfit on the Wilson river. These parties are large lumber dealers and ship owners, and if the deal goes through the new company will not only engage extensively in the manufacture of lumber itself, but will encourage others to go into the manufacture of lumber, and will offer their lumber schooners to get it to market, thus overcoming the present difficulty of securing schooners.

Card of Thanks.

I desire to express my sincere thanks to the many kind friends who showed so much kindness to my late wife during her illness and for their many tokens of kindness and sympathy.

Another Pretty Wedding.

Another pretty wedding took place on Wednesday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. Tinnerstet, at Fairview, when their daughter, Miss Anna Tinnerstet, became the wife of Mr. Frank Haberlach, whose home is in Clackamas county, near to Oregon City. A large number of relatives and friends were invited, and in the presence of these the Rev. D. L. Shrode, pastor of the M.E. church, tied the nuptial knot which made them husband and wife. The ceremony took place under a floral bell, the bride looking sweet in a dress of crepe de chine. The bride was given away by her father and Mr. Geo. Tinnerstet was best man, the bride's maid being Miss Emma Haberlach. After the usual congratulations Mrs. Tinnerstet invited the guests to the wedding feast. The groom is a brother of City Attorney Carl Haberlach, whose wife is a sister of the bride. The bride is highly respected amongst the young people and neighbors and acquaintances at Fairview. They received a large number of wedding presents. Mr. and Mrs. Frank Haberlach will remain here until next week, when they will leave for Clackamas county, where they will make their home.

Death of Mrs. Bertha Gray.

We are sorry to announce the death of Mrs. Bertha Gray, wife of J. P. Gray, which took place at Nampa, Idaho, last Friday, where her husband had taken her some weeks previous with the hope that a change of climate would be beneficial, but it was only a question of time that another young wife and mother was to succumb to consumption, after everything had been done to ward off the dread disease. Deceased was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Wallace, and the latter was nursing her when the end came. Mr Gray and Mrs. Wallace left with the remains for Tillamook, arriving here on Wednesday. Deceased was of a loving disposition, and in her death the husband has lost a loving wife and the parents a truly affectionate daughter, who have the sympathy of the entire community in their bereavement. She was married to J. P. Gray on the 22nd of February, 1903, and of the union two children were born, one of whom survive. The funeral took place on Wednesday, the religious service being in the U. B. church, conducted by Rev. N. J. Crawford, the pastor, and which was attended by a large number of sympathising friends. The burial was in the Oddfellows' cemetery and in the grave of her daughter.

DROWNED IN THE SLOUGH.

Too Much Booze and Too Much Water.

Ben Hauxhurst came to an untimely end on Thursday by being drowned in Hoquarton Slough somewhere between five and six o'clock. It seems that Hauxhurst had been drinking and was under the influence of liquor when the Plunger arrived that evening. Mike Peterson tied the boat up along side the Tillamook Lumbering Co.'s scow at the mill dock. This was about five o'clock, and Hauxhurst was lying on the dock. When he returned about six o'clock to take Hauxhurst to supper, he was missing, but he did not think that anything had happened. It is supposed that Hauxhurst either rolled off or fell off the boat, and as no one witness it, he was drowned. Some surprise was caused next morning when Hauxhurst did not turn up, and after Peterson had left with the boat, it began to be surmised that Hauxhurst had found a watery grave. Some of the boys with a pike pole commence a search, and after a while Arthur Stillwell hooked up the body. The body was taken out of the water and then taken to Reynolds & Jones' undertaking establishment. In the absence of Coroner Reynolds from the city, Justice White held an inquest upon the body, when the jury brought in a verdict of accidental drowning.

The remains were buried on Saturday in the Oddfellows' cemetery, the Rev. G. F. Zimmerman, of the Christian Church, officiating.

Deceased, who was born at Salem, Ore., on the 26th September, 1862 leaves an aged mother, three sisters and two brothers, viz: Mrs. Frank Elliott, Mrs. Bremer, Mrs. Day and Joe and Ezra Hauxhurst.
