IMPROVEMENTS ARE MADE AT SUNSHINE DAIRY

F. W. Osterkamp has completed a number of improvements at the Sunshine Dairy a mile east of town. He has installed flooring throughout the barn and walls have been white-washed.

His puretred Holstein herd seems to enjoy the clean quarters. They are sturdy and contented on their solid food diet which is the same 365 days in the year. The Sunshine cows eat no onions, weeds or pasture grass, which frequently gives milk an unpleasant taste.

After the cows are milked the electric way, in about 45 minutes time, the milk is filtered through the filtering machine. Then it goes to a Kelvinator refrigeration plant where it is thoroughly chilled. It is delivered ice cold.

Mr. Osterkamp invites patrons to look his dairy over.

HOG PRODUCERS LIKE PRICE LIFT

A half cent rise in hog prices last week end brought smiles to producers and farmers in this vicinity as 5 cents a pound is better than 4 1-2, and much better than the 3 and 3-4 cents paid a few weeks ago. The upward trend in hog prices will tend to bring up price of cattle and sheep, it is believed.

WARREN BUILDS NEW WALK

Phil Warren completed the construction of sidewalk across the 150-foot frontage of his property and to the Nyssa Flour Mill Saturday. He also built walks in his yard and to the rear of his home. Warren is proud of the new walks—but you should see his fine vegetable garden just across the street. That is something to be proud of.
