Standing of the Clubs.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 11 .-- (Speclal.) - San Francisco put another one over this afternoon in the 12th inning, though either team should have turned the trick long before that time.
The winning run was scored by Wheeler, who drove one out to right, that Porkorney, the new man from Kansas, neglected to hold. Hildebrand followed with a single to left, and Irwin with a Texas leaguer to center, ending it all. Both Henley and Califf were pitching grand ball all the time, the honors being about even up. Each team overlooked chances to get the deciding runs in the ninth, the 10th and 11th innings. Dumb work on the bases, coupled with foolish instructions from the coaches, prolonged the game till the 12th.

Judge McCredie was put off the field and fined $25 for questioning a decision of Umpire Johnson in the seventh McCredie was furious with rage, and tried to strike the indicator man. He was prevented from so doing by several of his teammates, who interfered at the critical moment.

Scattle 4, Vancouver 0.

SEATTLE, Wash., July 11.—(Special.)—Goodwin, who has been traded around among the clubs of the Northwest League until he doesn't know where he is to get breakfast the next morning, could not get the ball anywhere near the plate to-day and Scattle walked home with the big end of a 4 to 8 score. Bert Coy, Dugdale's only sidewheeler, let Van-couver down with seven hits and struck out it, holding the game safe at all stages after the first inning. Vancouver had men on second and third in the open-ing session, with but one down. Then Coy tightened up and pitched himself. tightened up and pitched himself of a hole. He had perfect support, e the work behind Goodwin was as ragged as his own pitching. Errors by Schofield and McIntyre gave Scattle two runs and the others were batted in after loodwin's generosity put men on bases.

Pennant Winners in Tri-City and Spokane City Leagues Will Meet in September.

The winner of the pennant in the Tri-City League and the winner of the Spokane City League pennant will play a series of five games next September for the semi-professional championship of the Pacific Northwest. This move was approved at a meeting of the of-ficers and directors of the Tri-City League held last night in Brainard's gun store.

The meet was a very important one; in fact, more business was transacted than at any meeting of the league officials ever before held. M. R. Whitehead, former manager of the Frakes scheduled between the Trunks and Kelso, and through some misunderstanding was not played, being declared forfelted to the Trunks. Kelso protested, but was voted down 5 to 3. The other protest was over the St. Johns-Kelso game. Brock, of the Apostles, appeared on the field in a Powers uniform, and Kelso tried to have the result of the game changed. This protest, too, was voted down. This protest, too, was voted down.

The schedule for the next three weeks was made up at last night's meeting. It follows:

MEN WAIT CALL TO ARMS

Searchlights Sweep the Waters After Sundown and Theoretical Mines Waiting to Send Approaching Ships to the Bottom.

FORT STEVENS, Or., July 11 .- (Staff Correspondence.)-Hostilities in the coast defense maneuvers about the mouth of the Columbia river open tomorrow morning at 8 o'clock. Thereafter, for a period ing at 8 o'clock. Thereafter, for a period of three days, this post and Fort Stevens will be conducted as if the country was at war with some powerful nation that had designs on capturing a Pacific Coast harbor. Lookouts will be stationed in the primary observation stations day and night. During the hours of darkness powerful searchlights will ply the sea and shore in every direction.

While the Oregon guardsmen stationed

While the Oregon guardsmen stationed here have been leading an arduous ex-istence since the opening of the drill period, the requirements of the next few days will be even more exacting. The gun crews must be handy at all hours of the day and night. Call to arms may sound at any moment.

Every big vessel coming in from sea will be regarded as a fleet of cruisers, battleships and torpedo boats. The minute a vessel pokes it topmasts above the horizon the alarm will be sounded and every one will take his post at a ruh. The moment the vessel gets within the The moment the vessel gets within the range of fire, 12500 yards, it will be located on the finding boards, the morters and 10-inch rifles will be adjusted and the big weapons will begin beating their tattoo of welcome. Blank ammunition will be used, as danger would attach to the using of even sub-caliber projectiles. As the fleet comes into the harbor the submaring torreste crew will job in the submarine torpedo crew will join in the attack. Theoretical mines laid in various parts of the outer harbor will be exploded as the approaching vessel comes into mine field range. dering what all the noise is about Spectacular Night Attacks.

The spectacular part of the period of warfare will be the night attacks. Government tug, "Guy Howard," under Captain Gordon, will leave late in the afternoon and steam up or down the coast out of sight. Then it will attempt to slip in under cover of darkness.

The fact that the tug is going to do its best to get by the guns puts the gunners on their mettle. If the Guy Howard can slip into the harbor, then a torpedo-boat could perform the same feat, no doubt. The boat is to maneuver as its commander sees fit, and will make a dash for harbor at an unannounced moment.

present and registered two complaints against the results of games. One of the games in controversy was scheduled between the Trunks and in. The drills were given over chiefly to from the 12-inch mortars here today, al-though target gractice was not engaged in. The drills were given over chiefly to perfecting the Guardsmen in artillery work preparatory to the opening of ma-neuver war tomorrow. This afternoon the Oregon officers of the two posts were taken to Fort Canby to inspect the fortifications there. At Fort Canby are two emplacements and some heavy artillery. but the guns are out of service and it charge of a small detail, which sees that the equipment is kept in serviceable condition. The strategic utility of the Fort Canby position was explained to the Guard officers. A pleasant trip was had, the officers being taken over on the Government tug Guy Howard.

Governor Views the Troops.

Governor Chamberlain is the guest of Colonel McDonell's command at Seaside today. He reached Seaside on the after-noon train and was escorted at once to neon train and was escorted at once to Camp Everett, which is the name as-signed to the tenied area occupied by the troops here. The Governor was re-ceived by Colonel McDonell and staff. Dress parade and review are being held in his honor tonight, followed by a camp bonfire and the serving of refreshments, at which the officers of the camp and the regulars and militiamen from Forts Steens and Columbia met the state's Chief

The Third infantry is being kept busy with drills and routine duties. Company, battalion and regimental drills are being held twice a day in close and extended order. The camp being maintained in the manner it would be followed by a force in the field awaiting activities.

Plan Assault on Fort.

The entire command may be thrown into the field before the end of the into the field before the end of the week to make an attempt to capture Fort Stevens from the rear. Colonel Walker is anxious to have this maneuver included in the exercises and has invited Colonel McDonell to march on Stevens at any time he wishes. The attack will be made doubtless, in the event arrangements can be made for transportation to Warrenton, four miles from Fort Stevens. The distance from Seaside to the fort is too great considering the sandy roads for the traces to march and return in our the troops to march and return in one

Should transportation be arranged to Should transportation be arranged to Warrenton the maneuver attack promises unusual interest. The infantry supports at Stevens consists of three companies, A. C and K, of the Third regiment, under Major John L. May. Since coming here, these troops have been confining their entire attention to repulsing supposed landing parties, which were trying to get into the fortifications from rear and flanks.
