Mob Shouts for Acquittal.

The sentence is unpopular with the street crowds which have been demonstrating openly for several days in Hau's favor and against the Molitor family. After the adjournment of court for an hour's recess at 8 o'clock last evening, the women of the Molitor party were compelled to remain in one of the offices of the courthouse because it was dangerous to appear in the streets. Their carriage waited for them in the courtyard, and it was several hours before they were able to leave. Meanwhile, enormous crowds had assembled in the streets adjacent to the courthouse. Cordons of police kept the crowds in check for an hour or more, but then lost sight of them, the masses pushing and crushing around the doors with the evident intention of storming the entrance. There were many shouts from the crowd of "Hau is not guilty." The voices pene-trated to the courtroom.

Finally two companies of infantry and a squadron of mounted police ap-peared on the scene and drove the rioters before them. The infantry with fixed bayonets cleared all the streets within three hundred yards of the courthouse. A large number of arrests

Make Hero of Murderer.

The demonstration in favor of Hau appears to be due largely to the same maudlin sentiment which has made a hero out of many another accused of a daring crime. To the unthinking people Hau's daring trip to Baden Baden made him appear a hero. Another reason for the demonstrations that have taken place in the last few days appears in the state's attorney's manner of conducting the prosecution and it is further explained by citizens that the Molitora are unpopular in Karlsruhe, Having lived here until 1829.
