BOARD OF TRADE.—This is the evening for a regular monthly meeting of the Salem board of trade, of which every member has had notice through the press of the city, and as there is important business for its consideration, all members should and likely will be present. Citizens not members of the board are also invited with their counsel and suggestions, that such action as may be taken in all matters affecting the prosperity of the city may receive the hearty approval of its people. One matter that will come up and which will require delicate handling will be the expenditure of the fund raised by real estate men to be used in connection with that raised by the board of trade, so that it can be made most effective in bringing to this valley the most desirable immigrants and in most desirable numbers. The board will probably be called upon to select men to represent these interests at different points, and this is the work that will need care and good judgment. The selection should be made with a view to fitness for the work, taking into consideration personal ability to rustle and an aptness to present subjects fairly but attractively. Personal liking for an applicant should not govern, as there are very good men who are not adapted for that kind of work. But the JOURNAL has faith in the judgment of the board and believes its action will meet general approval.

LONE INDIAN DEAD.—This morning about seven o'clock there died of a fever in a tent among the little trees between the woolen mill and the Southern Pacific depot, Margaret Hutchins, squaw wife of the celebrated old Santiam chief, Joe Hutchins, known favorably to all old settlers of the valley. There was no one to care for her in her illness except lame Ben, the Indian whose cabin stands near by and he did what he could, which was little. She was taken ill Friday and tossed and tumbled upon her rude shake-down in the agony of fever until she passed away this morning. Ben became alarmed and reported the matter at the depot, wishing assistance for the care and removal of the body. A daughter of the deceased, Sally Hutchins, is a pupil at the Chemawa Indian training school near this city, to whom word was sent immediately. The old woman had been residing at Grand Ronde reservation and came over some days ago to be near enough to visit her daughter occasionally. She was a member of the Molalla tribe. Her husband, old Joe, was a noted character in the history of Oregon and was a great friend of the whites. Under instructions from County Judge Shaw, the remains were taken in charge by Undertaker Rotan and will be properly buried this afternoon. The weather being so warm it was deemed unwise to await the arrival of U. S. authorities from Grand Ronde. An interesting historical sketch of the deceased will be printed to-morrow.

CONSTANT IMPROVEMENT.—It is the aim of the management of the Salem Iron works to meet every demand of the large and increasing patronage of that institution. To this end they have secured the services of T. G. Perkins, as general superintendent, a man who learned the trade in England and has had 35 years experience as workman and superintendent in some of the largest foundries of the United States. He is thoroughly conversant with all phases of the work, is an accomplished draughtsman and is the owner of many valuable patents now in general use, besides being ready at any time to make new designs and patterns. He has several of these now in contemplation, such as have not been introduced on the coast but are needed here. Mr. Perkins will at once impress the observer as an intelligent, active business man, and it will be his aim to make the Salem Iron works one of the most prominent and prosperous on the Coast. He likes Salem very much and though only a few months from Chicago, he says it would take a strong force to drive him out of here now.

CITY COUNCIL.—There will be a regular semi-monthly meeting of the council to-morrow (Tuesday) evening and this body is now getting down to a determination to preserve the city's health and promote its beauty, so every part of the business is being pushed vigorously.

THE OTHER CANDIDATES.

A Continuation of the List of Those Who Will Do Marion County's Business for Two Years.

HON. JOHN MINTO.

This candidate for representative is one of the best known men in the state and has a national reputation on many political issues. He was born near New Castle-on-Tyne, England, October 10, 1822; came to America with his father's family in 1840. He came to Oregon in 1844 and settled at Oregon City, afterward coming to this county, where he has lived since. He was elected to the legislature here in 1862, and served three terms in that body up to 1874, when he refused a nomination. Mr. Minto has been a most valuable pioneer in the development of Oregon; he has been a great student, by book and observation of the qualities of animal and vegetable production most likely to be prosperous and of a paying quality, which researches have led him into perhaps the most profound knowledge of Oregon, its resources and capabilities, possessed by any man in it. From the earliest days he has been a lover and advocate of freedom and his American patriotism has made him a most sincere and intelligent advocate of protection to the growing industries of the country. He is a square and manly fighter and there is no person who can say that upon any subject John Minto will try to hide his views—he is as open as the day. As a neighbor and friend there is none more reliable and as a legislator he will be manly and honest.

JOSEPH A. BAKER.

This is another candidate for representative who is one of the respected pioneers. He is 50 years old; was born in Illinois and came to Oregon in 1847. In 1849 Salem became the home of his family and he has lived here continuously since. He served as sheriff of this county two terms, from 1876 to 1880 and was a most careful officer. He has been engaged in the hardware trade since, having been interested with R. M. Wade & Co. until the present season, when he joined in a partnership with A. E. Strang in the plumbing, stove and tinware business. "Joe Baker" is recognized as a good citizen in all that goes to make up the term, and a man who has been careful in the management of his own and the county's affairs is sure to transact the business of the people in the legislature in the same way.

COUNTY SUPERINTENDENT.

Prof. D. W. Yoder, present incumbent and nominee for the supervision of Marion county schools, was born in Mifflin county, Pa., in 1854. He was educated at Valparaiso, Indiana, and afterwards took a course in Jones' Commercial college, St. Louis. He came to Oregon in 1880 and has taught school at Silverton five years. When nominated two years ago there was a bitter fight made on him by prohibitionists, but his satisfactory manner of conducting the office and his unremitting attention to the school interests of the county, have obliterated those ill feelings and he has now merely a nominal party opposition. Mr. Yoder is an industrious officer, and is much more firm in the refusal of certificates to young ladies whom he considers not yet ready for the important work than one would suppose a good looking bachelor capable of being.

COUNTY RECORDER.

John H. McNary, nominee for recorder, is another of Marion county's native sons who received a most enthusiastic and flattering support in the convention. He is only 24 years old and was born on the McNary homestead near Lake Labish. He received his higher education at the State university, Eugene, and has had considerable experience in the mercantile business, having clerked in several of the business houses of the city in recent years. He served as deputy county recorder under the present incumbent, Mr. Starr, until last January, so has the run of the office thoroughly and will go in as a "green hand." He is deservedly popular with the younger element of voters, and there are many young democrats of the county who say they will heartily support Johnny McNary.

HOPS.—Joe Albert, the accomplished and industrious young clerk in the Capital National bank, is bound to figure in the hop market as soon as possible. He sent under charge of Mr. C. D. Purdy this morning a delegation of Chinamen to his ranch two miles above Mehama, in the rich valley of the Little North Fork, where he will make a start in an extensive hopyard, and will do likewise on his farm down by Lake Labish. Joe will succeed if success is at all within reach.

Gentlemen, are you ready to believe that Salem will have a good jobbing trade within five years? If you don't believe it now you will within a very short time, then it will be too late for you to secure that fine location for a wholesale trade—the very best in town for that purpose. Look into this at once. We believe it will double within a year. Salem Land Co Postoffice Block.

Choice can't go wrong where all is of the choicest like those oranges, bananas, green peas, sweet potatoes, etc., at J. G. Wright's.

The clearance sale at the Capitol Adventure store is making many happy buyers these days.

MILL CITY PICNIC.—The Christian church Sunday school at Stayton yesterday had a picnic excursion to Mill City and return, says the Albany Herald. The regular 8:30 train on the Oregon Pacific from this city took out two extra coaches, which were loaded with the excursionists at King's and Lyons, and dropped them at Mill City, where the picnicers enjoyed themselves until late in the afternoon, the train lying over to accommodate them when they returned, voting the occasion a very enjoyable one.

FELLOW CITIZENS:—This campaign will prove to be the liveliest in the history of Salem. Oregon's republican majority in June, 1888, had a big influence in the national republican convention and also brought Oregon into prominent public notice. She has been prospering ever since and 1890 is to be a big Red Letter year for Oregon and Salem in particular. The man who buys Salem real estate will soon be able to wear diamonds if his taste runs that way. Come and see our bargains. Salem Land Co., Postoffice block.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.—The first public meeting of the local union of the Christian Endeavor societies of Salem is held this evening at the First Presbyterian church. There will be reports from all the different branches. The Revs. T. E. Capp, of the Congregational church, and Thomas Boyd, of the Presbyterian church of Portland, will arrive on the evening train. Both will make addresses.

MRS. SCOTT SIDDONS' READING.—No one can say that Mrs. Scott-Siddons is not a magnificent reader. Her world-wide reputation has been too long established to permit of any doubt upon this point. Those who heard her read last night felt that the laurels she has won have been well earned.—St. Paul Globe, November 1, 1889. Mrs. Siddons will appear at Reed's opera house, Wednesday evening, May 7. Secure seats early.

TO-DAY'S PROBATE.—In the matter of the estate of Thos. Mason, deceased, final account is allowed, and the estate is declared settled and closed. In the matter of the guardianship of Nellie M. Bruner, minor, a petition is filed for confirmation of the sale of real estate and the same is granted. In the matter of the estate of Louis B. Donmyer, J. P. Gohn, administrator, files perition for confirmation of sale of real estate and the same is granted.

PLEASANT EXCURSION.—Yesterday was a delightful though warm day, and the street cars of the city were taxed to their utmost capacity in carrying passengers to and from Highland park, where the Second Regiment band discoursed pleasing music in the cool shade a large portion of the afternoon. These Sunday afternoon pastimes are becoming very attractive, there being suburbs on either side of the city where the shade trees, cold springs and soft grassy mounds are influential toward ease and pleasure of body and mind.

SMALL RUNAWAY.—Jefferson & Smith, the butchers, have a horse that does not like the two-story sprinkler, so when it came along in front of the shop this morning he bolted, jumped on the cement sidewalk and would have made a determined runaway if he had not been captured. The damage extended only to a whiffle tree broken and the bad shaking up of the cart.

One of the best opportunities offered to any one who desires a home is that of the two choice lots in Highland addition. These lots were sold on contract and there is a clause in the contract which reduces the price of the lots nearly one-third in case you will put a good building on them. Call and let us show them to you. Salem Land Co., Postoffice block.

A CALL TO MINISTERS.—It is requested that the ministers of the different churches meet in the study of the Methodist church at 9:30 to-morrow (Tuesday) morning for the consideration of important matters. W. Rollins, Sec.

CITIZENSHIP.—Daniel Nash, a former subject of Queen Victoria, to-day obtained his full citizenship papers before County Judge Shaw.

LICENSE TO WED.—A marriage license was issued to-day by County Clerk Babcock to W. A. Hunt and Kittie Green, of the upper Santiam country.

PLEASE REMEMBER.—Please take notice that the hours for irrigating are from 5 to 8 o'clock a. m., and 5 to 9 o'clock p. m. No irrigation will be allowed outside of these hours. Salem Water Co. 5-5-2t.

A Quick Relief and Cure.

At this season of the year the most vigorous and hearty people often have a feeling of weariness, tired and worn out, without ambition to do anything, and many break out in pimples and boils. They give an activity to the liver, purify the blood and by their mild tonic action, new vitality and strength to the entire system. Sold at 25 cents a box by Smith & Steiner.
