The Arozina frontier is more than three hundred miles long and is only imperfectily patrolled by mounted gaurds. Onlya few days ago fifty-three Chinese who arrived at Guaymas, from San Francisco by steamer, disapeared very suddenly and it is supposed that they have slipped into the United States.

RIDDLED BY BULLETS.

KLAMATH, Or., May 13.—Six Indian policemen backed up by twenty volunteer Indians, were compelled to kill a crazy at Klamath Sunday morning, John Major. One of the Klamath indian volunteers commanded by Dave Hill during the Modoc war, blazed away with his Winchester from behind a log until he fell dead, riddled with bullets from guns in the hands of his twenty-six pursuers

Early Sunday morning while his wife was bathing in one room, Major entered from another and killed her with a bullet from his Winchester. He then flew from his house, which is close to the Williams river bridge, to a house occupied by another Indian, whom he greeted excitedly and requested to walk out for a conversation. While walking ahead, in obedience to Major's command, he was shot in the back, the ball coming out through his breast.

After this second murder the old Modoc fighter ran to the woods, where he met Frank Johns, another Indian, whom he greeted excitedly, and requested him to take a walk for "some talk." Not liking his look and tone, Johns refused to accompany him, whereupon the crazy Indian pulled his Winchester. Johns put spurs to his steed just about then and escaped, pursued by Major and his old Winchester.

Johns was not long getting to the "church-house," on Williamson river, where he reported to the Indians assembled there for worship the fact that Major hadcharged him from the rear, and subsequently, when "Lady Hook" arrived with the information that Major had murdered his wife and an Indian man, the committee of twenty-six was chosen and the meeting rapidly adjourned.

When Bob Hook discovered Major behind a log, he was surprised at the prompt manner in which the fugitive rose and blazed away, but the police suddenly rolled off their horses and the other Indians covered him with their guns. They carried his completely riddled carcass back to the bridge. He was buried Tuesday, as were his two victims. He had always up to that time, been a quiet, peace-loving Indian.

SENDING SALMON TO GERMANY.

ASTORIA, May 13.—It will be remembered that some months ago a Mr. Linderberger was here negotiating for the purchase of Columbia river salmon, which was to be salted and shipped to Germany. He offered to buy 500 carloads, at prices ranging from 6¼ to 8¼ cents a pound. He did not meet with much success here, but did better with Alaska men. Through H. W. Tibbals, of San Francisco, and others, he has made arrangements with different Alaska canners for eighty carloads—800 tons—of king salmon. They are to weigh ten pounds to a side, to be packed in 600 lb. tierces, and will be taken from the various points by a steamer chartered for the purpose to Sitka. From there they will be taken to San Francisco, and shipped from thence to Germany.
