AFTER A TRAIN WRECKER.—Lon Harris, of Alameda, Cal., a detective in the employee of the Southern Pacific company, was in this vicinity last week looking for a tramp who was supposed to have been implicated in the wrecking of the overland train at lake Labish. A man answering the description of the one wanted was seen at Creswell last week. A woman driving along the road met him and asked him some question. He gave her a short answer and then climbed the fence and made for the hills. Scott Chrisman, constable at Cottage Grove, learned of this and went down to a point to where he supposed the man would pass if he went on, and watched for him all night. The next day he stationed an other man while he went on south of Cottage Grove. They watched three days and nights but saw nothing of him. Detective Harris came up and looked around but no further trace of the man could be found, so the search was given up. One tramp was arrested at Portland but after an examination was discharged. The chances are, the man seen near Creswell is crazy instead of a fugetive from justice.—Eugene Register.

These detectives who are out in search of train wreckers might do Oregon a great favor by returning their victim when caught to Dr. Harry Lane, Superintendent of the Oregon Insane Asylum. If the truth was known doubtless this man whom the shrewd railroad detectives have been chasing would prove to be the same one whom Dr. Lane has been inquiring after ever since he escaped from the asylum some two or three weeks ago. Mutual aid might come if the asylum authorities and the detectives would hold a conference and lay plans for their work.

CHANGED THE RESULTS.—The city council met last night in pursuance to the adjourned meeting of Tuesday night to decide who should be the councilman from the fourth ward. In the presence of Mayor Williams, Mayor elect D'Arcy, Recorder Conn and a quorum of the city fathers, Councilman Gray drew the slips from Mayor William's hat which decided the result of the recent election. The lottery scheme last night changed the order as announced previously. Instead of Jap. Ellis acting as alderman from the fourth ward Hugh Lamoreux will have that honor. The decision was made last night by six slips of paper being prepared, three bearing the name of one candidate and three that of the other. These were placed in a hat and thoroughly mixed, and John Gray in plain view of the candidates and all others present drew out a slip which was to be the final decision. It bore the name of Lamoreux, who was declared elected.

RESULTS OF CARELESSNESS.—The Grant County News says a large number of John Carry's sheep that died last winter near his residence were left where they fell, and the June sun made the stench almost unbearable, yet the family lived in it all summer. As a consequence diphtheria or a fatal kindred malady was created, and is now doing its deadly work in that section of the country.

RAILROAD COMMISSION.—It is understood that Baker county will have several aspirants for a place on the railroad commission at the next session of the legislature. If it is possible for a democrat to secure the place we would favor one of that political persuasion; but if a republican is to fill the place, give us the present incumbent, Hon. James P. Faull, who has served in the past with distinction.—Baker City Democrat.

SATURDAY EVENING.—The discussion of the Farmers' Alliance in the Alka-Hesperian society, will be had Saturday evening instead of this evening, as announced. A good attendance is desired to-morrow evening. Every member is urged to be present.

DON'T GO UNSHOD.—On these misty days when it is so moist under foot it is a good plan to provide for dry feet, and the place where you can do it to the best pecuniary advantage is at the Farmers' store of B. Forstner & Co.

A PENDING WRECK.

The Old Trestle Near the Salem Flouring Mills in a Dangerous Condition.

The attention of a JOURNAL reporter was called to the condition of a trestle on a switch of the Southern Pacific road near the Salem flouring mill, and was asked to go down and look at it. The whole trestle was found to be in a badly decayed condition. Many of the piling on which the track is laid, are almost ready to tumble down.

The track on this trestle is double and is on piles, six in abreast driven about 20 feet apart, and of course would answer the purpose well enough were they sound, but in the rotten condition they now are in, the trestle is liable to fall at any time when a loaded car stands on it. Thursday morning two empty cars were standing on the trestle. The entire trestle is only a few hundred feet long and the height from the ground is a gradual decline from a surface level at the east end to about 30 feet at the west.

This part of the track is not used a great deal, yet enough that a serious wreck may occur there some time. The mill company have a roadway from the second story of their warehouse out to the trestle and load cars with wheat and flour while standing on it. The mill hands are afraid of the whole thing going down at any time. Farmers coming to the mill have been accustomed to hitch their teams to the piles of the trestle. But of late the mill hands have warned them of the unsafe structure, and that a team was in danger standing under it, and now farmers are afraid to even drive under it at all. This needs looking into by some of the proper authorities.

A MIXED-UP MESS.—Jack Arland is up for hearing before Esquire Goodell this afternoon on a charge of attempting by threats of ex posure to compel Burgess Rutledge to do an act against his will—otherwise to leave the country and his family. These are the characters from the Clear Lake mill, now somewhat celebrated in the local courts on account of various difficulties resulting from the intimacy of Arland with Mrs. Rutledge. Deputy District attorney D'Arcy is conducting the examination for the state and Arland, who is quite a shrewd chap and has more knowledge of Rutledges past life than the latter considers pleasant, is conducting his own defence. It is a mixed-up mess, of not very pleasing odor, and the result will be of public interest only so far as exciting curiosity in the neighborhood may be satisfied. On going to press it was learned that Arland was acquitted.

REPAIRING THE STREETS.—Gravel is to day being hauled and dumped into those unsightly mudholes on Commercial street in front of The Willamette hotel. This is only one of the many places that need immediate attention of the street commissioner. Muddy and ill kept streets is one of the first things to disgust strangers when they visit a city. Streets that are clean and sidewalks in good repair is the best advertisement for a city to those seeking a location. Let the work that has been so nobly begun continue to the city's best interests and the comfort of her people.

WINTER SET IN.—The overland train which was due here this morning at 7:19 did not arrive until this afternoon. The delay was caused by heavy snow storms in the Sy-ki-you mountains in California. This is an indication that winter is surrounding us even if roses are blooming in the open yards in Salem. These California trains in less than a day's run pass from the cold snowy country into either the mild valley of the Willamette or that of the Sacramento where all the appearance of spring yet remain, except the autumn leaves.

A CONSPIRACY.—Ed. Hirsch, Phil. Metschan, Uncle John Minto J. Q. Wilson, are conspiring to hold an old settler's blow-out of some kind at Salem. No one doubts but that some of these gentlemen are old settlers and when they put their heads together no power on earth can stop them. There is some kind of pioneer mischief or fun brewing.

THE GRIP.—If there is anything a man wants awful bad when he does want it, it is a grip. Now is the time to see the biggest stock ever in Salem, at Geo. A. Johnson & Son's.

INCORPORATED.—The United Brethren in Christ filed articles of incorporation for a new church at Hood River, Oregon, to day with S. E. Bartness, J. L. Zeigler, and M. P. Neff as incorporators.

Hon. Wm. Armstrong is out today, after quite a severe struggle with malaria. Mrs. Armstrong has also been suffering from some kind of general debility, and is in a slow way of improving. There is need of a sanitary revolution in the household of the generally cheerful Armstrongs, and the JOURNAL hopes to be reporting better doings.

The finest and choicest lines of Xmas cards and booklets ever shown in Salem is now on exhibition at F. S. Derborn's.

ARTICLES.—Ladies wishing choice articles in the line of fancy groceries and good things for the table cannot afford to pass by the stock of Squire Farmer & Co.

BEAUTIFYING THE GROUNDS.—A force of men have been at work for some time grading and leveling the grounds around the state house. Gravel drives are being made and all the old rubbish and leaves are being raked up and burned. A curb has been put in on the south and east sides, which with the improvements being made will give the grounds a very pleasing appearance. It is intended to have the work all completed before the next legislature meets.

DEMOCRATS NOT SATISFIED.

Threatening to Take the Ellis-Lamoreaux Election Contest into the Courts.

The result of the contest for alderman is likely to result in litigation, as the democrats of this city are not satisfied with the result. Inquiry among the party leaders shows an excited state of feeling. They claim 1st, that the ballots were handled by persons who were neither judges nor clerks when first counted. 2d, that the official recount was not lawfully conducted, the opposition not being represented, and only interested parties present. 3d, that Mr. Lamoreaux is not a properly qualified citizen. As to the latter charge, it is believed by the JOURNAL to be without foundation, as Mr. Lamoreaux can prove that he secured his papers nearly a year ago. As to the other charges they can only be determined in court, and they are given as they are reported on the streets.

A republican who was present at the official count was seen and makes a general denial of the claims of the democrats, and says as a rule that party comes out second best when it raises a contest over the purity of the ballot. The count was fair and honest and if Ellis had drawn the winning ticket out of the lot, not a word would be heard as to any frauds. Mr. Ellis was seen and said he would not push a contest tho' he believed the first count of the ballots was correct. It is to be hoped the whole matter will be dropped.

THE FURNITURE FACTORY.

The Hudson & Son manufacturing Co. Ready to Act—The Citizens Will Do Their Part.

The Board of Trade received a letter this morning from T. H. Hudson and Son, of Ohio, in answer to the telegram which was sent asking them to send their representative, that the board was unanimous in the opinion that the money could be raised. The letter states that they had sent their proposition some time since and that they were ready to act when the money was pledged. There seems to be misunderstanding between the company and the Board of Trade. The proposition sent by the Hudson Manufacturing company it seems was intended by them to be sufficient for the board to act upon in raising the money, while some of the members wanted a representative to come and have the propositions all securely signed before an effort was made to have the money pledged.

While this company are strangers to the Salem people, this city is possibly not very familiar to them, and doubtless a thorough understanding would be the best for all concerned. Yet the company seems to think that the proposition sent was formal enough, and some of the board were of the same opinion. The proposition from the firm said nothing as to when the money was to be paid. That of course the board, or a committee to perfect the matter could fix, by a certain amount being paid when the building was completed and the remainder when the factory was in operation. The above was the plan suggested by some of the board at their last meeting.

The people are in earnest and the company seem to be of a business turn and the matter is expected to all be arranged in a short time when they will be here at work building the factory. No one doubts but the money can be raised in a very few days when that part of the work is begun. Every letter from Hudson & Sons give the people more confidence that they mean business and that they will build the much needed and desired factory here in Salem.

DON'T KNOW THEM.—The JOURNAL is in receipt of a letter from Harden Greenwell, of Home City, Kan., inquiring if there are any heirs of John and Anna Forist living in this county. As yet no heirs have been found. If there are any heirs here their fortune may depend on their making themselves known.

Everything from a collar button to a suit of clothes and an outfit of the choicest winter bedding can now be had at the store of the Thos. Kay Woolen mills. They have all the latest styles of furnishings.
