INTERVIEWED

D. Solis Cohen Talked.

Tells a Woeful Story About the Conditions.

Hon. D. Solis Cohen, one of the shrewdest and broadest of Portland business men, has just returned from an extended visit to the Eastern states, where he went on business and to investigate the social and business conditions which are now in a state of striking eruption. Mr. Cohen has been interviewed by a Telegram reporter. In the interview he said:

"The great problem now to be solved is the disaster arising from the centralization of trade in the large cities, which is sapping the ambition of the young business men there.

"Monopolies and trusts are now making money faster than ever," says he, "while those outside of their pales can hardly make ends meet. But there is any quantity of money—tons of it—seeking safe investment, which cannot be found anywhere."

"What is your estimate of safe investment, according to the idea of the Eastern capitalist?" was asked of Mr. Cohen.

"Where they can get three dollars gilt-edged security for one."

"Don't you think that the operation of a protective tariff law will change conditions?"

"Not the slightest," emphatically and decisively answered Mr. Cohen. "The tariff is not the potent factor in the restoration of a prosperous state of affairs as we were always led to believe. I have discussed the tariff with quite a number of prominent and intelligent Republican manufacturers and importers, and they are unanimous in the opinion that no kind of tariff will cut a figure in delineating the existing distress of the country. Some even go to the extreme of throwing the ports wide open to free trade, as a matter of experiment.

"The only thing that strikes me as a means of taking a number of thousands of hands out of the field of idleness is the lameness of the country of manufactured goods. Factories will soon open to supply the demand, and when the market becomes glutted they will shut down again. It seems to me that any remedy offered so far is but a temporary one.

"One thing that not only struck me forcibly and unpleasantly was that I could find no Portland paper on sale east of Omaha. In fact, I scarcely heard the name of this city mentioned once where I heard Seattle spoken of a hundred times. And the papers of that city also can be found on sale at nearly every news stand. Besides that, was greatly annoyed at reading in the eastern papers that Wolff and Zwicker were building United States torpedo boats on the Sound, and that they had a great plant at Seattle.

"The Eastern labor muddle is another subject not easily grasped by one-tot on the one. It is a menacing national octopus, invading some of the soundest intelligence in the country, and seeking nothing more than fair change to subsist.

"One Sunday afternoon I attended one of those monster labor meetings, remaining there from 2 to 6:30 o'clock in the evening. I listened to men whose utterances were plethoric with wise suggestions such as one does not hear from the political rostrum, and which I felt were spoken for no purpose of demagogism.

"Thousands upon thousands of the most distressed men and women listened to them, and while the speakers had no attention to cast a firebrand into their midst, I dread to contemplate the ultimate result. I am certain that we are on the eve of a social revolution unknown to modern history, and which no legislation can thwart. In truth, I fear that we have reached a crisis in the gigantic magnitude of the distress of our people that no legislation can well neutralize."

Washington Gossip.

WASHINGTON, July 28.—The principal topic of discussion at yesterday's cabinet meeting was the legal aspect of the proposed establishment of a military post in the Alaskan gold fields. In some quarters there is a doubt as to the power of the executive to establish a post without the authorization of congress, but the weight of opinion appeared to favor the exercise of such right by the executive as an emergency measure.

Secretary Alger has already made necessary preparations for carrying out his plans to establish the new post. The commander of the troops will be Captain Ray, a man well-known for his soldierly ability, and having a fine reputation as a leader of expeditions. He having established the United States relief station at Point Barrow, the farthest northerly point in Alaska. Captain Ray at present is at Fort D. A. Russell, in Wyoming.

The post will be established near Circle City. The North American Trading and Transportation Co. has offered to transport the troops to Alaska, and to land them at their destination at $10 per man, and $80 per ton for freight.

ARMOR PLATE.

WASHINGTON, July 28.—The armor producing companies have declined to furnish to the navy department the armor needed for three battle ships at $300 per ton, the price fixed by congress. Secretary Long has taken the second step marked out by congress and has called upon the shipbuilding companies themselves to submit proposals for procuring and fitting the armor. One of them, the Union Iron Works, of San Francisco, has already responded, declining like the armor companies, the department's invitation. There is little doubt that others will make a like answer, although there is a small chance that some of the ship builders may continue to secure control of one of the plants, which the armor makers profess their readiness to sell, and turn out the armor they need for the ships in hand. If, however, as expected, the shipbuilders replies are unfavorable, secretary Long will proceed one step further, and appoint a board of officers to carry out the direction of congress and frame a plan for the establishment of a government armor plate plant.

IN MANHOOD.

TACOMA, MONDAY, July 28.—The United States cruiser Raleigh returned here. Consul General Burke reports that he has been received everywhere along the coast with marked respect. He has not yet received an answer from the sultan to the demands made upon him, growing out of the recent irritating attitude of the natives toward American citizens, but the reply is expected daily and it is understood that the government will make all concessions asked. The demonstration, made by the Raleigh, had the desired effect and the moors will hereafter show more consideration for persons and property of Americans.

BATTLE-SHIP INDIANA.

WASHINGTON, July 28.—Secretary Long has decided to send the big battle-ship Indiana to Halifax to be docked and cleaned. It is felt to be necessary to do this in order to prevent injury to the hull of the ship from corrosion. The department would have much preferred to send the Indiana to Port Royal, S. C., for this purpose, but the opinion of the best navigators in the navy department was that it would be needlessly risky in the unsatisfactory condition of the approaches of the dock there.

A Free Silver Wagon.

A van, drawn by a fine team of iron gray horses, drove into the city Tuesday and was stationed near the Smith bank for several hours. Two men were aboard. One was J. J. Dwyer, a free silver orator who made 300 speeches in Cook county last fall. He bears a striking resemblance to William J. Bryan and the fact was remarked by many as he spoke on the money question in the evening. The other man aboard the wagon was H. J. Willis, who was kept busy taking subscriptions for W. H. Harvey's publications and a free silver paper. The wagon left Chicago about eight weeks ago. They have not come direct to this city but have made side trips thirty to fifty miles each way from the central line. It will zig zag its way until it reaches the Gulf of Mexico.

The object is to keep the free silver doctrine before the people. The wagon is adorned with the pictures in colors of Washington, Jefferson, Jackson and Lincoln and the following words: "The patriot order a practical plan for the study of Republican government and to promote the principles of humanity; The dawn of a new civilization; Man serve himself by promoting the common good; prejudice are the weapons of ignorance." Lincoln's picture is on the rear door with the words, "He lived and died for Humanity." On an average 400 pounds of literature are disposed of every twenty miles by the wagon. This is the experimental wagon. It weighs 2,500 pounds. Tents and cooking utensils are carried and they eat and sleep in it. Forty similar wagons are now being constructed and will leave Chicago later in all directions. Pekin, Ill. Times.

Was There a Crime?

ASTORIA, July 27.—It is reported that a tragedy occurred at the mouth of the river but particulars are lacking. Two men say that they saw the captain and boatpuller of a boat engage in a quarrel that one of the men was thrown overboard that when he attempted to climb back he was beaten off with an oar, and then he disappeared and was drowned.

Another report comes to this city that William Lucas, boatpuller for Joseph Bernard, fell from the boat and was drowned, and that the accident occurred off Scarborough head. It is possible that the reported tragedy was in reality the accident whereby Lucas lost his life.

WHEN they get a man to jail, he cannot follow his natural inclinations. His enjoyment of life is limited. He cannot eat what he wants to—he is limited to a very frugal diet. He is alive to be sure, but life doesn't possess very many advantages.

Are not all these things equally true of a dyspeptic? For all of the real enjoyment he gets out of life, he might as well be in jail. He cannot eat what he likes, nor as much of it as he would like. If he transgresses any of the rules of his diet, he is punished for it. He suffers much, gets little sympathy.

Dyspepsia starts with indigestion, and may lead to almost anything. Indigestion means a variety of things—it shows itself in many ways. At first, perhaps a little heartburn in the stomach, a little sourness, windy belchings and heartburn. Headaches begin to come pretty soon after that, and biliousness and a foul taste in the mouth in the morning. Chronic constipation is almost inevitable, and it is probably the most serious trouble that ever taken hold of a man. Its seeming simplicity is the thing that makes it most dangerous, because it leads to neglect. Constipation means that the body is holding poisonous, impure matter that should be gotten rid of. The poison is being reabsorbed into the blood and the whole body is being filled with it. Impurity in the blood may lead to almost any disease. There is no telling what may come of it. Constipation is the start of it all. And yet people are careless about it. It is the most serious thing in the world, and the easiest to cure if you go about it right. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cure constipation. Cure it positively, certainly, infallibly. Cure it so it stays cured. Cure it so you can stop taking medicine.

And that is something that no other remedy in the world will do.
