THE TYPOGRAPHICAL MAFIA

The Western Laborer of Omaha on March 1st will begin the publication of a Serial History of the secret organization inside the International Typographical Union, popularly known as "The Brotherhood of the Union." "The Caxton League," "The Wahneta Association," and "Circle of Ten."

Shelby Smith, of Washington, D. C., is the author of the History, having spent more than two years' time accumulating data upon which is based the articles that will appear exclusively in the Western Laborer. Mr. Smith was a delegate to the Colorado Springs convention, and is a vigorous and entertaining writer.

The author's pledge: "Every statement made can be proven in court, if necessary."

In his introductory remarks the author says: "This is not an expose. It is a history. While every member of the International Typographical Union has heard more or less of a secret organization within the Union, comparatively few have any idea of its purpose, its methods, or its work."

The author then takes the reader through an interesting period of the organization's history up to the time the first national lodge of "The Brotherhood of the Union" was organized at Detroit, in 1878, reciting the unpublished history of the "inside" organization's work in connection with the Detroit convention; following at once with a story of the storm that came over the "inside" boys who attended the next I. T. U. convention at Washington.

A chapter on a Philadelphia shaking-down butts in about here, and is followed by a history of the stirring events that were pulled off at the Kansas City convention, the surface of which was as smooth as the average, but underneath (on the "inside") occurred the most bitter struggle that had ever taken place in the organization.

The author then deals with the second re-organization of the "inside" at the Atlanta, Ga., convention, in 1890, when it has its third birth and christening under its sweetest of all names, "The Wahneta Association;" followed immediately by the president's visit to Augusta, Ga., where he intended to establish a tribe, but failed.

Then follows the "inside" history of the Chicago convention, in 1893, and the merry time the anti-Wahnetas had from that year to the adjournment of the most exciting and dramatic convention in the history of the I. T. U. which was held at Colorado Springs in 1896.

At last reaching the "Circle of Ten" organization—the pride of the "inside" boys who run things today—the little band that sent Sam Donnelly to the barn. This will be the first time this latest organization was uncovered in print.

THE "COLOR LINE" CAUSES DEEP TROUBLE

When the members of a woman's club get into hot water the state of things is politely described as a "condition of unrest."

A lively ebullition seems to have been set up in the State Federation of Woman's Clubs over the tremendous question of, "drawing the color line."

This dear, good woman was one of a number who wished to shelve the "color line question" for a time, but her club voted for "erasure" of the line, and she is huffy about it. Among the reasons she has gaven for her resignation are these:

The California Club was organized to do practical work, and while the discussion of ethical questions—such as the race question, or the immortality of the soul—was not excluded from the aims and objects named in the Constitution, it was understood that the energies of the members of the club should be directed in other lines, such as the removal of garbage from our own back doors, the educations of our own poor children, the preservation of our fast disappearing forests and other pressing needs.

* * * * *

Preserving the integrity of the General Federation of Women's Clubs should this time be paramount to any other issue. The danger impending that organization is imminent and real. The color line question is a vague, foreign matter, foisted upon the Clubs by dreamers, theorists and fanatics, and it should be held in check or submerged till an opportunity for its natural solution arrives.

It does seem a little funny—if the word may be used without irreverence—to have the Federation of Woman's Clubs in danger of disruption over such "a vague, foreign matter" as the color line, while such weighty problems as "the removal of garbage" cry aloud for effective solution, not to speak of the children and the "fast-disappearing forests."

These public-spirited women would better stay the axe of the sordid woodman or spirit the orodous garbage from back yards and other places, than tear each other's eyes and back hair over mere questions of light and shade.

Sold by all grocers.

Capt. Bill Miley of Aurora as commissioner has made mistakes. He is not an angel of perfection. But in his four year's term he has done as much to pull down that $100,000 debt to nothing and reduce the running expenses of this county about one-half, as any man in the county. If he would take another term, the county might do well to keep such a man in office.

England offers the Boer leaders safe escort to attend a peace conference. THE JOURNAL and all the rest of the Boers militant ought to take England at her word.

PIMPLES

And other eruptions which mar the skin are more than a disfigurement and annoyance; they are a positive detriment to the business interests and social successes of the man they mark. Other things being equal, the man with a smooth skin and clear complexion will find it easier to get a good position or a good wife than the man whose face shows the impurity of his blood. That's the real point. The blood is bad. And for that very reason any treatment which is designed to cleanse the skin must cleanse the blood.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cleanses the blood from the clogging impurities which breed and feed disease, and so cures pimples, boils, eczema, and other diseases which have their cause in impure blood.

The sole motive for substitution is to permit the dealer to make the little more profit paid by the sale of less meritorious medicines. He gains. You lose. Therefore, accept no substitute for "Golden Medical Discovery."

"I have used your 'Golden Medical Discovery' in a case of scrofula, and cured it," writes Mr. Wm. D. Shamblin, of Kenny, Cherokee Nation, Ind. Territory. "I took five bottles of it for my blood. I had 'ringworms' on me and I would burn them off and they would come right back, and they were on me when I commenced using 'Golden Medical Discovery,' which took them away, and I haven't been bothered anymore."

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cleanse the bowels and stimulate the sluggish liver.

A FLAX FIBRE PLANT

Is Just About Secured for This City.

Mr. Wilcox of the Flouring Mills Co Favors Progress.

There was a solid lot of Salem business men in attendance Wednesday at four o'clock, when the Salem Push club held its regular semi-monthly session. Before it was over they had got a great big hustle on to land a flax fibre proposition.

The committee reported that the sawmill site for Livesay & Sons was secured and closed.

In relation to securing the Flax Fibre Plant to be established by E. Bosse of Green Bay, Wis., following was disclosed:

That the company wishes a free lease of the old mill fifteen months, chance to use the grounds to rot and dry straw and store fibre in the large mill, the only charge for the property to be one-half the taxes on the property and the expense of getting the water into the ditch. This would only cost about $500.

Mr. Bosse expects to bring the seed from Belgium, instruct farmers how to plant, fetch machinery to Salem and install it, turn on the power and go to work. If they could make such fibre here as he believed they could they would put in a $100,000 linen factory.

Mr. Bosse was invited to address the club, and while he speaks Belgian and French, it was not difficult to understand him in English. He is a man of energy of character stamped upon every feature. He inspired confidence among all present and his argument was plain and direct.

Good flax makes good fibre. Good flax fibre will make good thread. Good thread makes good linen cloth. They would put in 100 to 150 acres of flax on rented land the first year. A linen factory to make 10,000 yards of linen a week would require ten thousand tons of fibre. With seed the crop will yield two tons to the acre at $12 to 20 a ton.

Mr. Theo. B. Wilcox, on behalf of the Salem Flouring Mills Co., in granting all the requests of the club, closed his letter with these encouraging words: "In granting these terms, I have aimed to meet your wishes as freely as I can see my way to, and if there is anything which I have not granted that is essential, please communicate with me further, as I and my associates have every desire to facilitate the establishment of any business in Salem, and will do whatever is in our power to assist the laudable efforts of your organization."

Mr. F. J. Wilson stated that it was necessary to import seed about once in three years to get the best fibre. He had spent a large part of his life in the flax industry of Ontario, Canada. There they got a crop of 1½ to 2½ tons to the acre, and the crop was equal to $25 an acre. They sowed about 75 pounds to the acre. Here in Oregon people had been told to sow as high as four bushels to the acre. The same fibre that sold for 9 cents in Canada fetches 12 cents a pound at Scio. It was the most profitable industry that could be established here.

Mr. Stolz, of the committee on manufacture, moved that the Greater Salem Commercial Club investigate the expense necessary to put the old frame mill in order for the flax fibre industry as proposed by Mr. Bosse and report at 4 p. m. Thursday. Carried.

The committee on manufacture was instructed to investigate and report on the expense of putting water into the old frame mill.

BAKER CITY MINING KING

Tried in Iowa for Mail Frauds, Enters Baker With Glory.

To the blare of trumpets and in the entrancing strains of martial music from the "White Swan" band, Letson Balliet, "the Mining King of the West," entered Baker City Saturday night. Red fire and lime light illumined the city. These, it may be parenthetically stated, are the only street lights Baker has, save the moon, which periodically lights the way. Mr. Balliet was driven to the New Geiser Grand Hotel and was tendered the freedom of the city.

While Landlord Albert Geiser was doing the honors with great eclat, he noticed a quiet individual in the lobby who never took his eyes off of the "Napoleon of Finance." In his most suave and urbane manner, Mr. Geiser approached the silent stranger and began to hand out remarks about the great event. The conversationless man did not warm up.

"Are you waiting for some one?" queried the Boniface.

The speechless man refused to grow loquacious.

"Who are you and what do you want, anyway?" asked Mr. Geiser, in exasperation.

At this juncture Mr. Balliet chimed in a stage whisper; "He's all right, Mr. Geiser, I'm paying his bills, and"—here his voice went lower still—"he's my private detective. He watches me."

It was afterwards ascertained that whenever Mr. Balliet and his wife appear in public in Eastern Oregon, under their wraps are belts, which contain regular arsenals, consisting of bowie knives and guns galore.

MRS. FRANK CARTER,
3 Merrill Street, Amesbury, Mass.

This letter should carry Faith and Conviction to the Heart of all Sick Women.

"I suffered with inflammation and falling of the womb and other disagreeable female weaknesses. I had bad spells every two weeks that would last from eight to ten days and would have to go to bed. I also had headache and backache most of the time and such bearing down pains I could hardly walk across the room at times. I doctored nearly all the time for about two years and seemed to grow worse all the time until last September I was obliged to take my bed, and the doctors thought an operation was the only thing that would help me, but this I refused to have done.

"Then a friend advised me to try the Pinkham medicine, which I did, and after using the first bottle I began to improve. I took in all five bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Blood Purifier, four boxes of Lydia E. Pinkham's Dry Form Compound, three boxes of Liver Pills and used three packages of Sanative Wash, and I am as well now as I ever was. I am more than thankful every day for my cure."—MRS. FRANK CARTER, 3 Merrill St., Amesbury, Mass.

Newbro's Herpicide Destroys the Dandruff Germ Permanently and Cures Baldness.

Quinine and rum and a whole lot of other things are pleasant to rub on the scalp after washing it free of dandruff, but not one preparation of the general run cures dandruff and falling hair. It is necessary to kill that germ, to be permanently cured of dandruff, and to stop falling hair. Newbro's Herpicide will positively destroy that germ, so that there can be no more dandruff, and so that the hair will grow luxuriantly. "Destroy the cause, and you remove the effect."
