JUST A SMILE.

You can drive the clouds away
With a smile,
Just a smile;
Turn the darkness into day
With a smile,
Just a smile;
Oh, there's nothing when a man
Feels the weight of sorrow's ban
In this whole wide world that can
Lift darkness and grief so much,
As a smile,

How the way is brightened up
By a smile,
Just a smile;
How sweet is the bitter cup
By a smile,
Just a smile;
Oh, the world may frown at you,
And your spirits try to slight,
But the skies are ever blue,
If you always have in sight
Just a smile,
Merry smile.

It's a simple little thing,
Is a smile,
Just a smile;
But 'twill joy and gladness bring
With a smile,
Just a smile;
Many hearts will dry their tears
And be singing on their way,
Thinking of the glad today,
By your smile,
Gladsome smile.

How the heavy burdens fall,
By a smile,
Just a smile;
Hope again hovers over all,
By a smile,
Just a smile;
Lonely lives are cheered each day,
Darkness lightened, hearts made glad,
Heaven's beauty fills the way,
If to kindly words you'll add
Just a smile,
Happy smile!

REPUBLICANS ARE NOT FOOLS.

The Prohibition party organ comes out with flaring headlines, entirely unmasking the local option campaign as a Prohibition party fight. The mask is off. It is not local option, but prohibition.

It gives formulas of arguments to its readers how to talk to Republicans to get them to carry this county for prohibition. Are Republicans going to be made fools of in this manner?

Republicans should remember that they are now accused of not enforcing the laws to regulate the liquor traffic. How can they enforce more stringent laws any better?

They are asked by a political party that has not five per cent of the voters to adopt a law that strong Republican states have not been able to enforce. Then they will be attacked for not carrying out the will of the people.

The Prohibition party would be the first to accuse the Republican party with failure to do its duty if prohibition were enacted by the help of their votes.

It is a trap to get Republicans to carry into effect a policy that they would be helpless to enforce, and would be crucified for not enforcing. Let Prohibitionists vote for what they believe in, but let Republicans beware of handing as enemy a club.

A GOOD ADVERTISER.

Fred Wiggins, the Salem agricultural implement dealer, is recognized as a good advertiser. His advertisements are read and bring returns.

His methods are worthy of study and emulation. What is the secret of a Wiggins advertisement that it brings him customers?

It is very simple. He puts himself into his advertisement. He talks to the reader as if he had a customer before him, and were selling him a plow or mower or sewing machine.

Merchants should put more plain, straightforward talk into their advertisements. Talk as if your customer were there before them, have them by the hand, and look them in the face, and have the goods there to show.

Touch your clerk to talk right and to talk intelligently. Many a merchant fails because he has not taken the time to fully inform his employes about the stock, and what to say to customers.

It would be a good plan for any merchant to ask his clerks to try their hands at getting up a slightly-worded, well-talked ad. for the line of goods he deals.

The ad that talks right to the heart and marrow of the thing advertised is the one that counts, whether the talk be in prose or poetry. The clerk who can talk well, who reads papers and ads of competitors, who can write a good ad. is a valuable employe. A good advertisement may be a failure, unless the employes are drilled to work in line with the ad. and work to sell the same line.

MAKE IT AS NEAR UNANIMOUS AS POSSIBLE.

Do not be satisfied with the election of Roosevelt and Fairbanks by a good majority. This is a record-breaking year in crops, in foreign trade, in postal receipts, in almost every branch of trade and finance. Make it a record-breaking year also in the tremendous vote cast for the Republican candidates. Do not even be satisfied with beating all previous majorities, but make the election of Roosevelt and Fairbanks as near unanimous as possible.

There are two things to be emphasized on the 8th of November: An endorsement of a half century of Republicanism and all that the policies of the party have brought to our country and our people; and a condemnation of the democratic candidate and party of opposition. Make no plans for election day till your vote is cast and till you have seen to it that your neighbor's vote is cast. Give a whole day of your life every four years, if need be, to your country, and to the best interests of your family and home. An overwhelming vote for the candidates of the Republican party this year will insure the continuance of that party in power for the next generation, when the boys will see to it that the wise policies of Republicanism are maintained and continued till the end of the party's second half century.

Make the vote for Roosevelt and Fairbanks as near unanimous as possible on the 8th of November.

CHANGING OPINIONS.

The following article is copied from the Boston Transcript:

"Now comes a Paris physician who says that it is all wrong to boil drinking water, as the municipal doctors direct when there is danger of a typhoid fever epidemic. Professor Charrin of the College of France is the learned authority who is quoted as denouncing the popular theory that the fever germs being destroyed by cooking them well, the danger of sickness is avoided. Professor Charrin's doctrine is that in boiled water not only is the deadly microbe destroyed, but also the microbe which even more than the dog or horse deserves to be called the friend of man. The beneficent microbe is that which assists at the digestion of such substances as cellulose and albumen. If he is boiled out, these intractable substances set up irritations which end in enteritis and other maladies. Another eminent French authority, M. Pages, agrees with M. Charrin in saying that boiled water seriously impedes digestion and attacks the assimilative organs.

VOLUME AND VALUE OF OUR CROPS.

The corn crop of 1896, which amounted to some 2,270,000,000 bushels, was valued at $488,000,000. That was the size and value of the crop harvested during the last year of the Cleveland administration and under the Wilson-Gorman tariff. The corn crop of 1904, which in volume amounts to considerably less than that of 1896, is yet valued at a trifle over $1,000,000,000, or more than double the value of the crop under Cleveland and free trade. We might make the same comparison with the wheat crop and other agricultural products of 1896 and 1904, showing that the total value of crops which in the last democratic year amounted to considerably less than $2,000,000,000 are this year in excess of $3,200,000,000, or a gain of almost double for crops amounting to no more in the number of bushels harvested.

This is where the republican claim that protection gives value to our crops comes in. The democratic sneer that

Some people have the taking-cold habit

The old cold goes; a new one quickly comes. It's the story of a weak throat, weak lungs, a tendency to consumption. Ayer's Cherry Pectoral breaks up the taking-cold habit. It strengthens, soothes, heals. Consult your doctor about this. J. C. Ayer Co., Lowell, Mass.

AFTER SICKNESS

Has weakened your system and left you almost helpless you will find a few doses of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters very beneficial. It is the sick man's friend, and for over 50 years has given complete satisfaction. It is without an equal for restoring strength, inducing sound sleep and building up solid flesh. Then it also cures Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Constipation, Heartburn, Heaving, Malaria or Female Complaints. Try a bottle.

HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS

Providence and nature, sunshine and rain, have much to do with the growth and harvesting of the crops. Talk so lously in the light of these figures of values. It is republicanism and protection and the demand for these crops which causes almost their entire cost and supplies by well employed and higher paid people which make the crops of 1904, although less in volume, worth fully double those crops which were harvested under Cleveland rule and free trade.

FINANCIAL CONDITIONS OF BOGOTA.

Five dollars for a postage stamp to carry a letter from Bogota, United States of Columbia, to the United States of America! That is what it costs—in paper money—and all the necessities of life cost something.

Twenty-five years ago Columbia issued both gold and silver, and they circulated at par. But the law allowed all debts to be paid in silver, and, that medium being the cheaper, it was but a short time before gold went out of use. It has ever since been a subject of speculation, rather than a circulating medium.

In 1885 the government began the issue of paper money, and made it legal tender for all public and private debts. Then paper did for silver just what silver had had previously done for gold. In ten years it took three paper dollars to buy one gold one, and prices for everything had gone up at that rate. A civil war called for the issue of more paper money, with the result that it took five paper dollars to buy a gold dollar. Silver has been driven entirely out of circulation, and practically all the money of the country was paper. The climax came as the result of the last civil war, that of 1899-1902, which called for the issue of so much paper money that for the last year one gold dollar has cost one hundred paper ones.

A five cent postage stamp costs five dollars, a sheet paper one dollar, and envelope fifty cents, and everything else in proportion. The situation is complicated by the fact that the last congress of the country virtually adopted the gold standard, and duties, taxes, etc., must be paid in gold. There is not gold enough in the country to carry on business, and the paper money is, of course, a convenience, but it has no fixed value and there exists much confusion. The cost of living is constantly increasing, and is now much higher than a year ago. This causes much hardship to those whose incomes are fixed on a gold basis.

THE DON'T POLICY.

Thus far the Democratic party seems to consist entirely of statements in the negative. We have been told what Parker will not do if he is President, and what the party will not do if it gets into power, and at the same time we have been given to understand that Parker is a good, strong man, who will do something, but not the things that Roosevelt has done. But inasmuch as the things which Roosevelt and the Republican party have done and propose to do in the future cover a surprisingly large ground, it would be interesting to know what the evolutions of Parker would be outside this forbidden territory.

A NEW BATTLE GROUND.

Press dispatches from Des Moines, Iowa, announce that a debate has been arranged between Rev. I. N. McCash, a leading minister and head of the Anti-Saloon League, and R. F. Parker, who conducts thirty-two saloons in that city. The proposed debate is the result of Parker's effort to establish a brewery in Des Moines, which will require the signature of 75 per cent of the voters to a petition therefor. The auditorium, seating 5000 persons, has been secured, and November 4th is the date fixed for this novel debate.

POLITICAL PARAGRAPHS.

Parker is rapidly becoming ridiculous to the voters, and when that happens to a candidate he needs to hunt a hole.

The Democrats are again prophesying a whirlwind campaign. It won't happen unless they can raise the wind.

A monument is to be erected in Nuremberg to Peter Healeim, the supposed inventor of the watch, who died in 1540.

When you are voting on local option remember the poor hop grower who is eking out an existence at 20 cents a pound, and making his hops worth $300 an acre, and the poor families who go out at 30 cents a box, and earn enough to send the children to college, and don't force prohibition into this county.

HERE AND THERE

Liege, Belgium, is to have an international exposition next year.

An electric motor postoffice is being tried, with apparent success, in Milan.

The 2000 Mohammedans resident in London are preparing to erect a magnificent mosque.

The vicar of Little Hatton, England, does not like makers of tombstones to cut their names on the stones, but allow them to do so on stones placed in his graveyard if they pay $2.50 for the advertisement.

The number of visitors to the Shakespeare house at Stratford-on-Avon this year has broken the record, having been at the rate of 30,000 per annum. American visitors have become so numerous that a special register of their names is now kept.

An auctioneers' congress was held in Cardiff, Wales, at the end of last month. The president in his annual address spoke of the sore need of doing something to check municipal expenditure, which, he contended, was seriously affecting the real estate market.

When a brigade of mutinous troops took the city of Liuchufu, South China, the other day, they pillaged and slew for 48 hours. So great was their booty that they compelled 4500 of the inhabitants to help them carry it to the hills, where they joined the rebels.

A number of young men in London have organized a club for the encouragement of a revival of breeches and stockings for men's wear instead of trousers. Fifty of these pioneers have arranged for a dinner at the Carlton hotel, when all will wear knee breeches.
