AN ANSWER TO ATTACK ON BEER

That beer is a "Food Product" is evidenced by the greatest authorities of this age. Drs. Liebig and Pasteur have long taken this stand. Dr. H. W. Wiley, of the United States agricultural department holds beer "as a veritable food product." Prof. Atwater, of the Wesleyan University, and nearly all the most prominent physicians and scientists of this country and Europe hold the same view. Why does not Mr. Selleck name his authority for his statement, so that the people might judge accordingly.

Beer Drinking and Civilization.

Mr. Selleck says the onward march of Christian progress would be checked unless the obstacle (presumably beer) were removed from the path. Germany, England and the United States are the greatest civilized Christian nations of the world and are also the greatest beer drinking nations.

France, Italy, Spain and Russia are great consumers of spirits and drink little if any beer and strange to say Christian civilization is far from its true standard in these countries.

If Mr. Selleck is right, the reverse should be true, for he says he would advise people to drink whiskey instead of beer as a choice between two evils.

But where is his logic when we take into consideration the Turk and all Moslem, total abstainers, and there find little if any Christian civilization.

Is this all an accident or co-incidence, or is it the immutable law of nature, due to the fact that moderation in drinking and drinking then only a mild stimulent, is the real solution of this great question?

Beer Encourages Temperance.

Mr. Selleck says "beer drinking leads to whiskey drinking."

If this is true explain why so few Germans drink spirits and why Germany is today the most temperate of all nations. On the last Fourth of July the people of Salem consumed almost ten times as much beer than they have ever done before on any ordinary day, and yet no drunkeness was witnessed on our streets.

If beer "is the primary school for the drunkard," why is it that the German does not quit drinking beer and take to the strong spirits? If beer cultivates a craving for strong drink, how explain the fact Germany is not today the greatest consumer of ardent liquors, instead of still continuing to be the same great consumers of beer?

The trouble with Mr. Selleck and other prohibitionists is aptly put by the Apostle St. Paul, in his first epistle to Timothy, Chap. 1, V. 7:

"Desiring to be teachers of the law; understanding neither what they say, or whereof they affirm."

In conclusion I would most earnestly suggest that Mr. Selleck take to heart if not otherwise, the words of the same Apostle in the same epistle, Chap. 5, V. 23:

"Drink no longer water, but use a little wine for thy stomach's sake and thine often infirmities."

Home Treatment.

We have a medicine for such troubles as are caused by stomach disorders, resulting in dyspepsia, sick headache and general weakness, that will put the organs of digestion in first class working condition. Eat wholesome food, have it properly digested, and you have taken away the cause of more than half the ills of life. This medicine is called Dr. Guhn's Improved Liver Pills. Sold by all druggists for 25c per box Only one for a dose. They do not digest the food you eat, but do the very best possible thing, put the stomach in condition so that the food you eat is turned into strong rich blood, driving out and preventing disease. Women write us that they use nothing else for the complexion. They keep the skin clear, preventing pimples and liver spots from appearing on the face, and purify the blood.

I have been so bad for months at a time as to be unable to walk. Having a friend who lost his life by an operation, I desisted from ever having that experiment tried on me. I owe you a debt of gratitude.
