GREAT MEETING OF DAIRYMEN

[illegible]nd Will Entertain Oregon's [illegible]irymen' Next Month—Many [illegible]nsalfie Prizes Will Be Given for [illegible]iry Products.

[illegible]esident Ed. T. Judd, of the State [illegible] association, informs us that [illegible] prospects for a successful meet[illegible] at Portland, December 12-13, [illegible]very flattering. Reports from all [illegible] the state indicate an unusual in[illegible]t. The Portland Commercial [illegible], recognizing the importance of [illegible] meeting, is corresponding with [illegible] different commercial organiza[illegible] of the state, asking them to take [illegible] matter up with the people of [illegible] locality to the end that their [illegible]ty may not only be represented [illegible]ood exhibits, but also by a dele[illegible]n of actual dairymen, men who [illegible] the cows.

[illegible]hile all of the program has not [illegible] entirely worked out, enough [illegible] been done that we are warranted [illegible]aying that it will be especially [illegible]resting and instructive. Besides [illegible] reading of papers by men promi[illegible]t in the dairy world, there will be [illegible]lf hour each given to the discus[illegible] of such problems as.

[illegible]ucculent feeds for winter.

[illegible]ale vs. ensailage.

[illegible]andling and care of cream and [illegible] for shipment.

[illegible]inter vs. summer dairying.

[illegible]hese discussions and others will [illegible]ed by some of Oregon's most suc[illegible]ful dairy men.

[illegible]he following premiums are to be [illegible]red at the sixteenth annual meet[illegible] of the Oregon Dairymen's asso[illegible]tion, to be held at Portland, Or., [illegible]ember 12 and 13, 1907:
