SEND IN SOCIAL NEWS.

The Capital Journal is always glad to print social news from outside of Salem, and will appreciate anything of this kind sent in over the telephone or by mail. In sending in news the writer's name should always be signed, not for publication, but as a guarantee that the matter is reliable. We do not print anything sent in unless we know the author of it.

The Epworth League Institute, which is being held this week at Willamette university under the auspices of the Oregon conference of the First Methodist church has brought to Salem a large and interesting group of young people. The young women are given a home at Lausanne Hall, the young men being housed at the boys' dormitory. Delegates and alternates began arriving Saturday and Sunday, and continue to come up until noon today. So far the time has been devoted to business, and routine sessions, a number of affairs of a social nature to mark the concluding days 'sessions. Weather permitting the young folk will charter launches this evening going up the river, where they will hold a meeting and also enjoy a social time. Friday evening a six o'clock banquet will be given for all in attendance at the institute at the First Methodist church, a Kensington tea in honor of Miss Robinson, one of the foremost participants at the institute to call together the young women, Saturday afternoon, at Lausanne Hall.

This is hardly a "social" or "personal" item, but anything that is of such great interest to women and so timely is worthy of a place in these columns. The Southern Pacific company has assigned a baggage car and passenger coach for the demonstration and instruction in home canning. The arrangement of the hours was made so that people residing in the country may have an opportunity to attend during the afternoon, the evening being set aside for Salem women. The car will be switched to the corner of Trade and Commercial streets.

CONTRACTS FOR SEATS AND DESKS, M'KINLEY SCHOOL IS AWARDED

New Instructors Elected and Janitors Are Named For Ensuing School Year

Although the list of desks made out for the needs of the new McKinley school, under the schedule of prices offered by the three principal competitors for supplying the desks in accordance with bids submitted, totalled $1470 above the lowest bidder the bids of the Oregon Trade Supply company for a total of $728.35, was accepted by the school board last evening upon the recommendation of the supplies committee. "Although the bids of the Oregon Trade Supply company are a trifle more than the other bidders," said Director Bates on behalf of the committee in recommending the acceptance of the bid, "their seats suit us better."

The desk and seating equipment for the new McKinley school, not including teachers' desks, aggregate a total of 475 desks with separate seats and are specified in three classifications of three different sizes of seats to suit the requirements of the six grades to occupy the school. They come in the "large, medium and small" sizes and prices are quoted accordingly. Based upon the same quantity and corresponding sizes the total price computed under the bid of the Northwestern School Furniture company, the lowest bidder, would have been $712.65, and that of the A. H. Andrews Furniture company, $715.05. Both seats and desks are of the adjustable kind and are supposed to be the very latest in design and sanitary construction.

The desk and seat equipment, specifying quality, size and style (by letter or figures), price each desk (including seats), and total cost of all follows:

Schmalle Goes to Seattle.

Although A. L. Schmalle, assistant principal of the high school and head of the science department, is very popular and well liked by the students and faculty of the Salem public schools and is one of the most efficient instructors on the high school staff, the board of directors last night accepted his resignation with regrets and, upon the recommendation of City Superintendent Elliott, elected W. W. H. Clark, more recently employed in the science department of the Astoria high school, to fill the vacancy in the science department of the Salem high school at a salary of $90. Mr. Schmalle was receiving $100 as assistant principal and head of the science department and has been elected to the Seattle high school staff at an advanced salary.

"We regret very much to see him go," said Chairman Miles, of the school board last evening, "but what are we going to do when Seattle or Portland holds up and takes him away at a better salary than we can afford to pay?" This was acknowledged as expressing the sentiment of the other members of the board.

David C. Bruce was also elected as instructor in science and athletics in the Washington junior high school for the ensuing school year at $80 per month, upon the recommendation of Superintendent Elliott, who expressed pleasure in being able to secure Mr. Bruce at the schedule salary on account of his special fitness for the instruction in athletics, he having been for three years employed in connection with the Portland playgrounds and is regarded as especially fitted for that work. He is also well qualified as an instructor in science. Miss Gladys Riches was also elected a teacher in history at the Washington junior high.

Miss Blanche Appergate was engaged as stenographer and clerk to City Superintendent Elliott for 11 months, at $40 per month, and Miss Ethel Brunk as stenographer and clerk to Principal Nelson of the high school at $35 per month. Superintendent Elliott recommended $45 per month for Miss Appergate, she having given good satisfaction in the place during the past year, but the board cut it to $40.

Janitors Are Appointed.

John L. Rose was last night elected head janitor of all of the Salem schools to supervise janitor work at all the schools. Fred L. Danison was elected janitor for the high school, with Paul Evans, Carl Palmer and Arthur Rose as assistants, at $50 per month each for the latter. A. J. Conner, Grant school, G. C. Gabriel, Lincoln school, A. Van Cleave, Washington school, J. P. Holter, Englewood; James E. Morton, Parrish, F. W. Drake, Highland, M. B. Rasmussen, McKinley, and C. D. Purdy, Park school. No election was had to fill the vacancy for the high school school caused by the recent death of J. B. Dale, it being deferred to a later meeting.

The school board voted $40 toward paying the expenses of City Superintendent Elliott during his attendance at the annual convention of the National Education association, which will be held at Oakland, California, August 9 to 16.

The building committee was also authorized to secure the erection of a second portable shelter for the rear end of the high school building, in the rear, the present one at the west end being inadequate for the needs of the students who ride to and from school.

Germany Will Investigate Sinking of Nerbaskan

(By Carl W. Ackerman.)

(United Press Staff Correspondent.)

Berlin, via The Hague, July 13.—In a note handed to Ambassador Gerard by the foreign office last night, Germany gave assurances that full investigation would be made as to the explosion which damaged the American ship Nebraskan on May 25.

If it should be shown that the Nebraskan was torpedoed by a submarine full compensation will be made, the note stated.

The Nebraskan, which was the first vessel to pass through the Panama canal with freight from San Francisco, was badly damaged by an explosion while in British waters but was able to make port.

Washington, July 13.—No official protest was ever made to Germany regarding the explosion which damaged the steamer Nebraskan, as the impression here has been that the vessel possibly struck a mine. The note handed to Ambassador Gerard in Berlin is in response to a request from Washington for such information as the German authorities might have.

Make The Test

Buy a pound of Marion Creamery Butter, "MEADOW BROOK" and also a pound of butter of any other make.

Then subject both to the same exposure and treatment during the warm weather for the same number of days.

The result will prove absolutely that Marion Creamery butter has deteriorated very little, while the other sample will be in a condition strong enough to speak for itself.

Marion Creamery butter can stand harder treatment and is more durable because the cream or butterfat from which it is made is not only pasteurized, but also clarified.

The clarification process eliminates countless bacteria and other impurities, which if left in, would multiply a thousand fold as soon as the manufactured product was subjected to a warmer temperature and thus quickly deteriorating the butter and making it unfit for use.

Why use a butter of inferior keeping qualities if you can at the same price secure the very best creamery butter, one that is not only good when you buy it but will keep good for a longer period.

The same money buys the very best.

Ask your dealer for "MEADOW BROOK" and make the test. That is all we ask. The result will convince you.
